

MODERN GIRL NOT FOOLISH

Society Columns of London Newspapers Tell of Broken Engagements - Take Broader View of Life.

London, Oct. 31.—During the last few weeks the society columns of the London papers have contained an ever increasing number of announcements of broken marriage engagements.

Many explanations have been put forward for this public admission of disagreements between engaged couples.

Charles Garvice, the novelist, advances this reason: "I do not mean," he said, "that all women and girls are suffragists, or are even in sympathy with the movement, but it undoubtedly has led the girl of today to take a broader view of life than her mother did."

The Toronto Globe says the hunter who fires when he sees a leaf rustle should be punished. Quite right. He shouldn't be in the woods at all.

WEAKNESS AND PALPITATION OF THE HEART.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitated and throbs, skips beats, and sometimes seems to almost stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

Many people become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social, business or household duties.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all weakness and heart disorders, and are recommended by us with the greatest of confidence that they will do what we claim for them.

Mrs. George Burrage, Cobocook, Ont., writes:—"Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all with heart or nerve trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PRINCE ETON

Third Son of King George will be Treated Like any other Student at Famous School.

London, Oct. 31.—Prince Henry, King George's third son, is now a student at Eton, and it is said that he will be treated like any other boy, except for "ragging."

The style of clothing that Eton demands of her scholars has already been adopted by the Prince. His first day was occupied in buying his first silk hat, or "topper," as the Etonians term it, and he duly appeared in the tullest Eton jacket, broad collar and trousers turned up at the bottom.

There are many other things besides his lessons that Prince Henry will have to learn before he becomes an accomplished boy of Eton. On no account must he, until he has served his apprenticeship, indulge in the frivolity of a fancy waistcoat or rolled up umbrella, wear brown shoes or walk arm-in-arm with a fellow voyager along the "High."

Almost indefinite are the rules of Eton etiquette—where or when a fellow may smoke or drink "swipes" (ale), under what circumstances he may walk going to Windsor (it is always the right-hand side), and when he will play cricket, and not be a "wet bob," or rower. Generally the rower is considered to be more of a "blood."

When he is homesick he will learn that there is but one place where he may be shed, "The Waters of Babylon," and as to slugs, he has a dictionary full of it to pick up. Prince Henry is to "dry up" at Eton, and he will play cricket, and not be a "wet bob," or rower. Generally the rower is considered to be more of a "blood."

There has been considerable discussion in yachting circles here over the report cabled from America that the boat which is to defend the America's Cup is to be built of bronze and to have silk sails. One of the Shamrocks was built partly of bronze, and its advantage over steel in securing a fine polished surface below the waterline is well-known. Some English naval architects, however, favor a material of a fast racing yacht. A small boat built in England of this material was raced in Belgium last season and found to be equal to any steel boat in point of stability at about half the weight.

Charles E. Nicholson, who is to build the new Shamrock, however, does not favor it, so it is not likely to be used. Sir Thomas Lipton's champion, the "Prisoner of Zenda," is made of steel and is believed they sag too much and that what the America defender will be supplied with is really "union cloth," which is largely cotton. The sails of the Shamrock IV will be made by the firm that makes the sails for all the best English yachts. The cloth used by this firm is specially woven for them and it not supplied to anybody else.

Syndicalism, which plays such a part in the trade unionism of Continental Europe, has made little or no progress in Great Britain. In fact, some of the strongest trade union organizations in this country have declared against it.

First, there was the railwaymen's union, the executive of which decided against a sympathetic strike, another phrase for syndicalism, in connection with the Dublin strike. Some of the members of the union went out on strike in England sooner than handle "tainted goods" from Dublin, but they found no support from the officers of the organization and were therefore compelled to return to work. The bus drivers and conductors of London in their newly signed agreement with the owners have taken a similar attitude toward the sympathetic strike, and one of the clauses of the agreement expressly states that the companies are not to be affected by disputes with companies with which they have no direct concern. This is considered as a big victory for the companies as is the recognition of the unions for the men.

These decisions are a setback to those who advocate general strikes to secure redress of the workmen's rights have not been very happy in England, for the sympathetic strike very seldom gets any return for his self-enforced idleness.

Some of the leaders, including Philip Snowden, the Socialist, have even gone so far as to say that the strike does not benefit the worker, money on one side, the strike is often more than a failure.

It is estimated that nearly $20,000,000 is spent on golf in the United Kingdom every year, and that of this huge sum only a little less than half, or $12,500,000, goes to the caddies.

The estimate has been made by a well-known golf specialist, who after a careful census has placed the number of players in the country at roughly 250,000. Three-quarters of a million players pay on an average $25 a year each in club subscriptions, or a total of $6,250,000 for the clubs, of which $4,000,000 is for green fees, $6,250,000 for golf balls, $625,000 for clubs and the amount which is calculated as the caddies' collect, makes the total mentioned. The estimate gives one ball a week to each player, at a cost of fifty cents each.

Each golfer's expenses are placed at a trifle over $100 a year on the same allow, his railway fares or other means of reaching the links, and at

D. F. Maxwell was pleased to see such interest manifested in a matter in which he had been interested for many years and told of the port as he has been telling the public some of the plays out of which he might have made fortunes, which however went to other managers after he had refused them.

Speaking at a farewell luncheon to a brother actor, Sir Herbert said that he had produced five plays which had been offered to him, but which he refused, he would be a rich man. These plays, "Peter Pan," "Kismet," "Diplomacy," "The Prisoner of Zenda," and "If I were King," all equally successful.

The truth was, Sir Herbert said, that the money was in the water. The water of the port was the money. The water of the port was the money.

NEW RADON CITIES RADIUM TO TREAT CANCER

Money to be put to this Use now over $600,000—Radium Institutes Springing up all over Country, but Merits Overshadowed by Mass of Extravagant Claims.

Berlin, Oct. 31.—In view of the promising results attained in the treatment of cancer, more than a dozen German cities have voted money for the purchase of radium and its sister product, mesothorium. The appropriations range as high as $60,000 at Leipzig and $58,000 at Berlin.

Public interest in these substances has created a rare opportunity for swindlers, and radium promoters are already in the field. The German financial papers recently warned the public against an adventurer who has already tried to exploit the English and French markets with a pretended radium company and is now flooding Germany with circulars advising investment in the stock of a similar concern.

Radium institutes are springing up in every important German city, but the merits of the treatment are as usual overshadowed by a mass of extravagant claims. Among the really scientific developments reported is the application of radium and mesothorium to diseases of the ear. This is the subject of an article by Dr. Hugel in the Munich Medical Weekly.

Emperor William has a new diplomatic adviser, reports on an alternative travelling companion in Count George von Wedel, well known in Washington as first secretary of the German embassy there from 1908 to 1911, and now accredited as minister to the court of Weimar.

That the Dominion Government be immediately urged, in the interest of the people of Canada, to take into consideration the development of St. Croix Harbour as an ocean port.

That the committee of the Board of Trade be authorized, with power to add to their number from the citizens of the town and county, to take immediate steps to carry out this resolution.

That this meeting of the citizens of the town and members of the Board of Trade respectfully suggest to His Worship the Mayor and Town Council that a committee of the council be appointed to work in unison with the committee of the Board of Trade.

That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Hon. R. L. Borden, Premier of Canada, the Hon. J. K. Flemming, Premier of New Brunswick, and Thomas A. Hart, M. P.

Cured Eczema Like Magic

Suffered for Years—Tried All Kinds of Treatment—Surprised at Results From Dr. Chase's Ointment.

You can soon tell when people are enthusiastic about medical treatment by the language they use. After experimenting with all sorts of ointments in a vain effort to obtain relief and cure, the writer of this letter was astonished at the quick and satisfactory results obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"It worked like magic," she writes. Indeed, it is surprising the healing that is often effected in a single night by this great ointment. The stinging and itching are relieved at once, and cure is only a matter of time and patient treatment.
