To Keep Skin in Fine Condition in Summer

(From The Family Physician.) It would be much better for the skin to be free from powder or rouge than to be covered with it. Mixed with perspiration, dust and grime, these things are anything but beautifying. Ordinary mercurized wax will do more for the complexion and without giving an oily, shiny, streaked, spotted, pasty appearance. It is the ideal application for the season, as it not only keeps the pores clean, but daily removes particles of dirt and weather. By constantly keeping the complexion clear, white and satiny, it does more toward perpetuating a youthful appearance than any of the artificial cosmetics commonly employed. At any drug store, will completely renovate the most complicated skin. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

To keep the skin from sagging or wrinkling, or to overcome such condition, there is nothing better than a face bath made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saskia in 1 pint water, wash.

The Daily Hint From Paris

THE FLUTED DRESS

One of the novelties introduced by French dressmakers, which promises to be much favored for the next season, is the use of fluting in many materials.

A dress with a skirt entirely of fluting was chosen to illustrate this, the material being a medium weight voile in navy blue and the fluting causes it to follow the lines of the figure gracefully. The waist is of dull green cloth, braided with blue, and trimmed with glass buttons.

A collar and cuffs of embroidered eoru net finishes the neck and sleeves, and a girdle of green satin with crocheted pendants is worn.

WOMEN WANT FREE SCHOOLS

Propaganda Begun in Quebec

For State Controlled Education and Compulsory Attendance.

MONTREAL, Aug. 20.—That every child in the Province of Quebec should receive gratuitous and compulsory education in state-controlled schools is the ideal of the women's league for free and compulsory education, and in order to further that aim the league is completing arrangements for an extensive propaganda thru which it hopes to so influence public opinion that there will be a general demand for the government passing a measure for free schools, and making attendance at them compulsory on all children under the age of 14 years.

The Nursery

My baby's skin is very sensitive, and even the best soap seems to irritate it and produce chafing. What substitute can I use?

No soap should be used on this baby's skin, but a bran bath should be given. Place one pint of wheat bran in a cheese cloth bag and leave it in the bath water until well soaked. Then squeeze it for several minutes until the water looks like thin gruel.

What is the treatment for prickly heat?

Prickly heat is caused by excessive perspiration and often the skin is irritated by flannel underclothing. Put a little or linen shirt next the skin. Sponge the entire body frequently with equal parts of vinegar and water and dust the body well with a powder of two parts starch to one part boric acid.

How long should a baby wear the flannel band?

Some babies only need it about one month, also the usual time is three or four months. Replace the band with the woolen binder fastened on the shoulder. The healthy baby does not need the support of the old-fashioned high waist. A thin baby should wear the flannel band longer than four months, as it fits more snugly over the abdomen than the binder.

Want raw fruit soaked? I give a five-year-old boy a glass of fruit.

But now for your answer. It is said to give sweet fruit to children under six. Steamed or baked apples, prunes, pears and peaches are all good. The strained juices of sweet oranges, peaches and grapes may be given to children with whom they agree. Often in warm weather fruit causes a looseness of the bowels, with a discharge of mucus. In such cases all fruit should be avoided.
