

House made on Tuesday the House will have to stand adjourned until—is the hon. member for Peace River rising on a point of order?

Mr. Baldwin: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

WEEKLY STATEMENT

Mr. G. W. Baldwin (Peace River): Might I have the permission of the House and of Your Honour to ask the President of the Privy Council as Government House Leader, having in mind the very lean appearance of the order paper, what the minister proposes to put before the House next week?

Hon. Donald S. Macdonald (President of the Privy Council): Yes, Mr. Speaker. We only intend to put seven measures before the House in the coming week. For tomorrow's business we will have first the Bills of Exchange Act to be followed by the Supreme Court Act. Monday will be an opposition day. On Tuesday we will deal with the second reading of the Standards Council Bill, to be followed by the report stage of the Oil and Gas Conservation and Production Bill. On Wednesday we hope to carry to conclusion second reading stage of the National Farm

Business of the House
Products Marketing Council bill. On Thursday we would propose to call the Law Reform Commission bill, but I would be glad to take into consideration the suggestion of the hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre that if the extensive committee discussion of this legislation requires a further full committee day we might make a special order for that day.

Mr. Forrestall: A supplementary question, Mr. Speaker. May I ask the government house leader when the House does get around to dealing with the amendments to the Canada Elections Act whether the government has any intention of dealing with sections 61 and 62 which were deleted from the terms of reference to the committee?

Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale): Any dealing with the Canada Elections Act would be confined to the subject matters discussed in the committee's report.

[Translation]

Mr. Speaker: In accordance with the provisions of the special order of the House passed on Tuesday, April 28, the House now stands adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

At 2.52 p.m. the House adjourned, pursuant to special order.
