The House Gives Several Bills s Third Reading-A Royal Templar Petition.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, June 1.-The Legislaure's session today was neither a long or an important one. Only a handful of members were present, the Opposition benches being occupied by the fatal thirteen. Had Adam Beck, London's tircless member, been in his place, he might have broken the hcodoo, but he was elsewhere, and the Opposition's ill-luck is liable to continue. Just before the orders of the day were reached, Dr. Jessop read the fol-lowing telegram, which he had just received from New York: "Cap Sullivan spent Sunday at the Democratic Club with a number of Tammany politicians." Frank Sullivan in private conversation later in the day admitted that the telegram was bona fide and that his father was in New York. Three temperance petitions were introduced. One presented by Mr. Whitney, was signed by the warden and clerk of the united counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, on behalf of the county council. It prayed for the enactment during the present ses-sion of a measure of prohibition under the liquor act of 1902. the Royal Templars of Temperance. Each asked for the enactment of prohibitory legislation to the fullest ascertained power of the province. Mr. Latchford presented one from Calabogie Council, No. 120, and Mr. Crawford presented one from Anchor Council, No. 237 Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Lucas' bill to amend the act providing for the garnishment of the salaries of civil servants, after receiving its second reading was sent to the legal committee. In explaining its purpose, Mr. Lucas stated that it placed outside civil servants on the same footing in the matter of garnishment as the members of the inside branch of the service now occupy. That the fighting spirit has not beome an unknown quantity was shown by the docket of the police court today. There was only one intox; he was discharged. There was not a woman charged with anything before the court, so that the cases were disposed of in comparatively short time. The fighters charged with being disorderly were Moriarity and T. H. Selby, both of whom were fined $3 each. Two others appeared on a similar charge. These were Jeremiah Collins, of West Lonlon, and his latebartender, John Petao don, and his late bartender, John Petfield. The latter had spent the night ehind the bars, having been arrested while fighting on the corner of Wilson avenue and Blackfriars. He admitted it. He said he had quit work at noon and without any provocation Collins had come up to him on the street and struck him. His fighting was justified and the magistrate discharged him. Collins pleaded guilty and was

The hotelkeeper also had a charge aid against him by his wife for assault. The case was heard in camera.

She Proposes to Postpone Reprisals on Canada.

London, June 2.-One important result of last week's speeches by Premier Balfour and Colonial Secretary Chamberlain in favor of fiscal unity of the empire has been to decide Germany to refrain from further reprisals upon Canada. The semi-official Cologne Gazette has an inspired article giving the reasons for this change of policy. It says: "We are confronted with a great process of British development. We ought not to do more than take counsel coolly and await The use of liquid kidney medicines no other remedy has ever given developments of this great process of fermentation which is best left to itself.
