GULF WAR SYNDROME? The national Defence Medical Centre in Ottawa is carrying out a study of all complaints and would like to hear from any veterans who feel that their condition is related to the Gulf War service. They will cover the costs associated with getting these individuals to Ottawa, for thorough testing and consultation on their medical condition.

RCMP Veterans who have served in war zones such as Bosnia, Angola, Haiti and are suffering from stress or other illness should contact their family doctor and seek guidance. The stress from such service could produce symptoms and conditions similar to the “Gulf War Syndrome.” Further information is available at Internet site <http://www.dtic.mil/gulfink> or by contacting:

ERRATA (SPRING 1997) Under “Promotions” on p. 86, we indicated that B.A. Busson was promoted from the rank of staff sergeant to superintendent; rather, she was promoted from the rank of inspector to superintendent. The aircraft appearing on pp. 39-40 were incorrectly identified: the Otter and Twin Otter were accidentally reversed. As well, the photograph which appeared on p. 11 was accidentally flopped; thus the three retired members were identified in reverse order. We apologize for any inconvenience or embarrassment these errors may have caused. — Ed.
