

	PAGE
Chapter IV.—Attempt of the Gnostics to Construct an Apostolic Doctrine of Faith and to Produce a Christian Theology; or, the Acute Secularization of Christianity . . . . .	58
Chapter V.—Marcion's Attempt to Set Aside the Old Testament as the Foundation of the Gospel, to Purify Tradition, and to Reform Christianity on the Basis of the Pauline Gospel . . . . .	70
Chapter VI.—Supplement: The Christianity of the Jewish Christians . . . . .	74

BOOK II.

THE LAYING OF THE FOUNDATION.

Chapter I.—Historical Survey . . . . .	81
Section I. Establishment of Christianity as a Church and its Gradual Secularization.
Chapter II.—The Setting Forth of the Apostolic Rules (Norms) for Ecclesiastical Christianity. The Catholic Church . . . . .	84
A. The Recasting of the Baptismal Confession into the Apostolic Rule of Faith . . . . .	85
B. The Recognition of a Selection of Well-known Scriptures as Virtually Belonging to the Old Testament; i. e., as a Compilation of Apostolic Scriptures . . . . .	88
C. The Transformation of the Episcopal Office in the Church into the Apostolic Office. History of the Transformation of the Idea of the Church . . . . .	95
Chapter III.—Continuation: The Old Christianity and the New Church . . . . .	100
Section II. Establishment of Christianity as Doctrine and its Gradual Secularization.
Chapter IV.—Ecclesiastical Christianity and Philosophy. The Apologists . . . . .	117
Chapter V.—Beginnings of an Ecclesiastico-Theological Exposition and Revision of the Rule of Faith in Opposition to Gnosticism on the Presupposition of the New Testament and the Christian Philosophy of the Apologists: Irenæus, Tertullian, Hippolytus, Cyprian, Novatian . . . . .	130

Chapter

Chapter

THE D

HISTORY
GOIChapter I
Chapter IChapter I t
-A. The IChapter I
C
Chapter I a

B. The

Chapter I F

Chapter I

I. U

II. U

III. U

S

a