The Public at Large
Will no doubt be interested in the spirit which predominates this Store.

We therefore take much pleasure in publishing a decalogue which is handed to each one of our clerks, after the study of which they are expected to govern themselves accordingly. Should each clerk follow strictly the articles laid down in the decalogue this would be an ideal store. As the clerks are all human we do not expect that decalogue will be followed strictly to the letter, but it is our ambition to have it adhered to as strictly as is possible.

CLERKS' TEN COMMANDMENTS.

It will be money in your pockets if you study these off by heart and allow them to influence your acts. Follow strictly this decalogue and you make yourself indispensable.

- PUNCTUALITY. — Be prompt in getting to business.
- PERSONALITY. — Give attention to your personal appearance. Clean finger nails, neat attire, cheerful countenance, and a pleasant address help success.
- FACT. — Immediately a customer enters step briskly forward with a "Glad to see you" smile. Be patient with slow customers, diplomatic with grumblers, respectful and courteous to all. Remember names and faces. Customers like to be greeted pleasantly by name—they feel flattered, appreciated.
- ACCURACY. — Cast up customers' invoices carefully. Avoid mistakes. They are costly. When in error apologize promptly, frankly.
- DEPENDABILITY. — When you promise to procure or deliver goods by an appointed time, do it. Disappointed customers are fatal to success.
- KNOWLEDGE. — Note the goods you handle. Be able to give prompt, full and accurate reply to the customer's question about country or origin, different grades of quality, process of manufacture, how prepared for use.
- THOROUGHNESS. — Avoid "slipshodness." Never leave a customer part served. Let your thoroughness indicate a desire to please.
- PROGRESSIVENESS. — Customers welcome information about new goods. Attention skillfully drawn to a new thing means a sale. Give a reputation for up-to-dateness, and leads to success.
- SYSTEMATIC. — Be methodical, systematic your work. Master it, or it will master you. Abhor dirt, keep stock bright, counter polished.
- MORALS. — Shun liquor and gossip; be truthful; be honest; be many; be gentlemanly; be true to yourself; cultivate lofty ideas; "Hitch your wagon to a star; success will inevitably follow."

On Friday, Dominion day, the Star will not be issued.

Celebrated Broad Cove coal, $5.00 per chaldron delivered, at Watters', Walker's wharf. Tel. 611.

The Western Baptist Association, which recently met at Centerville, Carleton Co., passed a strong resolution favoring union with the Free Baptists.

The new land telephone cable to Carleton has been completed and the service is again giving great satisfaction.

The names in a wedding notice in the Star yesterday should have been Ernest F. Roberts and Helen Rootes instead of James Robinson and Eliza Rootes.

At a meeting of the L. O. Foresters last evening, in Fairville, Fred McDormack and W. Cooper were elected delegates to the session of the high court which meets at Edmundston, N. B., the first week of July.

At the public school closing at Woodstock, Master Jack Elipwell, son of David Elipwell and grandson of Sergt. Elipwell, of the local police force, carried off two prizes in his grade, one a medal offered by Mayor Lindsay, the other offered by R. V. Dimmock.

Capt. Murchison, of the schooner Empress, wishes the Star to state that he preferred no charge of theft against his man, George Campbell, who was arrested yesterday. The man had been drinking heavily and the captain just wanted him taken care of till it was time for the vessel to sail.

A stray child was found on North street yesterday afternoon by Policeman Thomas Sullivan, and taken to the harbor during this weather, for the fellow tried to tell his name, but could not speak plain enough. He was called for later by his mother, Mrs. Norrup, and taken to his home on Paradise row.

In the future mariners will be better able to find the proper course in the harbor during this weather, for yesterday morning Captain Bisset, of the government steamer Lansdowne, placed a new bell on the Light House. The bell, which weighs 2,100 pounds, replaces a bell that weighed only 600 pounds.

Walter Merrill, Treasurer, F. Fowler; Fin. Scribbs, Harold Stears; Conductor, Mr. McGeorge Irvine; Asst. Mr. Graham; Chaplain, Stanley Reid; Outside Sentinel, C. There was a meeting last evening of the firemen of St. John, at No. 10 Hook and Ladder station, King street east. There was a large attendance of firemen, and after a foot or two of the candy laden card stands, almost all of the candy was eaten. The firemen are bright, sparkling, bubbling over with genuine humor. The people engaged to interpret this clever piece are noted as one of the most talented on the American stage. From the rise to the fall of the curtain the audience is conveyed with laughter. Bright and funny as the lines are it is necessary to have talented artists to interpret their full meaning. A recent criticism says, "At first the laughter comes like the advance guard of a thunder storm—in large spots, but well apart. The first act is crossed before the storm of merriment really breaks. After that the laughter is fun. There is no attempt at a real plot. It is just pure fun. If you want to laugh see 'A Night's Frolic'."

A HEALTH SEEKER'S PROTEST.
To the Editor of the Star:
Sir,—How is it that the board of health, if that body really exists and is not merely a name, can refrain from taking action with reference to the exposure of candy for sale of the public streets in rear of all manner of contagion. It is surely bad enough at any time to allow candy which stands for days, or perhaps weeks, almost on top of a catch basin and exposed to the fumes which naturally rise from the latter and especially when the dose is doubled by the supply of dust and dirt which is distributed over the candy by the wind, to be sold and eaten. The most disgusting feature in connection with this matter is when on a warm day the catch-basins are cleared out and within a foot or two of the candy laden card stands a steaming mass of dirt which has been taken from the basin.

To one who will take the trouble to visit one of these candy-catch-basins, dirt-steam combined with the odor of a warm day, and especially when the dose is doubled by the supply of dust and dirt which is distributed over the candy by the wind, to be sold and eaten. The most disgusting feature in connection with this matter is when on a warm day the catch-basins are cleared out and within a foot or two of the candy laden card stands a steaming mass of dirt which has been taken from the basin.

A NIGHT'S FROLIC.
W. S. Harkins has selected a comedy in which to introduce his new company to the theatre-goers of this city at the York Theatre, on June 30th and July 1st and 2nd. The fun in "A Night's Frolic" is said to be fast and furious, but clean and wholesome, the lines are bright, sparkling, bubbling over with genuine humor. The people engaged to interpret this clever piece are noted as one of the most talented on the American stage. From the rise to the fall of the curtain the audience is conveyed with laughter. Bright and funny as the lines are it is necessary to have talented artists to interpret their full meaning. A recent criticism says, "At first the laughter comes like the advance guard of a thunder storm—in large spots, but well apart. The first act is crossed before the storm of merriment really breaks. After that the laughter is fun. There is no attempt at a real plot. It is just pure fun. If you want to laugh see 'A Night's Frolic'."

He found his electric and at his very feet was the elevator pit. Another step would have dropped him some fifteen or twenty feet.
