The thirteenth of the month to-day. It's probably an unlucky day.

Canadians won't forget that "for-eigner" sneer at one of our Empire's heroes, Mr. Tin-Pot-Titled Laurier, Not much!

I knew a girl once who used to live in Chatham. Her name was Fortune and everybody called her Missfortune.

When Laurier told the Canadian Parliament Dundonald was "a foreigner" his bosom pal Bourassa was ready with the applause.

The Mail-Empire says that the Hon. Sydney Fisher is too loquicious. He's just as bad as our fishers around here—Vide Vitel Goudreau, G. S. Heyward, E. J. MacIntyre.

Same old circus, Same old concert, Same old concert, Same old lemonade—This is quite enough.

How Canadians must have thrilled with pride when they heard their Premier, the pretty, empty, tin-pottitled Laurier, encering at the hero of Ladysmith, whose honors and titles were worthly won in gallant achievements for our Empire, as "a foreigns er!"

Sign of Big Clock, Chatham

Henri Bourassa, Laurier's chum and the man who raised such a protest against Canadians uniting with the Empire in South Africa, naturally quite approves of the recall of that "foreigner" Dundonald, who brought such prestige and honor to the British Empire by his gailent relief of of Ladysmith.

lcan Touth Gets a Bib Broken by

A despatch from Lockport, New York, says Walter Lorraige of Riga, Monroe County, has brought an ac-tion against Marie Du Calm of Niaanonroe County, has brought an action against Marie Du Calm of Niagara Falls to recover damages. It is charged by Lorraine that Miss Du Calm hugged him so tightly as to break one of his ribs.

It appears that last winter the plaintiff was visiting in Ottawa. While there he met the defendant, who was visiting an aunt in the Canadian city. Mutual subjects of interest drew the young people into an acquaintanceship that speedily developed into an attachment of a deeper nature. Lorraine overstayed his original time, and the young woman also found it more agreeable than she had anticipated in the province. The ice carnival was at its height and the young people decided to go to Quebec to visit it and also to secure a number of photographic views, both being ardent amateur photographers.

The visit was made and converse.

The visit was made and conversa-tion was punctuated with the click of the kodak. Lorraine was to turn home on the following day, and it was decided to develop the negatives that night. At the home of the de-fendant's aunt there had been fitted up a temporary dark room for the use of Miss Du Calm while she was visiting, and the room was fitted with the regular ruby lamp. That's where the red rays enter into the case. Several negatives had been deve

Several negatives had been developed, and one in particular appealed to the enthusiastic mature of the defendant. As she saw the image of the gay scenes which they had witnessed earlier in the day, she was completely carried away. With a gurgling, "Oh, Walter, doesn't anything like that make you love nature? I'm just going to give you a big hug," she hurled herself at the plaintiff. As her arms encircled him there was a cracking sound, and Lorraine uttered a cry of pain.

Interest in the negative terminated and the plaintiff was assisted into an adjoining room. His pallor alarmed the defendant and she had a physician summoned. He decided that Lorraine had an addeduced the decided that Lorraine had an addeduced the defendant and she had a physician summoned.

alarmed the defendant and she had a physician summoned. He decided that Lorraine had suffered a fracture of one of the ribs on the right side. Lorraine underwent the usual treatment, and under the pain incident to the knitting of the fractured bone his affection rapidly cooled. Upon his return to Riga he talked the matter over with friends, and they urged the bringing of an action to recover for his injuries. The advice of his counselors prevailed, and he wrote and suggested that the expense incurred in treatment of his injuries be paid for by the defendant. The refused to listep to any such proposition, and then the law was talled in.

She refused to listen to any such proposition, and then the law was called in.

In defence of her action Miss Du Calm sets up that she is of an effectionate and clinging nature, that that fact was well known to the plaintiff, and that up to the time of the unfortunate incident or accident that led to the estrangement, the plaintiff had shown no disinclination to submit to caresses.

Furthermore, it is set forth that the action of the defendant at this time complained of was involuntary and due to the effect of the red rays of light resulting from the use of the ruby lamp, that it is a recognized stientific fact that the red rays are the most strenuous and likely to provoke excitability in one of ardent temperament and, their effect upon the defendant is and was at the time alleged in the complaint known to the plaintiff, wherefore judgment is asked that the complaint be dismissed with costs to the defendant.

June 11.—Much enthusiasm prevailed over the lacrosse match which took place on the Agricultural Grounds yesterday, being the first league game of the season, between the Tecumsehs, of Chatham, and the Invincibles, of Wallaceburg. The result was a score of 5-2 in Chatham's favor, and the above is indeed a credit to the home team, as the majority of the members of the team are home boys in their first year only, while the former team had procured the services of several eld stick-han ilers. A special carried a large crowd from Chatham, while the number of Wallaceburg citizens who witnessed the game was vast.

' A BEAUTIFUL BOOK.

The above caption is what everyone is saying about the new publication on the World's Fair issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System. It is without doubt the most artistic and beautifully gotten up publication with the World's Fair. On the very handsome covers are illustrations of two beautiful statutes displayed at the Fair, emblematic of the Atlantic Ocean and the Pacific Ocean, embossed with steel die in high relief. The book contains 48 pages with descriptive matter of the main features of the Exposition profusely illustrated, and embodies the latest and best maps of the City of St. Louis, showing street car lines and many other, features, also a map of the World's Fair grounds, and a large map of the Grand Trunk Railway System showing the route to and from the Fair, as well as variable routes and attractive side trips that will appeal to their patrons. A chaper on "How to Reach St. Louis" is given, and all information that prospective visitors to the Fair are looking for. The publication is not only one that will interest everybody who secures a copy, but will be a handy guide to those who take in the Exposition. Copy can be had for four cents in stamps, on application to J. D. McDonaid. District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

The Grand Trunk will on June 13th commence to operate a double service direct to St. Louis from Montereal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, etc.
