THIRTEENTH YEAR. MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 13 1892 ONE CENT.

THE COMING DISSOLUTION.

THE ALL-ABSORBING TOPIC IN ENGLAND AND IRELAND.

All Eyes Turned to Ulster—Unionist Convention to be Followed by One For Home Rule—Prorogation This Month in the the Height of London Session.

[Mr. Smalley's Despatch to The New York Tribune.]

LONDON, June 11.—The Ulster Unionist convention is to be followed by an Ulster Home Rule convention. This latter is to break the force of the former and to neutralize, if possible, its effect on English opinion. But, whereas, the Unionist convention is to be held in Belfast, and to consist of Ulstermen, the Home Rule convention is to be held in London and to consist largely of Englishmen and Scotchmen. The scene of it is to be that same Holborn Restaurant where the rural caucus was held and where Mr. Gladstone proclaimed himself the true friend of Hodge. The members of it and the orators of Ulster Home Rule are two English clergymen, Mr. Guinness Rogers and Mr. Stopford Brooke; two English professors, Mr. Bryce of Oxford and Mr. Munro of Manchester, and two Colonial dignitaries, Sir Andrew Clarke of the Straits Settlements and Sir Charles Duffy of Victoria. From such men is the voice of Home Rule Ulster to be heard.

Dissolution Looms Large.

The shadow of the coming dissolution hangs over everything. The truce in Parliament works to a charm. All the time of the House, Wednesday afternoon excepted, is surrendered to the Government. Supply is rushed through at railroad speed. The Radicals and the Irish themselves, if they do not help, do not hinder. All contentious measures are dropped, save such as are advanced far enough to make further contention futile. The Irish Local Government Bill was the first, and must remain the most considerable victim. Had the dissolution been deferred, this measure would have become a law. But as the Irish think it an insult, and the Tories not a few of them a mistake, no great harm can be done by delay. The Irish Unionists, loyal as they are to the Government, are delighted to see it go under and stand ready to take their chance of a worse thing befalling them. The two front benches are working together to the end that all business may be completed before Saturday, June 25. The whips calculate that at the present rate of progress the prorogation may take place on Thursday, June 23, or Friday, June 24. In that case the writs will go out by Saturday and voting will begin in the boroughs the Saturday following. The constituencies, not the House, are henceforth the centre of interest. The London season will reach its height with Ascot, and after Ascot the West End is expected to devote itself to the enlightenment of the rural and provincial elector.

ENGLISH PARTY FEELING.

Sharpening Knives for the General Election—Irish Bishops in Politics.

LONDON, June 11.—The only contentious matter still remaining in Parliament is the Irish Education bill. Mr. Goschen, in a speech early in the week, indicated an intention on the part of the Government to proceed with that measure. Mr. Sexton will ask on Monday whether the Government is prepared to accept in substance certain amendments, and if it refuses a large body of Irish members will be summoned back to Westminster on Tuesday to oppose the bill. This may lead to the withdrawal of the measure and the allocation of the money to the Irish Teachers' Fund. Mr. Balfour in his statement on Monday will not, it is expected, announce the date of the general elections, but will merely detail business to be done prior to the dissolution of Parliament.

The election campaign is now in full swing. Mr. Chamberlain has opened his Birmingham campaign in a distinctly pugnacious and confident style. Yesterday he propounded an elaborate social scheme of legislation for the new Parliament, consisting of four planks—first, the creation of permanent courts of arbitration to settle labor disputes; second, compulsion of employers to provide insurance against accidents to workmen; third, State pensioning of the aged poor. Mr. Chamberlain was careful to explain that these were only his individual views.

The Two Irish Parties.

The negotiations for a reconciliation of the Irish parties, which were revived by General Collins' visit, have finally failed. The deadlock arises from the belief of the M'Carthyite party that they will gain several seats at the elections and the determination of the Parnellites to maintain the relative strength of the parties as a basis of truce. In Mr. Redmond's absence Mr. Harrington has authority to negotiate with Archbishop Croke and the Lord Mayor of Dublin, who are said to be willing to accept the task of mediation, as Mr. Dillon proposes, should a basis be found. A leading Parnellite to-night declared to me that all hope of a reconciliation had been abandoned; that the bulk of the Parnellites would forthwith return to Ireland for a conference of the party to settle the electoral campaign, and that they have 54 new candidates and are in readiness to attack all of the McCarthyite seats except Mr. Sexton's and Mr. McCarthy's. He added that Archbishop Croke opposes Archbishop Walsh's support of Mr. Healy. The bishops are, in fact, divided into three sections, namely, adherents of Mr. Dillon, adherents of Mr. Healy and those holding that it is injurious to the interests of the church to interfere with politics.

The opening of the law courts, it is said, will see a new development in regard to the Paris funds. Mr. Lowden, one of the originators of the Land League, has put in a claim on behalf of the old league trustees. Mr. Lowden's affidavit would prevent either side having access to the money. In the meantime Banker Monroe has declared that he would not part with the money until the French courts decided the matter, the English courts having no jurisdiction in France. The Parnellites admit that new delays will thus arise, but that the claim strengthens their position.

"Catholic England."

Archbishop Vaughan, in an interview today, expressed his belief that England will soon become Catholic. "She has already gone half way," he said, "her mental attitude toward Catholicism having undergone a great change. Old controversies are dying out, and the High Church movement is practically doing our work."

"Esohnedragakerue" was the name which a bewildered reader found in the columns of an issue of The World. Upon investigation he found that it was Eureka Garden Hose spelt backwards. e

BY 38 TO 11.

The DeBoucherville Government Defeats a Non-Confidence Motion.

QUEBEC, June 12.—Despite the addition of another vote to the Opposition forces in the House in the introduction of Mr. Bisson, the newly-elected member for Beauharnois, the Government majority in the House upon a vote of non-confidence upon the new crown lands legislation was 27, the vote being 38 to 11. The proposal of the Opposition in this motion was to exclude cedar from the list of merchantable timber. In the course of the debate Mr. King of Megantic said it would greatly facilitate matters here if the Ontario system of dealing with crown lands could be introduced here, namely, to give the land free to colonists, retaining all pine timber upon it as the property of the Crown.

AT GLORIOUS NIAGARA.

Opening of the Season—All About the Camp—Electric Power Rights Sold for $25,000.

NIAGARA, Ont., June 12.—The summer season has opened auspiciously. The weather to-day was delightful, warm but tempered with the breezes off the lake. The verdure and foliage, thanks to the copious spring rains, are remarkable even for this favored district. The outlook for all kinds of fruit, especially peaches, is of the most promising kind and growers look forward to a big crop and fair prices.

The Cibola and Chicora brought over large loads of passengers on Saturday, especially the Cibola in the afternoon.

The Queen's Royal opened on Saturday and had a fair number of guests from Toronto and Buffalo. The house and grounds are in first-class shape and the rush for quarters has already set in.

C Company went into camp on Saturday, and before nightfall everything was trim and soldierlike. Col. Otter is in command, and by to-morrow they will have tents for 2500 men, who go into camp on Tuesday. A big delegation of the M.P. colonels and majors is expected on Saturday next from Ottawa. Mrs. Otter and Mrs. McDougall visited the camp on Saturday. The camp ground is fine and dry notwithstanding the rain. Major-General Herbert is expected to arrive in a couple of days and stop in camp for a week. His tent is already pitched.

Fort Niagara, the post on the American side, is now the headquarters of the 21st and has the regimental band stationed there. Two companies of the 9th regiment stationed at Sackett's Harbor are in camp at Fort Niagara for target practice.

Few people seem to be aware that the Ontario Legislature has sold the electric power rights on the Canadian side of the Falls for 100 years for $25,000 a year for 10 years and $30,000 thereafter. The owners of the monopoly are the same company who control the American side of the river. They paid in $50,000 in cash to the treasury at Toronto the other day on account of rent, and will begin the work of construction at once. They will ship their electrical power developed on the Canadian side into the States by wire.

Many Toronto families have cottages here for the summer and others are engaging them.

The Rev. Arthur Baldwin spent the Sunday here.

A MEXICAN EXILE DEAD.

He Was Twice Sentenced to be Shot and Was on Maximilian's Staff.

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 11.—Pablo Pera, a Mexican exile, has just died in this city, aged ninety-one. Fifty years ago he was one of the most active men in Mexican politics. He was twice sentenced to be shot, but made his escape into Central America. He espoused the cause of Maximilian and held a position on his staff.

President of the Farmers' Alliance Dead.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Col. L. L. Polk, President of the Farmers' Alliance, has died at Garfield Hospital. Col. Polk was a relative of President Polk. He was a native of North Carolina, where he was born about 55 years ago. His education was received in the common schools. During the war he served in the Confederate Army and resigned to go to the Legislature, to which body he had been elected. Later for several years he filled the office of Commissioner of Agriculture for North Carolina, and later still he began the publication of The Progressive Farmer, which he managed a long time. At the time of his death he was serving his third term as president of the body to which he has given so much of his time and attention. The death of Col. Polk is a severe loss to the Farmers' Alliance.

The "Queen's Royal."

The "Queen's Royal," "Niagara-on-the-Lake." The name in itself is an alluring one and rather suggestive of calm serenity, cool breezes, rippling waves and rest. There is not a lovelier spot in Canada. Grand old elms, maples, sycamores and ample lawns surround the hotel, making it one of the prettiest summer resorts in Canada. The "Queen's Royal" will be formally opened on the 11th inst. d

Drowned While Bathing.

AYLMER, Ont., June 12.—A very sad affair occurred this afternoon at Springwater mills about five miles from here, in which Herbert McLaughlin, son of the late Dr. McLaughlin of Fingal and brother of Mrs. G. A. Bingham of this town, was drowned. The young man was bathing and when about 20 feet from shore he was seized with cramps and before assistance could be procured life was extinct.

THE IRISH FACTIONS FIGHT IT OUT AT TRALEE.

Parnellite Meeting Ends in a Monster Riot—Anti-Parnellites Shouted "Traitors" and Then the Fight Began—It Was a Short, Lively "Scrap"—Over 100 Men Injured, Some May Die.

DUBLIN, June 12.—William Redmond, Edward Harrington and Henry Harrington were in Tralee this afternoon to address a large meeting of Parnellites. About 3000 persons were present. They remained perfectly orderly until the chairman prepared to introduce the speakers, when it became apparent that the meeting had been packed with anti-Parnellites. There were then loud shouts against Mr. Harrington and Mr. Redmond and cries of "Blackguard," "Ireland's enemies" and "Traitors."

The Parnellites raised counter shouts and began cheering for Parnell. Two fights were started near the platform and one of the disturbers was knocked senseless. This was the signal for a general row. Several men came down from the platform and tried to restore order, but in vain. Clubs and stones were plentiful in the crowd, and the members of the opposing factions did not hesitate to use them.

The meeting became a mob. Men were thrown to the ground and trampled and struck. Coats were torn from the backs of those trying to escape from the fights, and blows were levelled right and left without care as to whom they struck. Those on the outskirts pressed in toward the platform to aid their friends until all were so tightly packed that even the most peaceably inclined ones had to join in the fight in self-defence. The band, which began playing early in the disturbance to drown the disorder, was completely wrecked.

A party of anti-Parnellites attacked the members with clubs, knocked down five of them, put the rest to flight, captured all the instruments, and stamped them to pieces. When Mr. Harrington stepped down from the platform to help to pacify the combatants, he was struck in the shoulder with a stone, and received on the back a blow from a heavy stick. He hastily returned to the platform.

After the fight had lasted about 10 minutes an extra force of constables arrived and they broke through the crowd clubbing the participants and beating the leaders into temporary submission. The wounded were then carried away and the meeting became quiet enough for the speakers to proceed.

About 25 men were severely injured in the riot. Eighteen had broken bones and several were injured internally by being trampled by the crowd. Seven are said to be in a critical condition. About 100 men were less seriously injured. Half of the persons present had their clothes torn or were scratched and bruised.

The police remained present throughout the meeting to prevent the recurrence of the disturbance.

THE CITY ENGINEERSHIP.

Mr. J. C. Bailey Says Mr. Stuart is the Man for the Position.

At the City Council meeting to-night the engineership will be at last definitely settled. The Board of Works have recommended Mr. Stuart as a fit and proper person for the position.

The World was anxious to obtain the opinion of an expert as to Mr. Stuart's professional ability and so called on Mr. John C. Bailey at his residence, 211 Carlton-street, Saturday evening. There is probably not a better judge of engineering ability in the province, for Mr. Bailey is the only member in Canada of the Institute of Civil Engineers of London, England. He himself has repeatedly refused the position of City Engineer and is at present employed as consulting engineer by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Bailey very readily and decidedly expressed himself as of the opinion that Mr. Stuart was by far the better engineer, and one who would work with the interests of the city at heart. Mr. Stuart had acted with him on several arbitrations and he had found him gifted with a keen insight into the most complicated plans. Another point which tended to better fit him for the position was his ability to clearly and definitely explain his ideas to men not skilled in engineering. Mr. Bailey considered that Mr. Stuart had a goodly amount of executive ability and also sufficient backbone to withstand the efforts of ward-heeling aldermen and others desiring to take advantage of the city. With reference to a certain American engineer, whose chief demonstration of ability was the draining of Halifax, Mr. Bailey said that that city was one easily drained and that in his opinion Mr. Stuart possessed as much if not greater skill and ability.

A Serious Accident.

William Stewart, a carpenter residing at 728 Palmerston-avenue, is now in the hospital as the result of a serious mishap which befell him on Saturday. While working on the new building at John and Adelaide-streets the scaffold on which he stood gave way and he fell to the ground, part of the scaffold falling upon him. His collar bone was fractured and his back injured. He also sustained internal injuries, the extent of which has not yet been ascertained.

CRONIN MURDER REVELATIONS.

The State Attorney Said to be in Possession of a Confession.

CHICAGO, June 11.—A family quarrel has led to some startling revelations in connection with the Cronin murder. State Attorney Longenecker, it is hinted, has not only much information recently gathered about it, but has something tangible to support and verify the latest revelations. He has in his possession the instrument with which Dr. Cronin was killed, which turns out to be a stone-cutter's chisel, and not the ice-pick of O'Sullivan. It is said he has under observation and has seen the wagon which carried the trunk and the doctor's body to the catch-basin in Lake View, and it is further said that he has a confession or document in his possession embodying the above information and much more of an equally startling and sensational character. The State Attorney does not admit the assertions.

He rode the first 10 miles in 30 minutes 46⅓ seconds, and 19 miles 500 yards in the first hour.

Edge started on his ride on Monday morning. He will ride back at once from John o' Groat's to London, covering altogether 2030 miles.

The Course of the Torontos.

Sporting Editor World: The morning daily which has gone into running bicycle races to boom its diminishing circulation showed its hand very plain on Saturday. If the article had not been so bitter on the Toronto Bicycle Club it would have been amusing. It contradicts itself very openly. It stated that those who had opposed the race had played their last card and lost, and then goes on to explain how it had been compelled after all to run the race under the C.W.A. rules.

This was just what the T.B.C. had been fighting for. The "Torontos" claim that all bicycle races should be run under the association rules. Members of the C.W.A. who are loyal to the association can thank the "Torontos" for the stand they took, and the competitors in the recent race need now have no fear of being protested or suspended in future races.

Mr. H. B. Donly, secretary of the C.W.A., writes to the club commending it on its position, and the Buffalo and Rochester papers have been profuse in their articles of congratulation of the Toronto Bicycle Club.

Moore's Musee.

New attractions in the theatre, new wonders in the lecture hall, new features in all the departments—this is the Musee's offering for this week. For point of variety and excellence Manager Moore has never laid such a tempting spread before his numberless patrons. A number of pleasing novelties are represented in the bill he offers. One of the great cards to be presented in the lecture hall is "Barnello," commonly called the King of Fire. This gentleman is the premier of all others in this particular line and is no doubt remembered by a great many Torontonians. Signor and Madam Galetti's troupe of performing birds and monkeys have proved themselves such pleasing cards for patrons that they have been re-engaged for this week. Their performance, however, will be entirely changed from that of last week, thus giving a new and novel entertainment. On the theatre program appear the following names of well-known artists: The original John L. Manning, the greatest of all eccentric comedians, in his famous specialty entitled, "The Country Jay from New Jersey," Maud Martell in living statuary, Wesson and Walters in their burlesque drama by Charles Jerome, Roger Bros., the Dutch comique, and the De. Forrests, eccentric dancers, introducing the original knick-knack dance.

Prince Leo at Hanlan's.

The young gentleman, Prince Leo, who is now so successfully performing on the high wire at the Point, must possess more than the usual amount of courage when it is taken into consideration that these are his first ascensions since the awful accident that befell him last September while performing at Forest City Park in Clevelend, Ohio. The Leader of that city gives the following description of that painful event: "A terrible accident occurred at Forest City Park. Leo Stevens, who is also known as 'Prince Leo,' started to walk upon a wire cable stretched from the roof of the dancing hall to the lookout tower. When near the centre of the cable Stevens sat down, balancing his pole on his knees. The crowd cheered, and the daring young man was raising his hand to return the salutation when the wire suddenly parted. Stevens shot downwards with frightful velocity. He struck the ground on his hands, breaking both wrists. The chances are against his recovery. He is 19 years old. The distance from the cable to the ground was over 70 feet." After lying for over four months in the hospital with his arms encased in plaster of paris moulds, he recovered and is now filling the second week of his engagement at Hanlan's Point. Besides the Prince, Manager Conner offers to his patrons at each entertainment the following named artists: Yucca, the female Samson of the age; the Clark-Razzillians, the noted trapezists; Antonia Van Gofre, the unequalled, and last though not least, Eddie Fulton, called the Human Eel. It is no wonder that with such a show, given free to all, thousands visit the Point at each performance.

Cool-Headed Men.

The midsummer sun is no respecter of persons and shines fiercely on all alike. But it depends altogether upon the kind of hat that a man wears whether his head shall be cool and comfortable in the hottest weather. The Drab Shell is perhaps the most perfect summer hat made. It is light, and with its ventilating features feels as cool as it looks. Another very popular hot weather hat shown at Messrs. W. & D. Dineen's, popular hatterie, corner King and Yonge-streets, is the zephyr-weight stiff felt Derby, and there are so many different styles of head refrigerators in the straw hat assortment at Dineens' and the prices are so very moderate that no man can have any reason whatever for not being cool-headed on the hottest days.

FOREIGN NEWS OF A NIGHT.

MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM OVER THE SEA.

Labor Troubles In Spain—Military Called Out—More About the Fallen Women Poisoner—The Emperor and Bismarck—European Opinion on the American Presidency—Hull Steamship Lost—Russian Famine.

LONDON, June 12.—The Bedouins inhabiting the El Hejaz district, which lies along the Red Sea in Arabia, are in revolt against Turkish authority. The district includes the sacred cities of Mecca and Medina. The insurgents threaten to attack Jeddah, one of the principal cities of Arabia. It is feared that if the attack is made the European quarter will be looted.

Who Wants to Climb the Pole?

LONDON, June 12.—An Athenian professor of mathematics named Damaskin has invented an ice locomotive which he expects will carry him to the North Pole. He has given an order for the construction of a large locomotive after his pattern and is now calling for volunteers to accompany him to the Arctic Ocean. The locomotive is to have a unique arrangement, by which it will lay and take up the rails as it runs. Short spikes on the under side of the rails will make the latter temporarily fast in the ice. The locomotive will be operated by steam and at the same time will supply heat to keep the travelers from suffering from cold. The cab is to carry provisions for the exploring party. The locomotive and cab will be conveyed in parts to Spitzbergen, Prof. Damaskin says, will there be put together, and will then be run for the North Pole at the rate of 30 miles an hour. As Spitzbergen is about 600 miles from the North Pole, Prof. Damaskin expects to reach his destination in 20 hours. He allows eight hours for his first observations and 20 hours for returning, so that the whole trip, Spitzbergen and return, will be made in just two days. Prof. Damaskin hopes to be ready to start on his journey late in September or early in October.

STEAMSHIP COLLISION.

The Ariel of Hull Sunk in the English Channel—Crew Rescued.

LONDON, June 12.—The steamship Ariel of Hull foundered to-day in the English Channel after a collision with the steamship Lancashire. The Lancashire struck the Ariel with such force as nearly to cut it in two, but the crew were fortunately rescued before the Ariel went down and have been landed at Weymouth.

Reprimanded by the Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—It is asserted on apparently good authority that the Czar has reprimanded the Grand Duke Constantine for visiting President Carnot without permission from the Czar. While princes of the imperial family have a right to do as they please when abroad in giving and receiving unofficial courtesies it is the invariable rule to ask the consent of the Czar before taking part in any official function. It would not follow, however, that because the Czar reprimanded Constantine, he therefore did not desire that Prince to represent Russia at the Nancy fete. The autocrat is very jealous of his rights as the head of the house of Romanoff and the reprimand may have been simply because an important form was not observed by the Grand Duke.

The Emperor and Bismarck.

BERLIN, June 12.—The papers are still occupied in discussing the prospects of a reconciliation between Emperor William and Prince Bismarck. A rumor has been in circulation to the effect that Prince Bismarck would be made president of the State Council, but there is little likelihood that the ex-chancellor, even should a reconciliation be effected, would accept such an unimportant post as the presidency of the State Council, which he himself created in order to appoint Crown Prince Frederick thereto and thus remove the Crown Prince from any influence in active politics.

THE SILVER CONFERENCE.

Austria and Hungary Will Send Delegates and Financiers.

FRANKFORT, June 12.—Advices from Vienna have been received here to the effect that the Austro-Hungarian Government propose to accept the invitation of the United States to unite with other Governments in the silver conference, and that it will send a delegate unimpowered to give binding promises, to be accompanied by a financier of both Austria and Hungary.

Hooted the President.

PARIS, June 12.—As President Carnot was leaving Longchamps to-day between double lines of troops three well-dressed men hooted at him, shouting "wooden-head" and giving utterance to other abuse. They spoke with a foreign accent. Before they could be arrested the crowd nearly lynched them.

A Town Flame-Swept.

ROCKPORT, Me., June 12.—The whole business portion of this city was burned to-day. The fire started at noon and raged with such quickness that it was impossible to check it. It stopped only when it had consumed everything in its path. Sixteen business buildings were destroyed. The loss is $75,000.

Fatal Stabbing.

YARDLEY, Pa., June 12.—Charles McCarthy was stabbed and fatally injured last night by Isaac Robinson, a young colored man. Robinson claims he acted in self-defence.

Expelled From Russia.

BERLIN, June 12.—It is announced here that Poulteney Bigelow, the well-known American traveler and writer, has been expelled from Russia.

Feeling in Germany.

BERLIN, June 11.—The course of the Republican convention at Minneapolis was followed with the greatest interest in political circles here, where it was generally expected and hoped that Mr. Blaine would be successful, not because Mr. Blaine was liked, but because his success would have been regarded as a partial rebuff to the McKinley policy, which the German manufacturers are still smarting under. All here are in sympathy with the Democrats. While the personal character of President Harrison and the ability of Mr. Reid are universally conceded, little attempt is made to conceal the hope that they will be beaten at the polls. The leaders in the newspapers reflect the general feeling.

Everywhere Miners to Strike.

LONDON, June 12.—The International Miners' Congress has resolved by a vote of 64 to 9 that preparations must be made for an International strike if the various governments do not grant the demand for an eight hour working day.

Another Boy Drowned.

FIERCE FIGHT AT CUYABA.

Matto Grosso Rebels Win a Seven Days' Battle at the State Capital.

VALPARAISO, June 12.—Advices received from the rebellious State of Matto Grosso, Brazil, announce terrific fighting in and around the capital, Cuyaba, and the utter defeat of the government soldiers sent from Rio Janeiro some time ago by land and sea to quell the uprising.

The combat is said to have begun on May 7 and lasted until May 13, when the Government troops fled in the utmost disorder. They are reported to have left 1000 men killed upon the battle field and even a large number of wounded.

All the chief officers of the Government forces were killed. Cuyaba was then entered by the victorious rebels, who sacked it and assassinated all the Government officials. The revolutionists say they have no desire to secede from the Republic, but that they want a good governor and officials, chosen by the residents of the state and not arbitrarily imposed upon them by the authorities at Rio Janeiro.

THE RAINY RIVER MURDER.

The Jury Find Mrs. Carruthers Not Guilty and She is Acquitted.

PORT ARTHUR, June 11.—After the addresses of counsel and the summing up of the judge the jury found Mrs. Carruthers not guilty and she was acquitted.

A Government Official Drowned.

OTTAWA, June 12.—Thomas Cross, chief clerk of the Department of Railways, was drowned on Saturday night in the Rideau River a short distance from the city. On Saturday night he left his home at Sandy Hill, the fashionable suburb of Ottawa, and went out for a walk at 7 o'clock. Not returning in a reasonable time the family became alarmed and search was commenced. At 10 o'clock that night the body was found by Sergeant Cowdron, caretaker of the rifle range. The deceased was 56 years old and was a native of England, but had lived in Ottawa for nearly 30 years. He entered the Civil Service in 1866 and became chief clerk of the Railway Department in 1880. He was a most efficient public servant and highly respected. He leaves a widow and one son practising law in Algoma.

Gospel Temperance.

Mr. W. J. Wardle, late of London, England, addressed the Gospel Temperance meeting in Broadway Hall at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and his speech was full of interest throughout. He had been doing mission work in the city of London, and among other things referred to the way of living in the slums; also to the greater amount of drinking there, and the saloons not being closed as here from Saturday evening till Monday morning. Drink, he said, was the curse of the Old Country. Mr. Munns followed, and said drink was also the curse of this country, and the remedy lay in the proper use of the ballot irrespective of party. At the close of the meeting several signed the pledge.

An Incendiary Fire.

At 11.25 p.m. on Saturday a fire, supposed to be incendiary, started in an unoccupied building at 21 St. Andrew's-street. Several sections of the fire brigade responded to an alarm from box 216, but the fire had a good start and damage to the amount of $400 had been done before it was extinguished. The building is owned by Mr. Kavanaugh, 521 Parliament-street.

At 2.25 Saturday afternoon sparks from the smoke-stack of a sawmill set fire to the house No. 35 Florence-street, owned by Mr. Matthews. Before it was extinguished the blaze had spread to No. 33, owned by Mr. Cox, where $30 damage was caused. The damage at No. 35 amounted to $100.

Sunday at the Island.

Taking advantage of the fine weather of yesterday crowds of pleasure-seekers thronged the Point and Island Park, and the scene beneath the budding trees became exceedingly animated as the day passed. Evidently this salubrious spot is in great favor with city excursionists who are only enabled to take a day's outing on Sundays, as they appeared to enjoy themselves vastly, lounging about beneath the trees or engaged in the perusal of periodicals. Hanlan's Point served as a lode-star during the cooler evening hours, it being plainly perceptible that as the season advances so the crowds thicken and the enjoyment increases.

Evangelist George F. Hall's lecture to young men in Christ Church, Cecil-street, yesterday afternoon was well attended. Mr. Hall's subject was "Plain Points on Personal Purity." A FATALITY AT THE ISLAND.

A ROW ON THE BAY BRINGS GRIEF INTO TWO HOUSEHOLDS.

An Unexplained Tragedy at Mead's Cut—A Boat is Discovered Half Full of Water and the Occupants Are Found at the Bottom of the Bay—His Life For Hers.

Last Saturday night a distressing accident took place in Mead's Cut at the Island, by which two promising young lives were cut short. Fred Wing and Miss Eva Berkinshaw were among the pleasure-seekers who took advantage of the calmness of the evening and rowed over to the Island, but were the victims of an accident the cause of which, despite all theories, must remain a mystery.

Who the Victims Were.

Mr. Wing, who was 20 years of age, resided at 244 St. Patrick-street, and was a clerk in the house of Spriggs & Buchanan, 20 Front-street east, wholesale saddlery. He was an American by birth, having been born in Pennsylvania, and having resided for four years in Canada. He was the second son, his elder brother being married and in Dakota. He leaves a widowed mother and several sisters. Miss Eva Berkinshaw was 18 years of age, and lived with her father, Mr. John C. Berkinshaw, at 251 Bathurst-street. Mr. Berkinshaw is manager of the subscription department of the Methodist Book Room. She was the only daughter, there being one son in the family. Mr. Wing was an attendant at Queen-street Methodist Church, though of late he had been going to McCaul-street church. He was an associate member of the Epworth League, and had for some years belonged to the young men's Bible Class at Queen-street church. He was of exceedingly steady habits. Miss Berkinshaw was a member of McCaul-street church, and sang in the choir. She was also a member of Sunshire Circle of the King's Daughters. The young couple had been acquainted about one year and were very good friends. They had never before been out rowing together.

The Story of the Tragedy.

At half-past six on Saturday evening they left for the Island, promising to be back by 10 o'clock. At 8.10 p.m. they left the Queen City Boathouse, kept by James Conacher, taking boat No. 40, a 14-foot two-seated skiff, rather wide, with a rounded bottom. This was the last ever seen of the fated couple alive. What transpired afterwards can only be inferred.

About 9.30 p.m. Mr. Edward Hales of 309 Euclid-avenue, accompanied by a young lady, was rowing in Mead's cut, near the long pond, when they found an oar and a man's soft felt hat floating. A young man named Grand came up behind him, and the two parties, their fears aroused, proceeded to search. Soon the boat was found, drifted near a little bay. She was half full of water, with one oar still attached to the rowlock block and with everything in her, even to the light cleat in the stretcher. Evidently it had not been upset. The articles found were placed in the boat and it was drawn up on the beach, and Mr. Hales then set off to report the occurrence. But he could not find the policeman, and could not secure a hearing at the wicket office. He was in too much of a hurry to catch the boat and so went off, taking the ferry to the foot of Brock-street. Here he reported the find to Mr. Conacher, the owner.

The Bodies Found.

Some time between 12 and 1, Charles Grey and John Holloway, who board at Mrs. Durnan's on the Island, who had rowed some belated people over and were on their way back, once more found the boat, which had apparently worked loose and once more got adrift. Early on Sunday morning, Conacher, Hales and others started dragging, and after three hour's work found the young man's body near the cut. The water was 10 feet deep, and he was about 60 feet from the bank. Soon after the girl's body was found 3 or 4 yards apparently from his. The bodies were taken to the foot of Brock-street. A little group of friends and relatives had gathered at the boathouse; a hurried signal was made and they were withdrawn, while the poor bodies were hurriedly placed in No. 3 ambulance and were transported to their homes.

The parents of the victims of the accident had spent a wretched night. Mr. Berkinshaw spent nearly the whole night in rowing backwards and forwards to the Island, searching incessantly. He was on the Island at the time that the bodies were being taken over to the boathouse. He was most actively and kindly assisted by the owner of the boat, Mr. Conacher, who gave him every facility and showed great delicacy and kindness.

How Did It Happen?

Such are the circumstances of this lamentable accident. The cause, of course, can hardly be decided on with certainty. Three theories, however, are advanced. The first is that they were trying to change places and overbalanced themselves. The second is grounded on the fact that one oar was found floating, and is that in some way it was lost, and that both made a simultaneous snatch for it, and so tipping over. Miss Berhinshaw was a girl of an impetuous lively spirit, and would be apt to try to reach for it. The third, and in all likelihood the correct, theory is that they had landed, and were just pushing off, when she stumbled and fell in; that he then sprang in to save her and fell a victim to his own gallantry. They certainly did land shortly before the accident; and he was an expert swimmer, just the man, his friends say, to plunge in to rescue her. The oar would certainly be unshipped by the roll of the boat; and the bodies were found very close together. If that be the case, he undoubtedly gave his life for hers.

Her Place Was Draped in Black.

The deepest gloom was cast over the two congregations yesterday by the sad event. Both pastors spoke of it in affecting terms, and the vacant place in McCaul-street choir was draped in black in the evening. A memorial service will be held in McCaul-street Church next Sunday evening in commemoration of Miss Berkinshaw. "She died prepared" is the melancholy consolation of her friends.

The funeral of Miss Berkinshaw will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and that of Wing at 3 o'clock.
