CITY CHURCHES GREET BISHOP

Catholic Congregations Gather in St. Peter's Cathedral to Extend Welcome.

London Divine Recounts Impressions Received on Trip Abroad.

The Rt. Rev. M. F. Fallon, bishop of London, was formally welcomed by Catholics of the city at impressive service in St. Peter's Cathedral Sunday night. So large was the congregation, representative of all Catholic churches in the city, that before the service had begun extra seating had to be requisitioned.

Procession in Cathedral.
The congregation rose as the procession entered the cathedral to the sacred strains of "Vivants" rendered by the choir. In the procession, in the following order, were acolytes, Christian brothers, seminarians, reverend and right reverend clergy and His Lordship the Bishop.

After the procession had reached the sanctuary, Philip Pocock, R. Forristal, W. Costello, Dr. R. C. Best, P. Flaherty, T. J. Murphy, C. Finney, J. Killingsworth, J. Gleason and J. Glavin, representing the societies and the congregations moved into the sanctuary, and Mr. Pocock read the address of welcome and presented the same to the bishop.

The bishop, on opening his address, pointed out that he had been away longer than he had anticipated, but that on his home-coming, such a welcome was a source of great joy and consolation to him.

He said that the address of welcome just read in the name of the congregations was a welcome to him, not as a man, but as bishop of the diocese. He was grateful, he said, to the vicar-general, Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Connor, for his efficient administration of the affairs of the diocese during his absence, and to the clergy.

Paid Marked Tribute.
Bishop Fallon paid marked tribute to Monsignor O'Connor, "for only one fault to find," he said, "He is too humble. He hides a wonderful life under an exterior of humility."

"All Catholics will want to hear something of the most wonderful demonstration in Rome, the Eucharistic Congress," said the bishop, "I have never seen so large, so indescribable a demonstration of Catholic faith as there was on that memorable day, as the greatest spectacle the world has ever seen moved from the Basilica of St. John Lateran along the way to the Church of St. Mary Major."

A word of people and a riot of color and music lined the road and followed to the Colosseum," stated the bishop, "the scene in early history of the triumph of Christian martyrs over the cruelty of the pagans; the Colosseum, majestic still, in marvellous state of preservation, so often the scene of the death in cruel torture of those who gave their lives for Christ."

"Then," his lordship continued, "from under the arch of Constantine, along a road which led to the Colosseum, he marched in triumph, Jesus Christ, again gave his benediction, and the procession wended its way to St. John Lateran."

Bishop Fallon went on to narrate that dark had fallen, and the darkness was dispelled by myriads of taper and candle lights. It was a most imposing scene. His lordship spoke of his feelings as, after the last benediction, the Blessed Sacrament disappeared from the view of the multitude. He said that as the Real Presence, which had sustained him during the long four hours' march in the heat of a Roman afternoon, was withdrawn into the interior of the Basilica, an overwhelming sense of fatigue forced itself upon him. As he watched the departing thousands, he reflected that each carried home a conscious strength derived from the presence and benediction of Jesus Christ, really present in the Blessed Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist.

People of London.
"There, as I sat, my mind came back to my own diocese and my own parish," said Bishop Fallon, "and I knew that the blessings of Jesus Christ in the Blessed Sacrament would go out, too, to the priests and people of London diocese."

Bishop Fallon, in referring to the new pope, Pope Pius XI, said that he is unlike many of the former popes. He is a scholar, recognized by the whole world, yet he is simple, democratic and easily approached.

When Bishop Fallon told him that the eucharistic congresses had been held each year for the past eleven years in London diocese, over his face crept a smile of joy, the bishop said, and the semblance of a tear glistened in his eyes. "You give me great joy," said his holiness.

Bishop Fallon then imparted the special papal benediction to the congregation, and the benediction of the blessed sacrament concluded the service.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Being confident of this very thing, that he who hath begun a good work in you will perform it.—Philippians, 1:6.

NEVER mind where your work is. Never mind whether it is visible or not. Never mind whether your name is associated with it. You may never see the issues of your toils. You are working for eternity. If you cannot see results here in the hot working day, the cool evening hours are drawing near, when you may reap the fruits of your labors, and then they may follow you.—Alexander McLaren.

W. D. MACGREGOR, through his solicitors, Jarvis & Vining, has issued a writ in the county court against The Signory for $100, which he claims is the balance of his salary as a salesman due him.

THE REGULAR SESSION of the city council, scheduled for Monday night, has been postponed until Wednesday, the request of Mayor Wilson, who will be in attendance at the surgeons' convention, in progress here.

THE SOLDIER PATIENTS of Queen Alexandra Sanatorium are invited to a theatre party on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 18, to which the men are looking forward with a great deal of pleasure. This is the first winter entertainment, and but a foretaste of more good things in store for the boys at the sanatorium.

W. E. KELLY of the Children's Aid Society acknowledged, Saturday, the receipt of a large box of children's clothing from the Munsey road Women's Mission. Mr. Kelly pointed out that it is only with the assistance of such donations as this one that the society is able to carry on its good work, and this, along with others which will be gratefully appreciated, are gratefully appreciated.

SEEKS PEACE WITH FELLOW OFFICIALS

City Clerk Baker Desires No
Controversy Over Finances of City.

City Clerk Sam Baker made it quite plain Monday morning that he did not intend to enter into any controversy with other city officials with respect to London's borrowing power or similar issues.

It is the city treasurer who is qualified and authorized to issue statements with regard to the city's finances, the city clerk points out, adding that they must be correct.

The auditor's report will be presented to the ratepayers of London within a few days and in ample time for consideration before the civic election, by means of the city's pamphlet, containing the civic activities during the past twelve months, with a comparative statement of former years.

HOLD CHILDREN'S DAY AT ST. JAMES'
Rev. W. L. Armitage Urges
Putting Faith Into Daily Practice.

"Train up the child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." This was the basis of sermons preached by Rev. W. L. Armitage, rector of St. James' Church Sunday, the occasion being the annual children's day.

In the morning, Mr. Armitage spoke of the ideal congregation, one that is made up of believers, learners and servers, realizing the source from which their faith came, and putting it into practice in their daily life.

In the evening he spoke of the ideal realized, and the blessing which would come when individuals were perfected for the service of God.

Special music was rendered by a full choir under the leader and organist, F. L. Wilkerson at the morning service, and the choir was composed of men and boys of the congregation. Master Harold Jackson, the boy soprano, rendered solos, and the solo parts in the anthems were taken by Tommie tenor, and Harry Clarke, bass.

FRANCE DECIDES TO BRING WAR PROFITEERS TO LAW
Government to Discuss Bill to Revive Measure of 1920.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The French government, desirous of continuing its prosecution of the war profiteers and speculators, has inscribed for discussion at the head of the day a bill giving the department of justice authority to institute proceedings against these offenders. Immediate action will be taken tomorrow when the chamber of deputies meets.

A temporary measure directed against profiteers, which was passed in 1920, expires on the 23rd of this month. Should it be permitted to lapse, the government would have no further recourse against the profiteers. Examination of the budget will begin on Thursday. Thus it is probable that the forty odd orators remaining on the list of speakers to be heard as only Friday afternoon will be reserved each week hereafter for such speakers.

LAUDS VICTORIA RECORD SYSTEM

Recommend Medical History
Records for Use in American Hospitals.

Praises Spirit of London
Women Responsible For Charitable Work.

Lauding the system of medical history records and forms, in use on an exhibition at Victoria Hospital, as the best that he had ever seen, Dr. Franklin H. Martin, director general of the American College of Surgeons, who is attending the Ontario Sectional Congress in London, said Sunday that he would hold it up as a model for all American hospitals.

"This system is the real reason for the gathering of physicians and surgeons in London. It is a model of its kind, and nothing else would have brought the congress here," said Dr. Martin. "I want this exhibit of hospital record system to be permanently placed in the John D. Murphy Memorial Hall, in Chicago, as a model for the hospitals of America."

Dr. Martin complimented the people of the city, and particularly the women, for their spirit of self-sacrifice. The War Memorial Hospital for Children, he said, was a splendid example of what could be done by a people for a community's betterment.

Praises Spirit.
"I have attended 68 sectional congresses of the association during the last 18 months," said Dr. Martin, "but I have not yet seen such a splendid spirit as is here shown. I know that the question of a monument, in memory of the Londoners who fell in the great war, was debated here, and it reflects strong credit on all those who have decided to erect such a monument as this hospital should be the choice."

Dr. Martin pointed out that it was that splendid spirit, for which Canadian women were noted, that had resulted in the completion of one of the finest hospitals of its kind in America.

"If you could only point in words for London women what they could accomplish in twenty-five years by turning that war-time effort into other channels, the new Nurses Home certainly would be a reality in a comparatively short time."

Inspects Exhibition.
"I have never seen such thorough work as this exhibit of hospital clothing," said Dr. Martin in leading the way into the left wing where displayed in detailed order were samples of garment for every hospital use.

"Every garment is perfectly made, and there is not a detail omitted. Miss Ross deserves great credit for her untiring and thorough work," said Dr. Martin.

Monday is hospital day. Surgeons who are in attendance at the congress will inspect the exhibit of hospital records from Victoria Hospital. Representatives of Catholic hospitals have been invited to attend the congress in this city by wire from Father Moulner, of the Catholic Hospital Association, who is on the board, and a large attendance is expected.

On display during the congress are exhibits of the work of vocational therapy patients at Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byrom, Westminster Hospital, and the Ontario Hospital for the Insane. Visiting physicians unanimously declared the work wonderful. The exhibits comprise beautiful woodwork, some of it inlaid, beaten brass products, reed work and fine needlework, that displayed, as one surgeon said, all the finish and the technique of the master craftsman.

Credit Miss Ross.
"The whole credit for the organization, and the completion of this exhibit goes to Miss E. Ross," said Dr. Ramsay, who was one of the many to compliment the superintendent of the Training School for Nurses at Victoria Hospital. "Miss Ross has pulled this whole organization together in the last five days, and there is not one detail omitted."

Tubercular Charts.
In connection with tubercular treatment two charts shown in the exhibit are of particular interest. One shows of necessity of treatment in the early stages, showing that in 69,500 cases of which record has been made of those where treatment was commenced while the disease was in incipient form, 34.0 per cent of the cases were apparently arrested and only .05 per cent died. Of those taken when moderately advanced 4.1 per cent were arrested and 1.1 per cent died, while of those where treatment was not begun until an advanced stage 0.5 per cent were arrested and 33.0 per cent died.

Officials pointed out that, while it was not likely that the public would be admitted Monday and Tuesday, owing to the congress visitors being present, the public would if possible, be admitted after 2 p.m. Tuesday, and perhaps all day Wednesday.

Dr. Ramsay said that the cancer film, authorized by the Society for the Control of Cancer would be repeated tonight at the Majestic Theatre. Members of the College of Surgeons and the Academy of Medicine will attend. No admission will be charged and the public may be admitted if there is accommodation.

ALD. L. S. HOLMES and T. J. Murphy, K.C., are leaving for Toronto today to attend a two-days' convention of town-planning commissions of Ontario in that city. Representatives will be present from every part of the province to discuss Ontario's town planning legislation needs, will meet a special government committee to investigate the question. The convention opens at 11 o'clock Tuesday in the Parliament Buildings.

I SPIED TODAY

PRIZE FOR BEST ITEM DAILY.

YOU must see something going on every day. Perhaps not a big thing, but interesting. The Advertiser wants you to send it for use in the "I Spied" column. Every reader reporter is the idea behind the plan. The items must not be written to "take a stab" at any person. If so, they will not be published.

In order to create interest in the column, the GRAND OPERA HOUSE has donated two seats each night as a prize for the best item of the day. Your name and address must accompany the item, and it can win only your initials attached if you desire. The contest is on. WHO WANTS TO GO TO THE GRAND?

If "Hip" in Saturday's "I Spied" Column will call at The Advertiser office today or Tuesday he will be given two tickets for the Grand Theatre Tuesday.

BASES SERMON ON DREAM OF DANIEL

Evangelist Capman Speaks to Large Audience in Hyman
Hall Sunday.

On Sunday night a large audience gathered in Hyman Hall to hear Evangelist H. J. Capman speak on "The Coming Ruler of the World."

The subject illustrated by a life-size image made a deep impression. Mr. Capman said: "In one brief hour the world's history ran its course before the king's eyes in a dream, as recorded in Daniel 2. God revealed to an honest-hearted king the prophetic history of earth."

"The modest, respectful, yet confident Daniel made a deep impression upon Nebuchadnezzar, especially as he contrasted the fawning iniquity of the mediums and fortune-tellers, with the God in heaven, who alone can reveal the future."

Interprets Dream.
"The dream interpreted shows that four universal kingdoms, Babylon, Persia, Greece and Rome, would successively rise and fall, and then under the divided condition of the once Roman empire the fifth kingdom would be set up by the God of heaven. The four kingdoms were temporary in their nature, the fifth kingdom is eternal. The four successive empires were ruled by force and arms, the fifth kingdom would have love for the ruling principle."

One important truth that Mr. Capman emphasized was found in Daniel 2:43: "The fourth kingdom, the iron monarchy of Rome, ruled the earth, but crashed and became weak and divided. Efforts—the utmost human endeavor—have been put forth to reunite the divided territory of ancient Rome. Charlemagne tried it. Napoleon likewise tried it. The world still bleeds from the last armed effort to create a world empire. But the unfailing word says, 'they shall not cleave one to another.'"

"Has intermarriage among the crowned families of Europe been any more successful? With one voice, warring, bleeding, distracted Europe shouts 'No!' Again the Scriptures stand unbroken.

"But the stone kingdom is not of human development. It fills the whole earth, and is cut out without hands. It smites the image on the feet, and consumes all the other kingdoms.

"Our Savior is the chief cornerstone of God's everlasting kingdom, and in the near future, according to this prophecy, the one event that remains to be fulfilled is the setting up of God's kingdom of peace. Then Jesus will be king of kings, and the kingdoms of the world will become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ."

DR. W. J. CLARKE RE-VISITS CITY

Moderator Preaches Anniversary Sermon at First Presbyterian Church.

Exhorts Congregation to Follow Teachings of Jesus Christ.

Returning to his former pulpit after an absence of fifteen years, the Right Rev. Dr. W. J. Clarke, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, drew crowds at the morning and evening services in the First Presbyterian Church which filled that edifice to capacity.

Sunday was the 29th birthday of the present structure, but it was 32 years ago that Dr. Clarke was stationed in London as rector of the little old church, which was replaced a few years after his departure with the beautiful building now gracing the spot.

Visibly Moved.
Dr. Clarke was visibly moved at the large congregation which filled the church, both in the morning and evening, and which was representative of nearly every church in the city, and showing the former rector with what loving esteem he is still held by the people of the Forest City.

At the evening service, taking for his text, "In Him was the light, and the life was the light of men," Dr. Clarke urged his hearers to follow the teachings of Jesus Christ, who came down to this earth and died on the cross to save men's immortal souls.

"In this age of progress, some two thousand years after Christ left this earth, all in this world of ours, even the most prominent, are beginning to realize that the only hope of saving the world lies in following the teaching of Jesus of Nazareth, who only spent 2 of his 33 years on earth in public teaching."

"When we think of life we usually associate it with animal, plant, intellectual, social and other common forms of life. But it is the spirit that is not in any limited sense that the word is used in our text."

Knowledge Limited.
"The knowledge of man is indeed limited, and when we dwell on the matter, and gaze at the heavens and see the millions of other worlds of which we know nothing, but names given by a scientist or astronomer, we then realize how ignorant we really are. And as we think and wonder that question comes before us: 'What was the beginning of things?' All conceptions of which may be divided into two classes. There are those who have a sort of feeling that the earth was the result of the urge of some great mysterious force or energy, while the other kind sees farther back still feel the Eternal Spirit behind everything and say 'In the beginning was God.'"

"In the process of time that eternal power manifested itself in that being, a man; a man who hungered, thirsted, rejoiced and sorrowed the same as He who came down to earth and gave his life for mankind. By nationality He was a Jew, by parentage the son of Joseph and Mary, and by trade a carpenter. Of his personal appearance we know little; we have no authentic photograph to judge by, but we imagine he had the facial traits of the Jewish people. All this knowledge is not an explanation of Him, it is merely an illustration as it was of Jesus of Nazareth can never be explained because in him was that mysterious power of life."

Talked of Miracles.
"For ages afterwards men talked of the wonderful miracles he wrought and of the wondrous things that resulted from his coming. It is strange how time has changed and we say now 'Could these things have possibly happened?'"

"The world has enjoyed peace and prosperity and other times has been shaken by the horrors of war. An example of such was the struggle of 1914, which is regarded as the greatest war in the world's history. What a wonderful puzzle is this life of ours and how fickle and disasteful men are. Yet Jesus through all his troubles maintained his serenity, and in encountering his own disciples, there is only one time that he probably wavered. It was on Calvary's hill, when he murmured, 'My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?'"

In concluding, Dr. Clarke said: "No pledge of church or man can admit us to heaven. Each must work out his own salvation, and the light that will guide us is the light of Jesus Christ, follow that light and his teachings and salvation is assured."

Mayor Wilson, 4 Minutes Late For Train, Misses Windsor Trip

MAYOR CAMERON WILSON expressed regret that he was unable to accompany the members of the city council when they inspected the Windsor street railway facilities Saturday last. "It was unfortunate," he explained Monday, "that I missed the train by only four or five minutes."

His worship expressed pleasure, however, that the trip proved entirely satisfactory, and the councillors gained much valuable first-hand information that should prove useful toward a solution of local transportation problems.

ADVISES DELAY ON COLLEGIATE ISSUE

City Solicitor Urges Trustees to Wait for Court Ruling.

The city solicitor has advised the board of education to maintain an attitude of what may be termed as "watchful waiting" with regard to the central collegiate institute problem.

W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education, reported Monday that no further payments will be made to sub-contractors or other supposed debtors until such time as the courts have disposed of the liens placed on the new structure by those who claim sums from the Kingston Construction Company, the creators of that building.

The city solicitor has expressed the opinion, the secretary explains, that the trustees merely wait developments for a while before making any further claims.

It is expected that some definite program will be outlined when the members of the collegiate institute committee convene in regular session Monday afternoon.

WILL SEEK BETTER COUNTY EDUCATION

Committee to Interview Minister of Education Regarding Continuation Schools.

County Clerk John Stuart is one of a committee of twelve selected to meet the minister of education for Ontario Tuesday morning to sift the continuation schools question and its relation to the rural districts.

Last June each county sent a representative to Toronto to meet the minister. He was a Jew, by parentage the son of Joseph and Mary, and by trade a carpenter. Of his personal appearance we know little; we have no authentic photograph to judge by, but we imagine he had the facial traits of the Jewish people. All this knowledge is not an explanation of Him, it is merely an illustration as it was of Jesus of Nazareth can never be explained because in him was that mysterious power of life."

CITY FLORISTS ELECTED TO INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE
W. W. Gammage and F. G. Dicks
Honored at Baltimore Convention.

W. W. Gammage and F. G. Dicks have just returned from a business session of the Florist Telegraph Delivery Association held at Baltimore, where Mr. Gammage was re-elected as the Canadian member for the next three years on the board of directors, and Mr. Dicks was elected Canadian vice-president of the district representatives' unit.

The association has opened a new era in financial circles in the establishment of a clearing house to handle all accounts for flowers delivered by telegraph between F. T. D. members. The new system, with headquarters at Detroit, goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1923.

At present there are 2,500 members in the association, rendering the most wonderful and unique service of relaying flowers by telegraph, which is world wide.

SURGEONS HEAL DR. ROWNTREE

Former London Boy Speak at Convention in City.

Has Had Brilliant Career
Since Graduating From Western "U."

Notable among the prominent physicians in attendance at the congress of the Ontario section of the American College of Surgeons, in this Monday and Tuesday, is a former London boy, Dr. L. G. Rowntree.

Dr. Rowntree, who is a son of George Rowntree, of Stanley street was gold medalist in medicine Western University in 1905. He an interne in Victoria Hospital 1905 and 1906 and later went Camden, N. J., Philadelphia, Baltimore.

Dr. Rowntree was made an associate professor of pharmacology in the University of Minnesota, where he was made physician-in-chief of the University of Minnesota, where he held position until 1920. During 1918 and 1919 he served abroad with the department of the American Service.

In 1920 Dr. Rowntree became director of medicine of the Mayo Foundation. The Mayo Foundation is affiliated with the University of Minnesota and conducts the largest graduate school of medicine in existence. It has enrolled students of all ages, all of whom have graduated from a class A school of medicine elsewhere.

The students entering this graduate school served for a period of three years in the Mayo clinic and graduate school, and then in a school of medicine elsewhere. Two Londoners are enrolled present in the graduate school, Rochester, namely, Dr. J. J. Weir and Dr. H. O. Foucar. Both of these have made good in every respect, and Dr. Rowntree states that no better material has come into the school than these two representatives of Western.

During this congress of physicians and surgeons, Dr. Rowntree's place in the program will include the discussion of Dr. Hadley Williams' case at Victoria Hospital at 10 a.m. Tuesday, and Dr. Edwin Seaborn at Joseph's Hospital at 11 a.m.

This will have an unusual interest in that Dr. Rowntree was a student of the pre-septorship under the tutelage of Dr. Hadley Williams at Victoria Hospital at 10 a.m. Tuesday, and Dr. Edwin Seaborn at Joseph's Hospital at 11 a.m.

HOLD FIRST RECITAL AT MUSICAL ART INSTITUTE

Classes Hold First Weekly Program
With Many Students Participating.

The first of the weekly recitals held this school year was given last Saturday afternoon at the London Institute of Musical Art, with A. D. Jordan, musical director, as attending examiner.

The following pupils contributed to the program: Grace Bayley, Norma Nichols, Walter Rosser, Anna D. Gladys Blinks, Margaret Channe, Fred Edwards, Marjorie Lewis, L. Gidley, Marion Fay, Edith Brown and Mary Metcalfe.

The teachers represented were Misses Irene Burns, Dorothy Munro, Laura Kirkwood, Edith Irvine, Gladys Taylor, Jennie Steele and Mr. O. L. Herbert.

DELAYS TESTING BECAUSE OF SAND

Well drillers engaged in sinking the city's new well in Southeast London just east of Exeter street, report that they are still encountering sand. They will be busy the remainder of this week, they expect, in removing the same from the shaft.

The well has long since reached its required depth of 30 feet, and the initial test has been delayed for several weeks, pending the sand clearance of the well. Other experts will reach the city from Massillon, Ohio this week, it is believed, to undertake the test, calculated to reveal a source of pure water capable of 2,000,000 gallons per day.
