PROGRESS OF THE MINES

To the reading public interested in the mining industry of Kootenay and Boundary Mining Districts THE DAILY MINER and WEEKLY MINER are especially useful. A corps of local writers covers thoroughly the Trail Creek district, while the staff of special correspondents, located in all the leading mining centers in southern British Columbia, reviews the mining matters of that section.

On Sunday morning THE DAILY MINER publishes an account of the week's work in the mines. The smallest working prospect and the greatest producer are mentioned together with the number of men employed and work in hand.

A HINT TO ADVERTISERS.

The value of an advertising medium is rated according to the amount of circulation in the fields for which the advertisement is intended. To the local business man, who wishes to reach the people of Rossland and the Kootenay country THE DAILY MINER has no competitor. Its news service, both local and foreign, has built up a circulation in Rossland, Trail and Kootenay and Slocan points that admits of no comparison with the other papers of British Columbia. To the mining operator who wishes to reach the investing public in Eastern Canada, United States and Europe, THE WEEKLY MINER presents a circulation list that will satisfy the most sceptical that he is receiving full value for money invested in its columns.

SPECIAL OFFER: THE DAILY MINER UNTIL JAN. 1, 1899, FOR $10.00. THE WEEKLY MINER UNTIL JAN. 1, 1899, FOR $2.00.
