OTAWA, July 27.—The Canadian Davis Cup Team eliminated the Cuban aspirants for the cup and carried the right to meet Japan in the next tie, when Willard Crocker, of Montreal, won the first singles match on Saturday from Rojolea Paris, Cuban champion, and gave Canada the necessary point she needed to win the Cuba-Canada round.

To Crocker goes a lot of credit for Canada's win, as he won both his single matches and with Jack Wright, the other Canadian, scored a point in the doubles. Throughout the series Crocker has played masterly tennis. He has hit hard, placed beautifully and has always been cool and collected at critical spots in all of his matches. He won the fourth match of the tie on Saturday from the Cuban in, straight sets, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

VIENNA, July 26.—The greater part of Rumania is reported to be under martial law, according to unconfirmed advices reaching Vienna.

The Government is said to have prohibited all public meetings, called in protest against present state institutions.

The reason for the reported decree is not known, but it is understood to be designed against the communistic propaganda which is becoming more intense throughout the Balkans.

Coinciding with rumors of the critical Rumanian situation, Bulgaria is reported to be on the eve of dangerous political troubles.

SEWING CIRCLE GOSSIP

There was some discussion at the Sewing Circle this week about newspapers. The wife of the Radio Operator said that newspapers were the things that added most to the comfort of living. "How many of us today," said she, "would have known about LUXOR COFFEE if we had not read about it in the newspapers? Newspaper advertising of a good article helps everybody; it helps the consumer to acquire a knowledge of the things he ought to buy, and it helps the producer of such articles to make his sales profitable. How glad I am that I read the advertisement of LUXOR COFFEE and decided to buy a half pound trial tin."

ORIGINAL MOUNTIES WHOOP 'ER UP

Top—The old stage coach added a little color to the MacLeod celebration. Left—These two old squaws remembered their first sight of a Mounted Policeman. Right—Hoxie, who lost a race and did not survive.

The photographs reproduced above were taken, not a century ago as may be supposed, but early in July of this year when the town of MacLeod, Alberta, celebrated its Jubilee with a stampede and other goings-on reminiscent of the days of horse-thieves and Indian raids, and the advent of the Royal North-West Mounted Police.

There is a very pretty little story told in connection with this celebration. Roxie, a beautiful race-horse owned by "Old Three Sons," a Black-foot Indian, although fourteen years old, was entered again to race. This horse was said to have never lost a race. Sleek and beautiful, she was the pride of the prairies, and as proud as she was beautiful. But her age was beginning to tell. Though she strained every muscle in her body, coaxed by "Old Three Sons" crouching on her back, having lost the lead she could not regain it, and for the first time in her racing life Roxie finished second. No more will she set the prairie turf fire under her feet. Having trotted back to the judges' stands, Roxie sank to the ground dead. She died, it is said, of a broken heart.

This was the only event which in any way tended to mar the Jubilee. A rodeo was held, some seventeen thousand visitors from all over the continent helping the cowboys and cow-girls, and the Black-foot, Blood and Peigan Indians, to "whoop 'er up." Three thousand automobiles parked in Main street and out on the open prairie, and for three nights the old-time dance halls remained open for the benefit of those who could not find accommodation in the town or in one of the sleeping cars which crowded the Canadian Pacific yards.

The Indians, who once terrorized the countryside, were encamped in vari-colored teepees in the centre of the town. Here they took part in the old-time war dances under the eyes of the remaining members of the original squadron of the "Royal North-West." Cowboys and Indians had to have their say, but after all, the event was mainly in honor of those who remembered the Fall of 1874 and were numbered with the "Mounties" who established Fort MacLeod. Grizzled old men, most of them but young at heart, they entered into the spirit of the days and were as active as any in "Whoopin' 'er up."

GASOLINE PRICE DROPS

SARNIA, Ont., July 29.—Gasoline dealers here were advised today that a two and a half cent reduction price on gasoline would be made, probably on Wednesday. The fall is from 26 1/2 to 24 cents and it is expected that retail prices will be brought from 30 to 28 cents tomorrow.

From present indications the coming apple crop is not likely to be nearly so large as was at first predicted. In this county it is stated that it will not be more than a fifty per cent. crop. The likelihood of good prices, however, gives little room for uneasiness. Already representatives of foreign markets are looking over the ground and showing interest in the development of the crop.

According to figures recently compiled for the Halifax Directory the population of Halifax city is now 69,577, 67,222. In 1911 the population of Greater Halifax was 53,000, and in 1917 was 65,000.

A leading Toronto newspaper gets that "the fact that Nova Scotia representation is reduced from sixteen to fourteen is a reason why Parliament should treat that Province with more not less, consideration".
