PREDICTS GREAT FUTURE FOR CITY

Navy League President Sees Courtenay Bay Dock and is Enthused.

Sam Harris, president of the Navy League, left this afternoon for Charlottetown. Before leaving, he had a conference with R. E. Armstrong, the president of the local branch, relative to getting more members of the league in the city and province.

Mr. Harris was most favorably impressed with the conduct of the local branch and the fine work of the Seamen's Institute. He, in turn, made a most favorable impression upon the minds of all whom he met or who heard his public address. He is very strong in his views regarding the service the Navy League can do in cementing the bonds that hold the empire together. He would be very glad to see the season movement taken up in St. John as it has been in a number of Ontario cities.

SEES DRY DOCK; IS ENTHUSED.

SPRUCE LAKE AT NEW LOW RECORD

Was 31 Inches Below Spillway Last Week—Now Rising Again.

Spruce Lake, during the last week, was at its lowest level since it became part of the St. John water system according to a statement by the commissioner of water, R. W. Wigmore, this morning. He said that the lowest previous record was in 1921 when the surface of the lake dropped 21.2 inches below the spillway. Late last week, however, the level was about 31 inches below the overflow. Since that time precipitation has brought the surface of the water up four or five inches. The commissioner did not anticipate any failure of the supply for the west side, in spite of the enormous consumption.

CRISIS COMES IN HYDRO SITUATION

Supply Curtailed — Power Co. Directors Meeting This Afternoon.

A crisis has been reached in the hydro situation in St. John. Because rains have not come the supply of hydro-electric current from Musquash to customers has been curtailed. This would have been obviated by getting a supply from the New Brunswick Power Company. The Civic Power Commission made ready for this connection three weeks ago. The Power Company replies that up to last night no formal application to link up had been made by New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. Hon. E. A. Smith had discussed it, they say, with Mr. Anderson, but there was no formal application.

The delayed application was made yesterday, however, and it is said will be before the directors of the Power Company this afternoon. If the latter decide to link up once the crisis will be over. If they do not, the Civic Power Commission say there is another way out, but that it will involve some short delay. Ronald A. McAvity, chairman of the Civic Power Commission says he informed Hon. E. A. Smith some time ago that on three days' notice from the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission current from the power plant of the McAvity works on Rothery Avenue could be turned in with hydro and meet all requirements. The notice was not given, and Mr. McAvity was today seeking to get in touch with Hon. Mr. Smith, who is on the morning train for Shediac. Premier Veniot is in Quebec. Engineer Weston is at Musquash today.

It appears that everything turns on what the New Brunswick Power Company directors do this afternoon, and if they do not decide to link up it will turn on what the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission does about the supply from the McAvity plant. Mayor Fisher was asked this morning what he had to say about the situation. In reply he said he had been close touch, and felt that if the service were interrupted, which he hoped would not occur, it would be for a very short time and should not cause any serious loss. The City Council is in session this afternoon.

When asked if he would make public a letter he had written to the directors of the New Brunswick Power Company Mayor Fisher replied that he would not do so before it had been laid before them.

In view of the situation the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission this morning gave notice that they will on their transmission lines until further notice, be suspended from midnight until 5 o'clock p. m. each day.

City's Position.

Asked this morning if he intended taking any action in connection with the city streets lights, following the announcement of the N. B. Electric Power Commission, John Thornton, commissioner of public safety, said that he had received no official notice of the Commission's intention and until this had been received he could not make any move.

They're Good To Good Old Prince

Prince is a black and tan curly haired dog, which has won a host of friends around King street, east and vicinity. He is beloved by children small and children large. His home is the basement of the house of one of the well known ladies of the city, who also feeds him. A lady residing on Wentworth street has cooked a good sized pan of meat every week for two years for Prince, whose appreciation is shown by much wagging of his tail and by easy recognition of his friend, whether she has a gift for him or not.

When someone said, "Why don't you send him to the home for dogs?" an indignant protest arose from many of those who love this old doggie, and so he lives to a good old age, happy in the thought of being loved and still enjoying in sedate fashion, the company of children who always assemble when that pan of meat is to be devoured. He has collie blood in his veins, but he is not thoroughbred except by nature, which has won him the greatest honor the world can give—the friends who ever allegiance to his dogship, because he has the gift of being kind.

As Hiram Sees It

"Well, sir," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to the Times reporter, "I was set to go up to the Rotary Club yesterday and hear Sam Harris talk about the Navy League. He made me a Navy League man clean through. If he'd make that speech out to The Settlement we'd all be right out for the League. But the thing he said that set me thinkin' the hardest wasn't about the Navy League. Sam Harris has lots o' money. He don't hev to work. He could be hev'in' a good time all the time. He said he knewed that—but he knewed somethin' more. He knewed about the successful man's responsibility o' citizenship. Them's his words. He said he'd been successful as a business man in Canada because he hed freedom, an' justice, an' security—an' he was a true citizen. He said that every boy an' gal that's comin' up kin be list as sure o' 'em as he was. 'Well, sir—if we could get that idea acrost to every man that has lots o' money—an' is dinged fool enough to think he don't owe nobody a special tax to squeeze these birds that don't hev what Sam Harris calls the responsibility o' citizenship. They take everything an' give nothin'. We orto get after 'em the same as we do the petter bug an' the cut-worm—By Him!"
