CHARLES TUPPER,

Sir Valiant Knight, hold the fort and heed not the Yankees' scaly revenge, your hands sustained from the cor. Yonge and Gould Streets. STEWART.

Chamberlain, be not alarmed at the bogle of retaliation, for Canada with Britain's help is ready to return the compliment. Retaliation—the Yankees' way of giving a stab in the back to its neighbour; and a slap on the face of the lion at one and the same time is how their recent action is viewed from the cor. of Yonge and Gould Streets. STEWART.

Mum is the word on all the acts of courtesy and support given by British sons and plenipotentiaries to the American citizen, whereby the pre-tige and status of the Republic has been established and maintained before the Courts of the potentates of Europe and Asia. The mouth must be shut and only silent acknowledgment rendered for the mantle of protection and manifold acts of relief afforded the American citizen in a general way in every port in the world. And where the warships of Great Britain have come specially to the relief of our blood relations an oblivious screen must be hung, when they in their perfidity choose to do the dastard's act. But with all blood is thicker than water at the cor. of Yonge and Gould Streets. STEWART.

Let me give a douse to Goldwin Smith's racial hallucination, and an eye opener to Erasmus Wiman's mammon vision. Our Canadian Pacific Railway points the line along which the car of Empire is destined to roll. The northern crown of this small earth sphere of ours is to be enveloped about with the green bay laurel of British liberty. The connecting link between east and west is Canada. She is thereby brought into direct contact with a filial and cordial relationship of 300,000,000 people. There's the consummation that dwarfs to insignificance any hope that she might indulge in her dealings with the acquisitive and tricky Yankees of only 60,000,000. Nothing small in the national ideal at the cor. of Yonge and Gould Streets. STEWART.
