FOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

POPULAR NOVELIST'S BEST STORY TONIGHT

"Victory," By Joseph Conrad, Now at the Imperial.

Admirers of Maurice Tourneur productions include practically every moviegoer in the country. Readers of Joseph Conrad's books number into the hundreds of thousands and they are so enthusiastic over the works of the master of fiction that literary critics call them Conrad fans. This rich source of patronage is waiting for the enterprising exhibitor who shows "Victory." Conrad's greatest story and a Maurice Tourneur production. But you don't have to be a "Conrad fan" to enjoy this picture. People who have never heard of the literary sensation of the age are going to be enthusiastic over "Victory." It gave Maurice Tourneur just the opportunity he has been waiting for—a chance to extend himself to the limit. Like Conrad, he lives the sea. His smashing sea scenes captured "The White Heather" and "The Life Line," greater ones feature "Victory." Fights to the death, adventure on the sea in calm and raging storm, brave and black-hearted men and lovely women, and a tender love story, all ranged against the luxurious, fascinating background of the tropical South Seas and reduced in true Tourneur style—it's a picture in a thousand.

COLONEL SAMUEL PARKER, "KING OF HAWAII," DIES

Sugar Planter, Once Queen Liliuokalani's Prime Minister, Left $8,000,000 to Great Grandchild.

San Francisco, Cal., March 29.—News of the death in Honolulu of Colonel Samuel Parker, former prime minister of Queen Liliuokalani, has been received by cable here.

Colonel Parker, born vibrant and courtier of the old Hawaiian monarchy, was widely known throughout the United States, having spent much time in Washington, and having attended several Republican national conventions as delegate from Hawaii.

Four years ago in Washington he was stricken with heart trouble, from which he had suffered since.

Colonel Parker's grandfather was one of the Boston Parkers, for whom the Parker House in that city was named. He went to Hawaii many years ago and engaged in ranching and sugar planting. He was twice married, first to a princess of the royal family of Hawaii. He was often referred to as the "King of Hawaii."

The principal heir of the Parker estate is Richard Smart, a six-year-old great-grandchild, now being educated in San Francisco, for whom the $8,000,000 Parker ranch of the Hawaiian Islands is being held in trust.

The residue of the estate, valued at millions, will go to five children of Colonel Parker now living in Honolulu.

EXPORTING OUR BRAIN POWER

(Canadian Finance)

The departure of R. D. Waugh from Winnipeg, for the purpose of taking up his new position on the Sear Valley Commission, prompts the thought that Canada is in sore need of another emigrant. Mr. Waugh has served his city and his country well. He has been conscientious and persistent in his efforts to build up the community in which he has spent so many years. His works have been noted abroad and now we see him chosen for a position which will call for all of those fine qualities as a man and as an administrator which have characterized his career as a servant of the people. His departure is a distinct loss to Winnipeg and to western Canada, but in bidding him "au revoir" we feel that there is consolation in the fact that through him western Canada is making one more contribution to the allied cause.

It is really surprising to know the extent to which Canadians have assisted in guiding the affairs of other nations. Our genial cousins to the south are particularly indebted to Canada in this respect.

something to do with the winning of the war.

Even in the educational field Uncle Sam has secured assistance from Jack Canuck. Dr. Schurman, for many years president of Cornell University, is a Prince Edward Islander. In every walk of life we find these Canadian ambassadors. Take Minneapolis for instance, the president of one of the largest banks there is a Canadian. Chicago, New York and other large centres are full of these men whose energy and ability has placed them in the front ranks of the business world. We trust that the time is not far distant when we may be able to keep Canadian brains for the development of Canada. We can ill afford to continue this exportation of brain power.

NEW USE FOR ICE

(New York Evening Post)

Up to the present it has been possible only to make small cavities in concrete, but under a new German patent much larger ones can be made. Pieces of ice, corresponding to the measurements of the cavity required, are embedded in the concrete mass, and small channels are introduced to allow the melted ice to be drawn off rapidly.

In this way not only small concrete construction, such as pillars, stairs and beams can be supplied with a hollow space, but large blocks with several chambers, such as those required for walls of houses or ships.
