The Man In The Street

An appropriate gift for the June bride of today would have been a nice umbrella.

Probably the next big lecture tour in the states will be by a man named Bryan, on "We should be too proud to fight."

He is very likely adhering to the Biblical admonition, of "turning the other cheek when the one is smitten."

London had many burglaries Monday night. They will have to get some use either from Scotland Yard or Grand Lake to scare 'em off.

The boys at the front still refer to those big shells as Jack Johnsons, since the canon hasn't cut Jess Willard's name from the cakes.

Flour has gone down a half dollar or so a barrel, but in order to support the made-in-St. John's movement, we're still paying nine cents for bread.

The curstions are still lives! There were dozens of them at yesterday's fire.

Probably one who is a critic today whether he was yesterday or not, is the chap who put his face out of a second story window just as the firemen were changing the direction of the hose. And the change was in his direction.

Of Course Not
The cost of deals is worrying the common council. Most municipal politicians are supposed to know all about "deals" but, of course, no one in St. John knows anything about such.

The good name of the 88th is vindicated. Those absentees did not desert; they were merely taking a few holidays.

Campbell or Camels
He was standing on the street corner when, in the distance was heard the sound of the life and drum band. His Scottish blood, stirred by the martial strains, moved him to music and he started to hum in a low tone the old marching song "The Campbell's Art Company." A lean youth with a cigarette hanging from one corner of his mouth thought it necessary to offer a correction, "Cheese it," he wheezed, "This ain't no circus parade, there's no cannel coming; it's only the 88th Battalion out for a route march."

Cyans in Uniform
While the soldiers are noted for their gallantry in love as well as in war it is well known that they all are not affected the same way as illustrated by a conversation two local soldiers overheard recently.

"Gee, Girl! That's all I hear around the barracks from morn till night, some of these chaps seem to talk of nothing but the skirts," remarked one in a somewhat bitter tone.

"Well, for my part, I've got no use for them," his companion contributed. "They're the cause of all the trouble in this world," he opined sagely, and added, as a sober afterthought, "and in the next world, too."

June Brides

Cowan-Crabb.
A pretty early morning wedding was solemnized at a quarter to six o'clock today at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Crabb, 101 Victoria street, when their daughter, Miss Nina Pearl, became the bride of Arthur Vandenberg Crabb, Rev. Dr. Hutchinson officiated. The bride wore a pretty gown of white silk crepe, with lace trimmings. She was unattended and only very intimate friends and relatives were present at the ceremony.

A tempting wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony, and later Mr. and Mrs. Crabb left on a honeymoon trip to Boston and Providence. The bride wore a traveling suit of blue, with black hat. On their return they will make their home at 15 Victoria street. A fine array of wedding remembrances attended to their popularity.

Neal-McAlary.
A wedding of much interest to many friends was performed this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the residence of Joseph W. McAlary, 11 Clarence street, when he gave his daughter, Miss Helen Alice McAlary, in marriage to Anderson Garfield Neal, Rev. Dr. Hutchinson officiated in the presence of only relatives and close friends of the young people. The bride was prettily attired in white crepe and she wore a crown of flowers, and wore a Juliette cap with orange blossoms. She was unattended.

Following the ceremony, a dainty luncheon was served. The dining room was trimmed in pink and white. This evening Mr. and Mrs. Neal will leave on a wedding trip to P. E. Island. The bride's traveling costume is of blue, with hat to correspond. On their return they will reside at 116 Victoria street. Many handsome and useful remembrances were received, testimonials of esteem from a large circle of friends whose best wishes for happiness the bride and bridegroom merit and enjoy.

McLeod-McKay.
In the Cathedral this morning Rev. William Duke, who was celebrant at nuptial mass, united in marriage Miss Mae McKay and Lawrence A. McLeod. The bride looked charming in a tailored suit of blue, with a white and black hat trimmed with ostrich plumes, and carrying a bouquet of carnations. She was attended by Miss Helen McLeod, sister of the groom, who wore a very pretty tailored suit of blue, with hat trimmed with lilies of the valley. The groom was supported by his brother, John.

Following the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. McLeod, Main street, where a bounteous wedding repast was served. Mr. and Mrs. McLeod will reside at 8 Harry street. They were the recipients of a large number of beautiful wedding presents.

Jameson-MacMurray.
St. David's church was the scene of an interesting event at noon today when Stanley Fletcher Jameson of the staff of Allison & Thomas, was united in marriage to Miss Hazel Fern, daughter of Mrs. H. Sutherland and the late Alexander MacMurray. The church had been prettily decorated with Marguerites and apple blossoms, by girl friends of the bride and groom, who were a very attractive setting for the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. A. MacKeigan, minister of the church.

The bride, who wore a traveling costume of Copenhagen blue and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and lilies of the valley, was given in marriage by her brother, James MacMurray. She was attended by her niece, Miss Mae MacKeigan, as flower girl, carrying a basket of pink roses, forget-me-nots and daisies.

Mr. and Mrs. Jameson left on the C. P. R. express for a short trip through Nova Scotia and on their return will reside at 88 Wright street.

Many beautiful presents testified to the esteem in which the bride and bridegroom are held.

It occurs to me that you may have on your list a number of women who have been widowed by the war, and among them there may be one who has such a child with whom she would be willing to part. If so, I would thank you for placing me in communication with her."
