

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS

LIBERALS TO OCCUPY OLD CONSERVATIVE QUARTERS

Club Will Go Into Building Temporarily Till New Premises Are Ready.

HAMILTON, Nov. 24.—(Special).—At the annual meeting of the Young Liberals' Association to-night, the following officers were elected: Calvin Davis, president; William Cooper, first vice-president; Fred Leavelle, second vice-president; C. J. Davis, secretary; Alan Land, Robert Levey, Charles Pebley, James A. Ogilvie and J. R. Marshall, executive committee.

The executive committee was empowered to make arrangements for temporary quarters. The club has been in the Sun Life Building since the new premises of the club had been approached by the owners of the building and asked to take the place over.

The annual public reception was held by the Y.M.C.A. to-night. Hundreds of people gathered at the 44th Regiment Band played in the gymnasium. Refreshments were served, and an exhibition was given by the Hamilton Swimming Club of racing and water polo.

The police have at last come to the conclusion that Thomas J. Cain, who was killed on Tuesday evening, was not a victim of the "Black Legion." Cain was found lying dead beside a railroad track, a report was circulated that he had been murdered.

Monteith Trapnell, the Hamilton Assylum attendant who provided Molr and Taggart with the keys by which they got out of the institution, and who was found guilty by Judge Monk, by whom he was tried, this morning was brought up for sentence. He was given three years in Kingston, minus the three months that he has been in jail.

Albert Dow, the Toronto man who was committed for trial on a charge of passing counterfeit coins on local hotel men, was sentenced to 23 months in Central Prison by Judge Monk.

Edward Watson, who stole money from the collected for Collier & Sons, publishers, and who has already spent 23 months in Central Prison for a similar offence committed in Toronto, was given three years in Kingston.

Notes from the Hamilton and Catharine streets, Hamilton, conveniently situated and easily reached from all parts of the city. Erected in 1908. Modern and comfortable American plan. Rates $1.50 to $2.25 per day. The Hanrahan, proprietor, Phone 1462.

The representative of Arthur & Cox of Toronto, makers of Artificial Limbs, Trusses, Deformity Appliances and Supporters, will be in our city at room 52, Hotel Cecil, to-morrow.

A REMARKABLE MISSIONARY

Baptized 2000 Natives in One Day and 10,000 Followed in a Year.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 24.—One of the most remarkable missionary achievements of modern times, Rev. John Everett Clough, D.D., "the apostle of Telugu," died here this morning, and his wife, who is a sister of Prof. Walter Rauschenberr, is also ill at the hospital. Dr. Clough spent his life in India, where he had a great influence in his chosen field in India during the famine of 1877, when he took a prominent part in the famine relief work. He baptized more than 2000 natives here in one day in one year in the Hindu temple, and in another year, 10,000 others followed in one year.

HIGHWAY ROBBERS SENTENCED.

NORTH BAY, Nov. 24.—Judge Vallin in the district court sentenced Alfred Robinson of Cobalt to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary for highway robbery in holding up and robbing Thomas Tunney, alias "Big Boy," who was a gang of small boys who burglarized in Cobalt. Judge Vallin stated he could not agree with the jury's verdict, as the evidence was not sufficient. Pinesault will have a new trial in June.

NOT OFFICIALLY RETURNED.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—The official return of the Drummond-Arthabaska election not having been received, the new Nationalist member, Mr. Gibber, is not able to take his seat in the commons. The return is several days overdue.

Tea Trade With Japan.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—Two Nishi, commissioner of the Japanese Tea Traders' Association of Tokyo, Japan, is in Canada and the steps with the object of developing the tea trade with Japan, which has been seriously reduced with America.

Will Forfeit Trophy.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—The Ottawa Symphony Orchestra, undoubtedly the finest amateur instrumental organization in Canada, which has held the Earl Grey Musical Trophy for three years in succession, will probably have to forfeit the title this year, on account of the fact that they will not be able to go to Winnipeg to defend it.

10c 10c

You get strength all day by eating

Caverhill's Malted BARLEY FLAKES

for breakfast. Malted barley helps digest the starches of your food without digestive effort. Good for workers and growing children. Trial Box, 10c.

AT GOOD GROCERS 35c 6 lb. 15 lb. 75c sack sack

HAMILTON BUSINESS DIRECTORY

HAMILTON HOTELS HOTEL ROYAL

Hotel Royal completely renovated and newly carpeted during 1907. $2.50 and up per day. American Plan. ad7

B. L. BORDEN ON THE NAVAL POLICY

Continued From Page 1.

It had also pleased Liberal speakers and the Liberal press of this country to declare that the Conservative party is in alliance with the Nationalists, and if you work that out to its logical conclusion, there cannot be any difference of opinion whatever on this naval question in Canada, because we are in alliance with the government and the Conservatives, and we are also in alliance with the Nationalist party, and there is absolutely no difference of opinion.

Not in Alliance With Anybody. "Well, we are not in alliance with the government on this question. So far as our policy differs from theirs, if any proposals which the government brings down to parliament are in accordance with those we have announced, and for which we stand this year, as last year, then we will support those proposals which are consonant with our own policy. We are not in alliance with the Nationalists, and we have been denounced by them even more strongly than we have been denounced by hon. gentlemen on the other side of the house. We will retract no part of our policy because Nationalist or Liberal agrees or disagrees with it."

The basis of the Conservative naval proposal, continued Mr. Borden, was to bring "immediate and effective aid to the mother country and the empire as a whole."

In his opinion the plain course of duty would be: The government should be in a position to know, if they take the proper action for that purpose, whether the conditions such as face the empire at this time in respect of naval defence are grave or not.

"If we were in power we would endeavor to find that out, to get a plain, unvarnished answer to the question, and if the answer to that question, based upon the report of the government of the mother country and of naval experts of the admiralty, were such-and-such, I think it would be such-and-such, and I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

An Intolerable Condition. Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

Canada's co-operation on a permanent basis in imperial defence involved large, wide considerations, asserted Mr. Borden, if Canada and the other dominions of the empire are to take their part as nations of this empire, in the defence of the empire as a whole, it is not, as he contended, to be a matter of demand, but of effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament said, 'I would appeal to the people of this country.'"

DISMISSED THE FOREMAN OF SECOND JURY IN CASE

Surely, You're NOT FOND Of Hard Work?

With Mr. Puddy, Who Complains to Queen's Park.

Coroner Elliott Had a Lively Time

At this time no evidence had been taken, and Coroner Elliott had merely outlined the reason for the summoning of a second jury, and in so doing had explained the reason for the dismissal of the first jury Wednesday night, which had demanded an adjournment after once declaring themselves satisfied with the evidence as submitted.

"It is the duty of a jury to listen to the evidence produced before them; because the crown attorney and I are sworn to produce all the evidence," said the coroner.

"I have at times adjourned to let the jury inspect the premises, but that was in cases where it was too difficult for the witnesses to give a description. The crown attorney advises me that there is sufficient evidence in this case to make a decision."

"Mr. Foreman, Puddy got busy with his interruptions."

"A Lively Dialog. "Mr. Foreman," said the coroner, "do you realize that this is a regularly constituted court of law, and that your action is contempt of court?"

"That's all right. But you had no right to dismiss that jury. Photos are inadequate, and," said Dr. Elliott, once more, "that has nothing whatever to do with it."

"Yes, but I think—" "Mr. Foreman," "Mr. Puddy."

Then the foreman said, more decidedly than ever: "I object to the coroner dismissing the jury, and I reserve the right to view the elevator."

Coroner Elliott retired with County Crown Attorney Baird to discuss the matter and upon his return remarked: "The foreman is indeed that we will have to excuse the foreman and jury, because he is not in a condition to carry out his oath."

Fuddy declared his willingness to retract his statement, and was escorted out by Police Constable Major. Later he returned, saying that he came merely as a spectator, with the right of the general public. He was again requested by the crown attorney to leave, and did so.

The same evidence as that heard on Wednesday night was then reheard, and the jury, after considering it, returned a verdict of guilty, and the coroner recommended that only qualified persons be allowed to operate elevators, and that a copy of the regulations be posted in a conspicuous place.

Complains to Mr. Foy. Mr. Puddy was felt disposed to carry the matter further and instructed his solicitor, H. H. Miller, to report the facts to the attorney-general, which was done in a letter sent late yesterday, which declares that Mr. Puddy regards the action of the coroner as "extraordinary procedure," and as "a very high-handed proceeding."

The paragraph of the letter dealing with the alleged mistreatment reads: "The jury was empaneled by the same coroner who had previously dismissed the jury, and Mr. Puddy was appointed foreman, and upon expressing the view that he considered it necessary to inspect the premises he was forthwith dismissed from the jury and ejected from the jury-room by the constables."

The letter makes no mention of the fact that Mr. Puddy first questioned the coroner's right to dismiss the jury, which he had no concern, and that it was upon the ground that he was obstructing the business of the court that the jury was dismissed.

Those upon yesterday's bench were: Alexander Thompson, 273 Carlton street; Andrew Weir, 102 Front street; Jas. Clynan, 160 Westminister-avenue; Fred Ellice, 165 East King street; Fred Ellice, 165 East King street; Geo. Puddy, 158 East Gerrard street; Thos. Curtis, 45 Edward street; John Peacock, 105 Sherbourne street; Fred Gooderham, 11 West Park place; W. Barber, 618 Bannockburn-avenue; James Browning, 52 Jarvis street; James Jennings, 385 Ontario street.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

DISMISSED THE FOREMAN OF SECOND JURY IN CASE

Surely, You're NOT FOND Of Hard Work?

With Mr. Puddy, Who Complains to Queen's Park.

Coroner Elliott Had a Lively Time

At this time no evidence had been taken, and Coroner Elliott had merely outlined the reason for the summoning of a second jury, and in so doing had explained the reason for the dismissal of the first jury Wednesday night, which had demanded an adjournment after once declaring themselves satisfied with the evidence as submitted.

"It is the duty of a jury to listen to the evidence produced before them; because the crown attorney and I are sworn to produce all the evidence," said the coroner.

"I have at times adjourned to let the jury inspect the premises, but that was in cases where it was too difficult for the witnesses to give a description. The crown attorney advises me that there is sufficient evidence in this case to make a decision."

"Mr. Foreman, Puddy got busy with his interruptions."

"A Lively Dialog. "Mr. Foreman," said the coroner, "do you realize that this is a regularly constituted court of law, and that your action is contempt of court?"

"That's all right. But you had no right to dismiss that jury. Photos are inadequate, and," said Dr. Elliott, once more, "that has nothing whatever to do with it."

"Yes, but I think—" "Mr. Foreman," "Mr. Puddy."

Then the foreman said, more decidedly than ever: "I object to the coroner dismissing the jury, and I reserve the right to view the elevator."

Coroner Elliott retired with County Crown Attorney Baird to discuss the matter and upon his return remarked: "The foreman is indeed that we will have to excuse the foreman and jury, because he is not in a condition to carry out his oath."

Fuddy declared his willingness to retract his statement, and was escorted out by Police Constable Major. Later he returned, saying that he came merely as a spectator, with the right of the general public. He was again requested by the crown attorney to leave, and did so.

The same evidence as that heard on Wednesday night was then reheard, and the jury, after considering it, returned a verdict of guilty, and the coroner recommended that only qualified persons be allowed to operate elevators, and that a copy of the regulations be posted in a conspicuous place.

Complains to Mr. Foy. Mr. Puddy was felt disposed to carry the matter further and instructed his solicitor, H. H. Miller, to report the facts to the attorney-general, which was done in a letter sent late yesterday, which declares that Mr. Puddy regards the action of the coroner as "extraordinary procedure," and as "a very high-handed proceeding."

The paragraph of the letter dealing with the alleged mistreatment reads: "The jury was empaneled by the same coroner who had previously dismissed the jury, and Mr. Puddy was appointed foreman, and upon expressing the view that he considered it necessary to inspect the premises he was forthwith dismissed from the jury and ejected from the jury-room by the constables."

The letter makes no mention of the fact that Mr. Puddy first questioned the coroner's right to dismiss the jury, which he had no concern, and that it was upon the ground that he was obstructing the business of the court that the jury was dismissed.

Those upon yesterday's bench were: Alexander Thompson, 273 Carlton street; Andrew Weir, 102 Front street; Jas. Clynan, 160 Westminister-avenue; Fred Ellice, 165 East King street; Fred Ellice, 165 East King street; Geo. Puddy, 158 East Gerrard street; Thos. Curtis, 45 Edward street; John Peacock, 105 Sherbourne street; Fred Gooderham, 11 West Park place; W. Barber, 618 Bannockburn-avenue; James Browning, 52 Jarvis street; James Jennings, 385 Ontario street.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

DISMISSED THE FOREMAN OF SECOND JURY IN CASE

Surely, You're NOT FOND Of Hard Work?

With Mr. Puddy, Who Complains to Queen's Park.

Coroner Elliott Had a Lively Time

At this time no evidence had been taken, and Coroner Elliott had merely outlined the reason for the summoning of a second jury, and in so doing had explained the reason for the dismissal of the first jury Wednesday night, which had demanded an adjournment after once declaring themselves satisfied with the evidence as submitted.

"It is the duty of a jury to listen to the evidence produced before them; because the crown attorney and I are sworn to produce all the evidence," said the coroner.

"I have at times adjourned to let the jury inspect the premises, but that was in cases where it was too difficult for the witnesses to give a description. The crown attorney advises me that there is sufficient evidence in this case to make a decision."

"Mr. Foreman, Puddy got busy with his interruptions."

"A Lively Dialog. "Mr. Foreman," said the coroner, "do you realize that this is a regularly constituted court of law, and that your action is contempt of court?"

"That's all right. But you had no right to dismiss that jury. Photos are inadequate, and," said Dr. Elliott, once more, "that has nothing whatever to do with it."

"Yes, but I think—" "Mr. Foreman," "Mr. Puddy."

Then the foreman said, more decidedly than ever: "I object to the coroner dismissing the jury, and I reserve the right to view the elevator."

Coroner Elliott retired with County Crown Attorney Baird to discuss the matter and upon his return remarked: "The foreman is indeed that we will have to excuse the foreman and jury, because he is not in a condition to carry out his oath."

Fuddy declared his willingness to retract his statement, and was escorted out by Police Constable Major. Later he returned, saying that he came merely as a spectator, with the right of the general public. He was again requested by the crown attorney to leave, and did so.

The same evidence as that heard on Wednesday night was then reheard, and the jury, after considering it, returned a verdict of guilty, and the coroner recommended that only qualified persons be allowed to operate elevators, and that a copy of the regulations be posted in a conspicuous place.

Complains to Mr. Foy. Mr. Puddy was felt disposed to carry the matter further and instructed his solicitor, H. H. Miller, to report the facts to the attorney-general, which was done in a letter sent late yesterday, which declares that Mr. Puddy regards the action of the coroner as "extraordinary procedure," and as "a very high-handed proceeding."

The paragraph of the letter dealing with the alleged mistreatment reads: "The jury was empaneled by the same coroner who had previously dismissed the jury, and Mr. Puddy was appointed foreman, and upon expressing the view that he considered it necessary to inspect the premises he was forthwith dismissed from the jury and ejected from the jury-room by the constables."

The letter makes no mention of the fact that Mr. Puddy first questioned the coroner's right to dismiss the jury, which he had no concern, and that it was upon the ground that he was obstructing the business of the court that the jury was dismissed.

Those upon yesterday's bench were: Alexander Thompson, 273 Carlton street; Andrew Weir, 102 Front street; Jas. Clynan, 160 Westminister-avenue; Fred Ellice, 165 East King street; Fred Ellice, 165 East King street; Geo. Puddy, 158 East Gerrard street; Thos. Curtis, 45 Edward street; John Peacock, 105 Sherbourne street; Fred Gooderham, 11 West Park place; W. Barber, 618 Bannockburn-avenue; James Browning, 52 Jarvis street; James Jennings, 385 Ontario street.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage, which is the mouth of the Mackenzie River, is reached, he will have attained the object in view.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—A report was received to-day by the Department of the Arctic, the government steamer "Albatross," which is on the coast to assert Canadian authority, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region, where the first cable was sent to the Arctic region.

The significance of Capt. Bernier's report is that he is evidently trying to navigate the northwest passage