"This volume is an important contribution to history, a most interesting addition to modern biography. It is the life of a statesman by a statesman."—Philadelphia Age.

"It is a valuable contribution to American political history."—Cincinnati Gazette.

Life of John F. Crittenden. With Selections from his Correspondence and Speeches. Edited by his daughter, Mrs. CHAPMAN COLEMAN. With Two Portraits from Steel.

Royal 8vo. Toned paper. Fine cloth. $7.50.

"The history of his life is almost a history of the country, and his memoirs contains rich material for the student of political economy."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

"It is full of instruction to young America."—Washington Morning Chronicle.

"Since the Revolutionary period, our country has produced no man whose civil and political career better deserves to be commemorated.

"This biography of him is by his daughter, Mrs. Coleman. It connects the events of his life and the letters illustrating them by a simple narrative, which is always natural and interesting. His political course and opinions are stated without comment or illustration. In the portraiture of the man we believe affection does not exaggerate his merits. Few public men of any country have lived so free of just reproach. Few have been found so uniformly magnanimous and patriotic in the whole course of their public lives. This edition contains two volumes in one excellently printed octavo. It ought to be in every library, for the work covers a long and important period of political history, and exhibits a character that men of all parties agree to honor as a noble example of an American patriot and statesman."

—Philadelphia Age.

Memoir of Ulric Dahlgren. By his Father, Rear-

Admiral DAHLGREN. With Portrait from Steel. 12mo.

Extra cloth. $1.75.

"As an eloquent tribute to one of the real heroes of the war it will, we are certain, receive a cordial welcome."—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

"We heartily recommend it to the notice of the reading public."—Washington Sunday Gazette.

Life of George Read, a Signer of the Declaration of Independence, with a Selection from his Correspondence, and Notices of some of his Contemporaries. By his grandson, WILLIAM T. READ. 8vo. Extra cloth. $4.

"The work is enriched by very many anecdotes, descriptions and sketches. There are many excerpts from reconciling sources, particularly in the chapters on Congress; and the whole work is one of not less value to the public than honor to its subject, and is a great commendation to the author. The letters form a large part of the whole, and express the opinions of contemporaries on men, and questions, and events."—Philadelphia North American.
