—ARE—
Made Happy Daily, at the Tailoring Establishment.

THE united testimony of our delighted customers serve our purpose in advertising our Handsome Suits, which, to see, is to be facilitated, but to wear is to be intoxicated with pleasure and delight at the comfort experienced—fitting everywhere—binding nowhere. This high standard has only been attained through years of unceasing toil, but now our well-earned laurels are happily appreciated by a long suffering public. Come and be made happy likewise.

IT IS A FACT. In the Face of Dull Times We find it necessary to increase our premises. In order to do this we have rented the large Basement underneath the premises of Mr. H. Hazard, which we have fitted up as a Jobbing Department. Physicians and Country Dealers will find that we mean business, and will deal better with them than any other house in the trade.

The late P. H. Gilmore.

The following biographical sketch of the late lamented Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore, the famous bandmaster and musician, is clipped from "The Colorado Catholic":
Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore was born near Dublin on Christmas Day 1829. When his school days were over he was apprenticed to a merchant in Athlone, but his apprenticeship did not last long. His love for music, which had made him a member of the Athlone band, caused him to devote time to practice that belonged to his employer. The merchant with rare good sense, cancelled his apprenticeship on condition that Gilmore would teach his own what he had learned of music, which already was considerable, as young Gilmore had become the especial protégé of the band master. It was not ordinary band music, however, that he became known to him. When 18 years old Gilmore came to this country. He had scarcely landed when he was asked to become leader of a "Boston band." The remuneration could not have been great, for after three or four years he was tempted by the offer of a salary of $1,000 a year to take charge of the Salem band. He spent in the city of Boston four years more and made his band one of the best known in the country. In 1858 he organized in Boston a new band, the one with which he has since been known as Gilmore's band, the one with which he has given concerts all over this country and over half of Europe.
