The labor correspondent, after having perused John Mitchell's book, 'Organized Labor,' can say it is one of the best books for organized labor ever put in print...

The Daily Trade Record takes umbrage at Cardinal Gibbons' sermon on sweatshops, and points to several mistakes made by his reverence...

In addition to placing a series of six new signs in the cars of the principal cities in the United States, advertising the union label of the United Garment Workers, space has also been taken on the bulletin boards of the railroad stations...

The Herald is in receipt of a paper published in Haverhill, Mass., which is somewhat interesting in the case of Mr. Fisherman, inasmuch as it editorially announces itself as 'The only anti-Socialist newspaper in America'...

The Federated Trades and Labor Council of Quebec at a recent meeting recommended the taking of steps to have a representative of the council upon the Board of Trade, in order that when labor questions come up they might also be discussed and dealt with from the point of view of the workman...

In addressing a meeting of master and journeymen in the County of Brooklyn, N.Y., one master horse-shoer, in speaking of the union stamp, said: 'This stamp we feared so much I had never seen until it was used in my shop, and then I stood near the door lest it would explode, and I wanted to be safe. By and by I took up courage, and used it myself, but with great caution. Finally I got so used to it that I consider it a mascot, and the horse-shoer without it liable to come loose at any moment'...

The Kingston newspapers are persistent in declaring the strike at the locomotive works of A. W. Holmes, Canadian vice-president, in his last report to the Machinists' Journal, says: 'The Kingston situation has been getting some attention from the press, a report being printed that it was declared off, the local lodge refusing to pay any more strike pay. It was unofficial, it stated, but they could not even ask our secretary for the truth of it. In fact, one of the editors, a retired preacher at that, who was told that there was no truth in it, deliberately printed it'...

The Boot and Shoe Workers' Union at St. Louis, Mo., was formerly in connection with the Boot and Shoe Workers' International Union. Owing to some trouble they were suspended, or withdrawn, and at once Master Workmen Armstrong, of the K. of L. of Lynn, whose shoe workers are K. of L. folks, hurried post haste to St. Louis to gather the erring ones under the K. of L. wing...
