Poetry.

ST. BARNABAS THE APOSTLE.

MAY 11, 1550.

Brightly did the light divine
From his words and actions shine,
Whom the Twelve, with love unblam'd,
"Son of Consolation" nam'd

Full of peace and lively joy,
Sped he on his high employ:
By his mild exhorting word,
Adding many to the Lord.

Blessed Spirit, who didst call
Barnabas and holy Paul,
And didst them with gifts endue,
Mighty words and wisdom true.

Grant us, Lord of Life, to be,
By their pattern, full of Thee;
That beside them we may stand
In that day, on Thy right Hand.

AN INCIDENT IN THE LIFE OF A PRESBYTERIAN MINISTER.

(From the St. Louis Presbyterian.)

It is a common remark how personal intimacy with members of another religious denomination, often modifies ones views of their doctrines, and the effect of their doctrines upon the religious character. As an illustration of this remark, read the following:

Six years ago, I was on ship-board, just ready to sail for Havana, when a young invalid made his appearance on board. I inquired of the Captian, his name. He replied, "Rev. Mr. Carey." Can this, thought I, be the Rev. Arthur Carey, about Whom I have lately read and thought and talked so much.

It was he. His ordination, and the consequent war in the Episcopal Church, had occurred but a short time previous, while I was a student in theology, and it may easily be imagined that I was not much prejudiced in his favour. Several days elapsed before Mr. C. was well enough to appear upon deck, but on a fine sunny day, I had opportunity to make his acquaintance, and we almost immediately engaged in conversation upon a subject in which he and I were almost equally interested. It would be improper to mention all that was said, as the names and conduct of persons still living were freely spoken of.

Having told him, that according to my understanding of the matter, his expressed views agreed very well with the Liturgy of his church, and that therefore ordination in that church was his indisputable right; he seemed pleased that a person of another denomination should admit so much, and to my questions gave free and prompt answers.

I found him to be a man of clear, philosophical intellect, and logical views.—Wherever he had doubts he expressed them frankly; as, for instance, on the purgutory question. But, in general, he was decided as to the abstract truth of what we call the "High Church" views. But on the nature and manner of justification, which, in my opinion, was the only practically important doctrine discussed by us, I could discover no difference between us. He emphatically denied believing that any man could be saved by the merit of his works; and when I came to ask for explanations of his views on the other points, I found that the difference between us, in many cases, was the difference between "tweedledum and tweedledee;" and though I was well aware that a less difference than that had often startled the theological virus in my newly inoculated system, my heart was so engaged by his amiable manners, that I determined it should be no cause of quarrel between us now. He manifested both his amiableness and the practical character of his religion, by frequently, in the course of our interviews, speaking of the Sunday School children and the congregation which he had left with regret.

After a few days the weather growing stormy and the sea rough, he became weaker, and was confined to his berth, and expressed doubts of his living to reach port. He expressed a perfect readiness to die, but said, of his own accord, that he had no great joys or raptures, as some had, in the thought of death. I then asked him "do you expect to be saved by the atonement of Christ alone?" He fixed his large, dark eye steadily and calmly upon me, as if to ascertain the exact cause of such a question being put to him, he replied, "Of course I do."

He thanked me when I offered to read to him. I asked, "What shall I read now;" meaning what book. He, as if there was but one book, replied, "Read in St. Paul's epistles, for I am most familiar with them."

I read and finished the thirteenth chapter, First Corinthians, which he said was a beautiful chapter, and then I asked, Shall I read on?"

"No," said he, "the next chapter is not of much importance."

On the day before the arrival of our vessel in Havana, his spirits were considerably revived, and he thought that when once comfortably on shore, he should be better; but even while we were in sight of the palm-trees and plantations on the island, he was seized for the first time I believe, with a violent hemorrhage from the lungs. We brought him into the cabin and made his bed on the table. While his fellow-passengers ministered to him with faces of deep anxiety the expression of his eye never once changed. I shall never forget the unearthly calmness of that face, even to his last struggling breath—even while he looked on me, as I held the bowl to his mouth to receive the last drop of his life's blood, the bright but placid gleam of his eye changed to the glassy glare of death.

If we carried the dead body to Havana, it was thought by the Captain and experienced passengers, that we should be subjected to a tedious quarantine; nevertheless, the passengers unanimously expressed their willingness to undergo it, if it was the wish of the afflicted and agonized father, who was with us. But he knowing the state of the case, and also, that for a foreigner and a Protestant to bury his son in Havana, would cost a great deal of delay, trouble, and expense, decided to commit his body to the sea.

In the morning, about nine o'clock, when within three miles of Moro Castle, the foretopsails were backed, and all hands called aft to bury the dead.—The body was brought upon deck, sewn in a canvass winding sheet, and a weight of iron attached to the feet of the corpse, which was laid upon a plank, one end of which rested upon the railing of the quarter deck.

The solemn burial service of the Episcopal Church was read by myself, the crew and passengers standing uncovered around. At the words, "we therefore commit his body to the deep," the inner end of the plank was raised, and the corpse shot quick into the bosom of the deep blue sea, and was out of sight in a moment. For some time we continued gazing into the water, as if hoping that we might discern the lost one reposing on his bed of coral below. Among those "hollow wreathed chambers" he found a tomb more gorgeous than any that human hands could have erected over him, in Greenwood or Auburn. L. G.

MAY MEETINGS.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.—On Tuesday the 30th of April, the anniversary meeting of the friends of this Society was held at Exeter Hall, the Earl of Chichester in the chair. The meeting having been opened in the usual form, the Chairman briefly addressed them, and the report (a very voluminous document) was read. After adverting in general terms to the utility and extent of the Society, the report directed attention to the opening of the Missionary Children's Home, as being an institution which had long been required in connexion with the Society, and one calculated to do a great deal of good. In Sierra Leone a large new church had been opened at Freetown, and a new station had been occupied at Wilberforce. At Yaruba the number of converts had greatly increased, and although those who had become members of the Christian religion were subjected to every severity of persecution, they remained firm adherents to the faith. New openings had occurred for missionary operations in Syria, and Jerusalem would very probably be connected with missions in Egypt and Asia Minor. Missionary tours had been made into Eastern Africa, and curious discoveries made in the interior. In Western India many natives were in preparation for the ministry, and a mission to Scinde was proposed. In Calcutta and Northern India measures had been taken for a mission into the Punjab and to Bahar, and in Southern India, especially at Tinnevelly and Travancore, great progress had been made by the Society. In Ceylon and China also the missions were doing well, and in New Zealand the converts had greatly increased, and native education was making rapid progress. The Bishop of Rupert's Land had arrived in North West America. The missions now occupied eighty-seven English clergymen (of whom twenty-one were graduates of English or Irish Universities), forty-two natives of the continent in English orders, five in Lutheran orders, and thirteen native lergymen, and twenty-seven European laymen, catechists, secretaries, &c. The attendants at Christian worship in the Society's missions throughout the world were estimated at 107,000; the communicants at 13,000; the number of children under Christian education, 40,000. During the past year the number of baptisms had been 5,554. The increase in the number of communicants (omitting the West India station, relinquished) was 543. The income of the Society was from associations, benefactions, and legacies, £92,259 2s. 2d., and from other funds £2,141 8s. 9d., giving a total for the United Kingdom of £94,400 10s. 11d.; £9,872 15s. 11d. had been raised in India, giving a total income of £104,273 6s. 10d. Although a falling off had occurred in several sources of income, there had been an increase in others, and after the payment of all expenses, there remained a balance in favour of the Society of £818 4s. 9d.—On the motion of the Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Leamington, seconded by the Hon. M. Villiers, the report was received and adopted. —Other gentlemen then addressed the meeting, which thanked the Chairman at the close of the proceedings, and separated.—There were 4,000 persons in the hall. Amongst those on the platform were Mr. Plumptre, M.P., Mr. Colquhoun, M.P., the Hon. A. Kinnaird, and Sir R. H. Inglis, M.P., besides many distinguished clergymen of the Established Church.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.—The annual meeting of this Society was held on Tuesday, at the Society's house, 67, Lincoln's Inn Fields. The Bishop of St. Asaph occupied the chair. The usual preliminaries having been gone through, the Secretary (the Rev. T. B. Murray) stated that the Lord Bishop of Montreal, having made an application by letter from Quebec, for additional aid towards building churches in Canada East, the sum of £500 for the object would be moved at the next meeting. The Committee gave notice of their intention to propose a vote of £4,000 towards a new bishopric in Lower Canada. By this arrangement, which has been for some time on foot, and towards which several contributions have already been made, the present Bishop of Montreal will become Bishop of Quebec, and the bishop to be appointed will have the title of Bishop of Montreal; the measure having received the sanction and recommendation of the Colonial Bishoprics Fund, and the Government at home, as well as the Prelate on whom the charge of the present enormous duties devolves, being friendly to the plan. It also appeared from the Society's proceedings that there are some expectations, at no distant day, of the appointment of a third bishop of Canada East. The Lord Bishop of Newfoundland stated that since his visit by the Church ships to the several settlements along the coasts of Labrador, great need had been felt and expressed of the supply of the means of grace to the inhabitants of those remote settlements, and his Lordship expressed his intention at once to proceed to the erection of churches or chapels, school houses, and residences for clergymen on that wild and long-neglected part of his diocese. As the Bishop would extend his plans among a considerable population on a line of coast extending 300 miles, in which are not only irregular settlers, but during the fishing season, 10,000 persons engaged in that calling, the supply of several buildings, as well as the appointment of missionaries, would be necessary. For this purpose, it was proposed to vote £500 at the next meeting. His Lordship further stated that the new cathedral at St. John's towards which the Society had granted £2,000, was nearly completed, and most likely would be consecrated in December next. The Society granted 18 sets of books for the performance of divine service, for Churches and chapels in Newfoundland, and gave great encouragement to the prospect of a grant of £2,000 towards collegiate buildings in that diocese whenever the Bishop was prepared to commence them. The Bishop of Adelaide had forwarded a very interesting paper, which was read; it gave a sketch of the kind of emigrants who are at the present time flocking into South Australia; and his lordship founded upon their wants, and the poverty of the masses in his diocese, a claim for further assistance from the Society; whereupon the additional sum of £350 was granted, being £200 for schools, and £150 for the completion of a church in course of construction. From the balance-sheet it appeared that the expenditure had exceeded the receipts, and that a considerable increase above the last year had taken place in the issue of Bibles and Prayer books, to the extent of 26,950, whilst a decrease of 2,500 had occurred in the issue of New Testaments. The total number issued in the year was—Bibles, 140,775; Common Prayers, 298,707; and New Testaments, 79,977. A list of donations having been read, and various grants made, a vote of thanks was given to the Right Reverend Prelate, and the meeting broke up.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY.—The annual meeting was held on Wednesday, at Exeter Hall, the Earl of Harrowby in the chair. The total receipts had amounted to £91,634 12s. 7d., and were not so large as last year, but as the accounts of that year included a special fund of £7,600, there was a real increase in the ordinary revenue of £2,023 14s. 7d. The issues had been 1,136,695 copies, or 29,177 more than last year, and made a grand total of 23,110,080. The meeting was addressed by the Bishop of Norwich, the American Minister (Mr. Lawrence), Captain Pakenham, the Marquis of Cholmondeley, and others. Some explanation of the quarrel with the Society's binders was demanded by a gentleman in the meeting, but the Chairman refused to discuss the question before a Committee of 3,000.

The annual meeting of the Wesleyan Missionary Society took place on Monday, the Hon. Fox Maule, M.P., in the chair. The total income of the society, during the past year, had amounted £111,685 13s. 6d.; the expenditure to £109,168 10s. 7d.; showing a balance of £2,517 2s. 11d. in their favour. The meeting was interrupted by a Mr. Grossjean, who appears to have been extensively supported but the Chairman declined to allow him to move an amendment; the consequence was that a vote of thanks to the chairman and secretary were carried only on a division.

ALTHOUGH this Society has mainly in view the intention of enabling members of the Church of England to contribute, by the payment of small periodical sums, towards, either the endowment of a Church of England University, (in accordance with the recommendation of His Lordship the Bishop in his recent Pastoral Letter,) or the building and endowment of Churches, Parsonage Houses, and School Houses, in connexion with the Church of England—the Society nevertheless does not contemplate restricting its operations to those objects only. On the contrary, like other Building Societies, the advantages of the Church of England and Metropolitan Building Society will be fully open to all parties without distinction, who may choose to take Stock therein, either for investment—the acquisition of freehold or leasehold estate—the removal of incumbrances or liabilities upon property—or the privilege of borrowing the amount of their shares in advance upon furnishing approved mortgage security.

DR. HALSEY'S FOREST WINE;
OR COMPOUND
WINE OF SARSAPARILLA.
A NEW DISCOVERY.
And the most extraordinary medicine of the age, put up in Large Bottles; a single bottle does more good, and goes farther in the cure of Diseases, than any ten bottles of Sarsaparilla extract hitherto in use; warranted to cure without nauseating or weakening, is perfectly safe at all times, and possesses a delightful bitter flavour, almost equal to Pure Port Wine.
ALL the numerous sarsaparillas now in use are prepared by boiling the root to obtain the extract. The finest medicinal properties of this valuable plant are therefore evaporated and lost; besides this, articles of no medicinal virtues whatever, such as molasses and liquorice, are added to make up the deficiency, and give them consistency. Is is not to be wondered at then, that it takes 10, 20 and sometimes 50 large bottles of these extracts of sarsaparilla to do any good, or produce the slightest change in health. Not so with Dr. Halsey's Forest Wine. Every dose produces its good effects, and every bottle its great results.
This valuable medicine is prepared without heating, without the use of liquorice, molasses, or any syrup whatever. But the great beauty of Dr. Halsey's Forest Wine remains still to be told. By the invention of a new and wonderful chemical apparatus, a perfect wine is produced from two of the most valuable plants in the world, the SARSAPARILLA AND WILD CHERRY.
It possesses all the fine virtues of these justly celebrated plants. In addition to this the efficacy of the Forest Wine is increased nearly ten fold, by the farther combination of other rare vegetable properties.
DR. HALSEY'S GUM-COATED FOREST PILLS,
An invaluable Compound Sarsapparilla preparation, manufactured on the same principles as the Forest Wine, to which it is an important adjunct. They art coated with pure Gum Arabic, an important invention, for which Dr. Halsey has received the only patent ever granted on Pills by the Government of the United States.
Dr. Halsey's Forest Wine and Gum-coated Forest Pills unite in accomplishing the same great end, the purification of the blood, the renovation and restoration of the stomach and bowels.
THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE.
The life principle of man is the blood; no sooner are those organs of the stomach which make and nourish the blood, cleansed of morbid matter and restored to healthy action by the use of the Forest Pills, and pure rich blood made to flow in the veins by the use of the Forest Wine, than diseases begins to vanish, and strength and energy of body return, This is the principle on which is founded these great medicines and by which Scrofula, Dropsy, Bilious diseases, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, weakness, want of Nervous energy, Jaundice, Coughs, Colds, General Debility, Emaciation of the Body, Rheumatism, Ague and Fever, Diarrhœa, Cholera, Ulcers, and many other diseases are radically cured.
GENERAL DEBILITY, EMACIATION, WASTING OF THE BODY.
Many persons are afflicted with some one of the above complaints, frequently without being able to trace it to any particular cause; and therefore delay using the proper remedy until the complaint becomes constitutional.
These complaints are sometimes characterized by a sense of sinking, or entire exhaustion after exercise; yet the appetite may be good. Some experience sluggishness and lassitude at times, paleness and flushing of the countenance, fetid breath etc.; other cases are attended with costiveness and looseness alternately.
A vast number afflicted with the above miserable disorders, are continually being cured with the Forest Wine and Pills.—Within the last 12 months we have had more than a thousand applications for these medicines, by persons in this kind of delicate health. Every one from whom we have since heard were restored to perfect health by their use. Some were afflicted with palpitation of the heart, low spirits and great debility.
The following certificate is from one of the most respectable physicians in Maryland, and is but a single example out of many that have been received from able physicians:
Baltimore, Dec. 15th 1848.
Dr. G. W. Halsey—I have been in the habit of recommending your Forest Wine in my practice for various complaints, and have witnessed the most happy results from its efficacy. In more than thirty cases of general debility and nervous disorders, it has effected a cure in a few weeks.
I do not hesitate in recommending the Forest Wine and Pills to the public, as I believe them to be remedies of great merit. J. C. TANNEY.
DYSPEPSIA.
There are an infinite number of persons labouring under this afflicting disorder, many of whom perhaps do not understand what ails them. This complaint may be known, however, by some of the following symptoms: Acidity of the stomach, nervous debility, depression of mind, languid oppression after eating, weight in the stomach, drowsiness, sick-headache, indigestion, costiveness, heart burn, furred tongue, flatulency, water brash, and sometimes a disability to sleep at night.
Invalids afflicted with dyspepsia are at times truly miserable and the longer the cure is delayed, the more wretched is the victim and difficult the cure. We have the testimony of hundreds of its great efficacy in the cure of this disorder.
Ague and Fever, or Chills.
When the Forest Wine was first made known to the public we made no pretensions for it, as a specific for this disorder; but we have since been eyewitnesses to its curing the worst cases of Ague and Fever we ever saw. During the prevalence of Fever and Ague last fall in New Jersey, scarcely a day past but brought some news to corroborate its great efficacy in this disorder; and it never has yet failed, as far as we can learn, to break the Ague and restore the patient.
The following course should be pursued:—In the first place take a dose of five or six of the Forest Pills in time, that they may finish operating before the return Ague. The stomach now being well cleansed, take three doses of the Forest Wine of half a tumblerful each, at intervals of half an hour, commencing about two hours before the return chill is expected. This breaks the Ague; but in order to prevent its return, continue up the use of the Wine, in small doses, according to the directions on the label.
JAUNDICE.
This disease is caused by obstruction of the Bile ducts, which causes the bile to enter into the blood, and taint the whole system. So much so, that in advanced stages of Jaundice, the spittle becomes yellow and bitter, the urine high coloured, skin yellow, and finally, black. At the commencement of this disorder, the invalid feels a sense of dulness, oppression, is costive, has no appetite, and a yellow colour may be observed covering the white of the eyes.
We have many proofs of the Forest Wine and Pills curing in the worst stages of disease. Purge well with the Pills, two or three times, and follow up the use of the Wine according to the directions.
