

W. BENNETT.

"WHICH WAY?"

WM. F. SHERWIN.

"Consider your ways."—Hag. i. 7.

A sweet little girl, whose brother had forsaken the Sabbath school, spoke to him of religion, when he angrily replied: "You and Ellen may go your way, and I will go mine." She tenderly asked him: "Brother, which way are you going?" Those words led him to seek the way of life.

Pleadingly.

1. Which way are you going, my brother? Which way? which way? Are you treading life's path, or the
 2. Your way leads to darkness and sorrow; Be-ware! be-ware! O for-sake it to-day, lest to-
 3. Then turn to the Saviour, dear brother, This day, this day; Come to Jes-us, for-sak-ing all oth-er That lead-eth a-stray? There's a path that will lead you to glo-ry, Straightmor-row, You fall in the snare; Choose the path of the just that shines ev-er, Like oth-er, For He is the way; O come while the Spir-it is call-ing, O-way, Straightway; 'Tis re-veal-ed in the Gospel's sweet story, O seek it to-day.

 day, Like day; It will light you across the dark riv-er, O fol-low its ray.
 bey, O-bey; Heed the message like sweet music' fall-ing, No lon-ger de-lay.

REFRAIN.

Which way are you go-ing, my broth-er? Which way are you go-ing today? Are you treading the pathway to glo-ry, Or wand'ring in death's dark way?
 Which way?

 to-day.