Predictions for 1995

by Sports staff

You could sit around all year and watch the sports world unfold, or you could set aside a few minutes right now and read this article to find out what's going to happen in the upcoming months. Either way, it's time well spent, especially if you're holed up in the Grawood, reading this, watching some sports, and enjoying a few of your favourite beverages.

We will kick it off with a look at Dalhousie's fortunes:

We will beat Acadia in a hockey game. This is not a misprint. There are no typos. Do not adjust your newspaper. Just make sure you are there when it happens.

Undefeated seasons and AUAA titles. For men's and women's basketball, men's volleyball, and the Big Goats.

CIAU title for women's soccer. Bet the farm on this one.

CIAU title for men's hockey. Keep the farm, bet your pants. You might lose them, but it's been a really mild winter. So, we either become national champions, or everyone walks around campus with no pants. Really, there is no loser.

1996 and 1997. Back-to-back men's basketball CIAU championships.

Vanier Cup, Tiger Style. As opposed to SMU's version, which is "Vanier Cup, doggie-style".

Now for an inside look onto the future of professional sports:

In football...

•In the NFC Championship game, "Neon" Deon Sanders intercepts a ball on his own 5 yard line, and despite outdistancing his pursuers, fails to score a touchdown as his head explodes at mid-field.

•In a re-match of their old rivalry, Dallas will square off with Pittsburgh in this year's Super Bowl. Despite a stellar defence, fans realize Neil O'Donnell is no Terry Bradshaw (with a few reminders from Bradshaw himself) and Dallas three-peats overcoming numerous injuries.

•Michael Jordan, feeling his .202 average in AA "showed that I had nothing left to prove in baseball" is invited to a tryout for the Chicago Bears stating, "and I'll still have time to master hockey".

In hockey...

•After failing to secure a stable future in hockey labour relations, Gary Bettman will be fired as NHL commissioner, lose his personal fortune betting on Pro-line, and end up so desperate he takes a job in commercials as a Keebler Elf.

•Much like in the computer simulated results after the baseball strike, an American computer firm simulates this year's final hockey standings, and not a single Canadian team reaches the playoffs.

•The "Great One" Wayne Gretzky remains the greatest hockey player of all time.

In baseball...

•Player's Union boss Donald Fehr finally smiles, causing his face to break into thousands of tiny pieces.

•Major League Baseball uses replacement players and fans flock to ballparks in record numbers. Fans credit a return to hard-nosed baseball, lower ticket prices, and better hot dogs.

In basketball...

•The number two pick in the NBA draft sign a two year, one billion dollar contract, causing the number one pick to state, "screw money, I want the Caramilk secret".

All the best to Dal sports teams in the New Year, and may there be a Stanley Cup game in every Rec room, and a ballgame on every radio.

4th in CIAU

by Jefferson Rappell

The Dalhousie hockey Tigers kicked off the new year with a convincing 8-2 win over the University of Prince Edward Island Panthers on the island Saturday. Leading the way were Tim Hill and Keifer House, each with two goals, Dan Holmes with a goal and two assists, and big Brian King with four assists. Also of note: rookie defenceman Martin LaPointe scored his first goal in a Dal uniform, contributing to the Tigers' romp.

With the win Dal managed to fall (yes, fall) from third to fourth in the country.

On a brighter note, in AUAA All-Star voting for the first ever all-star game in the AUAA, forward Stephen Maltby and defenceman Kevin Meisner were selected by the media to represent Dal. More Tigers are expected to be chosen to the squad by coaches Tom Coolen of Acadia and Darrell Young of Dal.

The all-star game will be played Feb. 3 at the Halifax Metro Centre.

A Career in Orthoptics/Ophthalmic Medical Technology

Orthoptics is the clinical science of ocular motility and binocular vision, and related disorders of the eyes. An Orthoptist is an allied health professional who works with ophthalmologists, (eye physicians and surgeons) analyzing and treating patients unable to use both eyes together because of an eye muscle or sensory abnormality. An Ophthalmic Medical Technologist assists the ophthalmologist with a wide range of diagnostic tests and procedures requiring a great deal of technical expertise.

In July 1995, the Izaak Walton Killam Children's Hospital will commence an accredited twenty-four (24) month training program leading to a Certificate of Orthoptics and Ophthalmic Medical Technology. Applications are now being accepted from individuals holding a baccalaureate degree with courses in any of the following areas: psychology, physiology, biology, anatomy, physics, statistics, research methodology. Work/volunteer experience in the health care field will be considered an asset. Candidates should possess good communication skills, sound judgement, emotional maturity and a demonstrated ability to relate well to small children and to adults.

Financial assistance may be available to qualified students.

Deadline for application is February 28, 1995
