SELLERS - GOUGH COMPANY

IN ENLARGED PREMISES

Spacious Main Floor Beautifully Equipped—Ladies' Reception Room—Valuable Furs Shown.

For some little time a building transformation has been in progress at the northwest corner of Louis and Yonge-streets. The expansion of the business of the Sellers-Gough Company has necessitated a doubling of their manufacturing and retailing facilities, and so the firm acquired the store immediately north of the corner one which they occupied for some time.

The turning of the two stores into one. Fortunately the firm have spared neither effort nor expense in the transformation, and as a result, the house of Canada's largest firm devoted exclusively to furs is a distinct addition to the beauty of the city's business district, and should prove one of the show places for visitors to Toronto.

Unique Store Front.

Indeed the firm's remodeled and extended premises are a revelation in store construction. The ground floor front has no windows of the usual variety. Save for the revolving entrance door, the only separation between the ground floor level and the street is a simple line of glass.

The effect is almost as if the sidewalk were continued on through the ground floor.

From the store front has a curved transom and double plate glass fanlight with large globe globes, which give a rich effect, and which are illuminated at night.

The frame of the store front is of marble, surmounted by copper cornice of ornate design, and the entrance and part of the sidewalk are inlaid with marble mosaic. The architectural work was in the hands of Henry Simpson.

Pleasing Color Scheme.

The color scheme of the spacious ground floor, which is devoted to the fur department, is green and cream. The carpet is a beautiful Murray Axminster in green and cream, and the walls are of a light green, and the fixtures are all in green.

On each side are display compartments with heavy green plush curtains, which, with the fine mounted heads and rich fur rugs, lend an air of elegance to the interior.

At the rear of the north side, ladies will find for their convenience a well appointed reception and waiting-room, and a part of the sidewalk is glass.

The woodwork is done in white enamel, the paper being a light green, and three beautiful mirrors, which are elegantly mounted, are set into the wall. The furnishings are of mahogany, with a beautiful mauve carpet to match the several rich sections.

The offices and shipping rooms, with entrance on Louis-street, occupy the rear part at the south side.

In the basement are the sales department for women's and men's fur garments, and a part of the sidewalk is glass.

The preservation of all goods trusted to the company's storage department.

Manufacturing Department.

The second and third floors contain the manufacturing department, in which more than 140 people are employed. The heating, ventilation and sanitation are absolutely perfect.

Splendid Furs.

Among the store's many beautiful furs is a handsome Labrador mink coat, a Paris model, from which a coat for the Empress of Germany was made. A long empire effect seal coat, 50 inches long, trimmed with Russian sable, was priced at $350.

There was also a very handsome "Broadtail" made in semi-fitting style, 52 inches long and trimmed with deep "chinchilla." Prices like these seem to be the ordinary person's "luxury," but the feature of the Sellers-Gough business is to sell high class furs at moderate prices. The firm have in stock 500 Alaska seals from the Islands of Pribilof, in spite of the fact that it is generally supposed that seals from Alaska seal to obtain garments of impossible quality. With these the firm have a certificate from the merchant from whom the seals were bought, including an affidavit of the dressers. The heads of the firm visit annually to the fur sales at London, Leipzig and other European centres.
