

ARE PLEDGED TO SET ONE FIRE EVERY WEEK; IS MURDER TO ENTER SUFFRAGETTES' PLANS?

Lillian Lenton Photographed in Bed While Correspondent Shepherd Was Interviewing Her

London, March 31.—"Are the English suffragettes preparing to commit murder in order to win the vote?" I have just returned from the bedside of Lillian Lenton, London's newest, prettiest, and most popular suffragette—the girl who was released the other day from Holloway Prison because she contracted pleurisy. I asked Miss Lenton this question—whether she expected assassinations at the hands of women—and here is what she said to me: "We women are showing very desperate here in England. The rest of the world does not even guess the problems we are facing. We must have the vote if we are to preserve the decency and morality of the English race. We must have it at any cost—even at the cost of human life. "I have entered into a pledge to help to set fire to one building every week in England. "We broke windows—that did not help at all. We have dynamited Lloyd George's home—that has not helped much. I and Olive Wharry burned up the $10,000 tea pavilion in Kew gardens—that has not helped a great deal. And now— "Well, Mrs. Pankhurst has told us not to take human life—yet, at any rate. All the inner circle of militant underground that she does not want us actually to kill anybody, but— "But what? I persisted. "Sometimes it looks to me as if she couldn't always hold some of the women in check. They lose their patience when they see things going so terribly slowly. "But are there really women who would commit murder? Do you, yourself, know any suffragettes in London who would actually kill? "I know more than a dozen girls who are so zealous that they would be willing to take human life and to die on the gallows if they saw that, by so doing, they could gain the vote for women in England! "I remember I am not so sure myself that killing wouldn't help matters! But still we must be loyal to Mrs. Pankhurst while she is our leader! "I am sure you will not print it in England, but I have entered into a pledge with a few young women to set one building alight every week in England. You count upon the fire of the hat few weeks and see how regularly they have been happening—and you watch in the future. Olive Wharry and myself, who were caught when we were burning down the pavilion in Kew gardens, were too confident, for we said we had set up to that time, and we grew careless. But the fire will go on, even though they sent Olive to the penitentiary for a month and I expect to go on for the same length of time, just as soon as I'm well enough to be arrested again. "And if the fire don't help—well— "HOME FORMULA FOR DANDRUFF FALLING HAIR & ITCHING SCALP Readers will find this simple prescription excellent for quickly killing dandruff and stopping falling hair and itching scalp. Little Beauty Chats By BLANCHE BEACON

A Kitchen Beauty Shelf

DO NOT give up trying to be pretty just because you have to do your own housework, as you can keep hands and face in very good condition indeed if you will but yield to my persuasion and put up a beauty shelf in your kitchen. The best place for this shelf is over the kitchen sink, but if this is impossible, put the shelf anywhere, so long as it is within easy reaching distance. Once the shelf is nailed securely to the wall, cover it with a plain piece of heavy white paper, and then, to make the tout ensemble everything it should be, tack on a paper fringe. Now what shall we put on this shelf? Not knowing what your needs are, I will have to rest content with telling you what I would put on this shelf, were I in my kitchen. To begin, I would certainly feel it necessary to keep the half of a freshly cut lemon among my beauty supplies, and vegetables and fruits do stain one's hands, and lemon juice is most effective in removing disgusting marks if applied to the stained fingers immediately after one's task of paring and cutting is finished. A tin box of Beauty Food would come next on my list, as, after the dishes are washed, it is a wise idea to rub a tiny bit of cream into the hands, thus preventing chaps. What next? Why, a manicure file, an orange-wood stick for cleaning the nails and a pair of miniature scissors to use when they become roughed or torn. And one mustn't forget vaseline for burns, unless one prefers to keep a cupful of wet salt on hand. Frequently the housewife washes her hands hastily under the opened kitchen faucet and carelessly uses kitchen soap, consequently falling heir to red, rough hands. This catastrophe may be avoided if a cake of mild toilet soap—

"Wasn't Easter Sunday a miserable day?" "Not at all. I rather enjoyed the rain. My new hat failed to arrive."

The Solar Plexus a Great Nerve Centre

With the single exception of the brain itself, the solar plexus is the most important nerve centre in the human body. Situated just back of the stomach and close to the spinal cord, the solar plexus supplies the motor nerves to the vital organs. Injury to or weakness of the solar plexus consequently means incapacity of the vital organs of the body. This explains why a blow which reaches the solar plexus means helplessness to the person receiving it. These nerve centres all demand an enormous quantity of good, rich blood, and failing to get this, the nerve cells are starved and depleted, and fail to supply vital energy to the digestive and eliminating organs.
