SHE COULD NOT HOLD A CUP OF TEA

Doctors Agreed Toronto Nurse Had Bright's Disease.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her After Five Years Suffering—Felt a Benefit After First Box.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 3.—(Special.)—Mrs. Alberta Giffin, a nurse, living at 40 Wright Ave., this city, has been interviewed in regard to her reported cure of nervous or kidney trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills. She states that the report is true in every particular.

"My sickness," Mrs. Giffin says, "was caused from a nervous breakdown and what the doctors called incurable Bright's Disease brought on by cold and long weeks of nursing. I suffered for five years."

"I was treated by three doctors and was a patient in two hospitals but gradually got weaker. Reading the experiences of other sufferers like myself led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. At that time I was so weak and nervous I could not hold a cup of tea without spilling some of its contents."

"I felt a benefit after taking the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and eight or nine boxes cured me so completely I can now walk a mile without fatigue."

"If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills yourself almost all of your neighbors will tell you they always cure Kidney Disease in any form."

UNEXPECTED REWARDS

His Genius Keeps Him In Forefront of Party Says "Tay Pay."

"That's a very distinguished figure," whispered one well-known Parliamentarian to me the other afternoon in the House of Commons; and, curiously enough, this was the very thought that came into my mind as I read the obituary notice of the late Lord Salisbury.

There was a big crowd on the pier, all eyes bent in the direction of the bath. But among this crowd there was a young fellow who at once took in the situation. He divested himself of coat and waistcoat, and dived from the head of the pier, and swam to the rescue of the drowning girl. In the meantime a boat was put off from the pier, and the young man was brought to the beach, where a large crowd had assembled. The lady was unconscious, and while attention was directed to her, her preserver disappeared.

For some time advertisements were inserted in the English newspapers in which the discoverer of the young man, stating that it would be to his advantage to reply; but nothing came of them, and the rescuer was not located. Two years elapsed, when another advertisement appeared stating that a big legacy had been left to the unknown young man. The newspapers commented on the matter, and by this time the young man was well known.

He acknowledged that he was aware that he was advertised for, but did not wish to be rewarded for his heroic deed. It appeared that the young lady failing to find her rescuer, instructed her lawyers in her will to find the man and she devised to him twenty thousand pounds. He was a mechanic and in poor circumstances.

A cup of tea placed a needy artist far beyond the dreams of avarice. Having spent almost his last penny in the purchase of a cup of tea, he was in Paris, our friend was crossing from Dieppe to Dover. The passage was rough. The carriage of the Dover-London express was the most comfortable occupied by two elderly ladies. Overhearing a remark from one of his fellow-passengers, he immediately left his seat and hastened to the carriage with the cup of tea. The astonishment and the thanks of the ladies led to a very pleasant conversation, and the artist told his new-made friends his hopes and his aspirations.

They parted with protestations of friendship. Shortly after the artist received a communication from one of the solicitors to the effect that a large sum of money had been placed in their hands, which would be disbursed to him on condition that he would follow his profession and make himself famous. He did both, and is never tired of telling his story of "a cup of tea."

One thousand dollars' worth of furniture and five hundred dollars' worth of bank notes, he had paid for helping an old gentleman who had slipped on some steps. Mr. B. was a member of his club one evening slipped on walking down the steps. A young man and his fiancée happened to be passing at the time. His appearance was to the assistance of the old gentleman, picked him up, sat with him on the steps till he had recovered, and volunteered to see him home.

The old gentleman thanked the young man for his kindness and asked him to call on him. Before entering the cab he asked the young man to call on him the next day to see how he was. The young man replied that he certainly would, and did so. At that interview Mr. B. was questioned by the artist and elicited that the young man was engaged, and their marriage could not be celebrated for some little time for want of funds. Mr. B. supplied the funds as stated above, in acknowledgment of the ready assistance rendered him.

An expensive library and two thousand pounds were the value put upon a little kindness displayed by one man to another in a store. They were both purchasing at the store when a sudden faintness attacked the elder. The younger at once went to his assistance, and remained with him till he recovered, afterwards accompanying him to his home. On arriving there he asked his companion for his name and told him he would be glad if he would pay him a visit. This was done, and the two men became fast friends. On the elder one's death, the other became possessed of his fine library of books and ten thousand dollars.

Five hundred dollars for a smile. This was a legacy left by a lady named Hodges to another lady simply because she was in the habit of kindly smiling at Miss Hodges as she sat out on the pier.

A servant girl gave some breakfast to a hungry tramp. Six years afterwards she was a bit astonished to learn that this self-same tramp had left her a farm worth around $30,000, which he had managed to acquire by his thrift and industry.

CHANGE NAVAL WARFARE.

Sir Percy Scott Has Given British Navy a New Gunner Advantage.

The baronetcy conferred on Vice Admiral Sir Percy Scott, announced in the list of New Year's honors, is regarded in naval circles as confirmation of the report that this officer's invention of a fire director has been adopted by the Admiralty for the whole fleet. It is reported that the Thunderer, equipped experimentally with a Scott director, recently fired with accuracy from 300 to 400 per cent. greater than the Orion, which was not so equipped.

Any such increase in the ability of the navy as a whole to hit the enemy in the early stages of an action means a revolution in gunnery. The new appliance has been submitted to a series of exhaustive tests, which have been uniformly successful. A few weeks ago the First Lord of the Admiralty, accompanied by the other members of the board of inquiry, witnessed in the Channel the first duel, in which the new battleship Thunderer, with the director, was pitted against the Orion, without a director, both ships firing their 10 and 13.5 inch guns under exactly the same conditions at a range of about 8,000 yards.

The test confirmed the results obtained in a series of experiments by the same ships off Berehaven. Although no details have been officially communicated, it is stated that the Thunderer scored about four times as many hits as the Orion.

Under the Scott system it is possible to discharge a projectile from each of ten guns simultaneously on a Dreadnought of the latest type at a single broadside. Thus, the enemy, if all shots are accurate, can be hit with more than five and a half tons of metal. There are eight Dreadnoughts in each of the first two squadrons of the home fleet, and consequently, if all their weapons directed their fire at once they would send projectiles weighing nearly ninety tons on a deadly mission at one broadside.

The exact character of the contrivance is confidential, but it may be said that it is carried on the foremast of the vessel, so as to be high above the water
