NEW USES FOR SAWDUST.

Sawdust is one of the puzzling wastes in lumbering operations. The waste is serious, too, for the kerf—the part cut out by the saw in the mill and transformed into sawdust always bears a rather high ratio to the boards obtained. In cutting thin stuff one-fourth of the log, or even more, may be kerf.

Efforts to turn sawdust into pulp for the paper mill have usually been unsuccessful on account of mechanical difficulties in handling. In several European countries, however, a new way has been found of turning sawdust to account. The sawdust, chiefly pine and fir, is ground with millstones, exactly as old time mills made cornmeal, or wheat, or rye flour. Expensive machinery is not required, but it is necessary to take special precautions against fires which might start from sparks between the millstones.

Sawdust flour is sold to dynamite factories to be mixed with nitroglycerine and forms the body or absorbent for that high explosive. It is also in demand for the manufacture of cheap blotting papers. The mills in the Harz mountains, in Germany, an important manufacturing centre, are kept busy meeting this demand. The price of the "flour" in Germany ranges from $7.50 to $12.50 a ton. It is shipped in bags like meal, or in bales of about forty cubic feet, made by means of high pressure.
