Title Polo Event For Meadow Brook

Long Island Club is Awarded National Championships for First Time.

For the first time in the history of polo the national championships were awarded to the Meadow Brook Club of Long Island at a meeting of the executive committee of the Polo Association at the Downtown Club yesterday.

Meadow Brook, one of the oldest clubs in the organization and long recognized as the leader in polo activity, has been the scene of international matches and tryouts for international tournaments, but never has had the privilege of conducting the American championship events.

The tourney is to start on September 11 and will continue for ten days or more, depending upon the entry.

That the award was not made without a good deal of discussion is certain from the fact that four clubs had made bids for the championships and that the final decision on the matter had been delayed a month or so beyond the usual time. The names of all four clubs were not disclosed, but it was admitted some time ago that the Philadelphia Country Club, which conducted the events very successfully last year intended to make an earnest effort to land the plum. It was thought by some that the best way out of the situation was to divide the three championships—senior, junior and open—among three clubs, but the plan evidently was not thought feasible by the committee because it would entail three times as much expense in shipping ponies and a loss of considerable time. Besides that, the entire championship programme in the past always has been awarded to a single club, and there was no good reason why Meadow Brook, which never had conducted the event, should not receive the same consideration as the other clubs.

Point Judith Polo Club, which has been the scene of a number of championship tournaments, has been awarded the New England sectional championship to be played from August 2 to 14, and the Miami Valley Polo Club of Dayton, Ohio, received the sanction for the mid-Western sectional championship.

The committee appointed recently to study the rules revisions suggested by the Hurlingham Club of England made its report yesterday. They had gone over the code carefully and had drawn up amendments of their own which they suggested that the Polo Association request the various clubs to try out during the early weeks of the season. There is no indication at present whether or not the revisions will be adopted. What the changes are in the playing rules as used by Hurlingham and what the features are of the code as amended by the Polo Association committee will be made public at a later date.

Those present at the executive committee meeting yesterday were H. L. Herbert, chairman; William A. Hazard, secretary; W. Cameron Forbes and Dudley P. Rogers of Boston, Colonel William Lassiter of the Army Polo Association, J. Cheever Gowdin of the Rockaway Hunting Club, Harry Payne Whitney, Devereux Milburn and Louis E. Stoddard of the Meadow Brook Club, and W. Pinket Stewart, Robert E. Strawbridge, Sr. and John C. Groom of the Philadelphia Country Club.

GOING BAREFOOT.

(New York Times.) According to a dispatch from Vienna, the "intellectuals" of that cruelly harassed city, partly because of poverty and partly as a protest against a notable phase of profiteering, have organized themselves into a Barefoot Club. In other words, from now on and until cold weather comes again they are to wear no shoes or stockings.

This is a variously meritorious idea. Going barefoot in summer is not a hardship, as is known by everybody now old whose boyhood was spent in the country. If he remembers those days, he remembers also that the arrival of barefoot time was welcomed, not dreaded, by the boys who were allowed to quit their shoes then, and that the other boys were bitterly resented when deprived of the same pleasant liberty.

As a matter of fact, a large part of the earth's inhabitants walk in bare feet for the better part of every year, and no small minority for the whole of it. Certainly nothing would bring down the price of shoes more promptly or farther than a general revival and adoption of this ancient and honorable custom. If it could be made the fashion, though only for the younger generation, the high cost of living would receive a jolt as all parents know to their grief.

Geo. Carpenter Given A Welcome

Champion Arrived at Toronto Saturday Morning—Tendered Civic Reception, Luncheon, and Trip in Airplane—Was Seen in Action.

Toronto, May 9.—Georges Carpenter, the noted French pugilist, who recently won the heavyweight championship of Europe, arrived in Toronto Saturday morning in his special car the "Mistress," in the private car of the late ex-President Theodore Roosevelt.

He was accompanied by his bride of a few weeks ago, Françoise Descaups, his French manager, Jack Curley, his English manager, Jules Lanzaer, his Belgian sparring partner, and a number of others, the entourage comprising fifteen people.

Mayor Church and prominent local sportsmen met the party at the station. A civic reception was given at the City Hall to Carpenter and his bride, and they were the guests of the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association of this city at luncheon in the King Edward Hotel. In the afternoon they were taken across the bay by Colonel Barker, V. C., in an airplane to Hamilton's Point, where they witnessed the ball game between Toronto and Reading.

Carpenter gave an exhibition in the arena here, Saturday night, of his prowess in the ring in a four round bout with Lanzaer, under the auspices of the Army and Navy Veterans.

The luncheon was a notable event, and was attended by about 150 citizens. Madame Carpenter was the only lady present. Carpenter paid a high tribute to the Canadians who fought in the war, and referred to the good records made by Colonel Bishop, V. C., and Colonel Barker, V. C., the famous Canadian aviator.

PAINTED JULY 1919

The Modern Idea

Tell your painter to do the job when he paints your buildings. Somewhere, in an inconspicuous place, have him make a record of the date when the work was done. In the above sketch is seen an example of dating a building.

Time slips by amazingly fast and a record is a valuable reminder as the years pass. Properly preservation is a vital matter. Any idea which serves as a check is valuable. You will never discount the practice when once you have adopted it. Dating need not be in the least a displacement. Have the date written in small neat figures where it can be found whenever desirable and then keep a check on time as it affects your property.
