Good Things Coming to Theatres of St. John

A comedy that will prove a most effective antidote for the blues or anything faintly resembling them, is "Hashimura Togo," a fascinating screen version of Wallace Irwin's own Japanese schoolboy stories which are so familiar to readers of the magazines and newspapers of this country. Sessue Hayakawa, the well-known star of "The Bottle Imp," "Allen Souls," and other productions is the star of the production and he has been able to lend to the character of Togo all the charm and humor of his great genius. charm and humor of his great genius.
The Imperial Theatre has scheduled "Hashimura Togo," a Paramount picture for release at this theatre on Mon-day and Tuesday, along with three new acts of refined Keith vaudeville.

A border bailie, whose zeal for law and order has somewhat outrun his scholastic attainments, was recently considering a case, in which a witness referred to a person who had died some time previously, as the defunct. Annoyed at the frequent repetition of this word, the bailie petulantly exclaimed, "What's the use o' speaking so much about the defunct's deid," retorted the witness. "Oh, puir man, that alters the case," was the worthy magisstrate's equally innocent comment.
