

ABSTRACT

This report on the Sea Fare Southeast seafood show held in Orlando, Florida examines the United States and Florida seafood markets. It provides general information on this annual show, discusses major themes and reviews the results of a successful Canadian national stand. The report also describes other national and state stands, single exhibits and product forms. Annexes to the report list the attendees, American's seafood consumption, participating Canadian companies and their products and contact information for further details is provided.