

praying to God, and praying without ceasing. Let us with equal faithfulness teach the duty of giving regularly and without ceasing. Giving of our means for Church purposes must be raised above the commercial plane to its true position of a religious, a devotional act. How is this to be accomplished? Plainly the most effective way open to us is by each of us carrying out the principle in our respective spheres. Let your family, your congregation, your Presbytery do it, and set an example to others. Do not wait for others, but be a teacher, both by precept and example.
