1. The first part of the report is a general introduction to the subject of the study. It should state the purpose of the study, the scope of the study, and the methods used.

2. The second part of the report is a detailed description of the methods used in the study. This should include a description of the subjects, the materials, and the procedures used.

3. The third part of the report is a presentation of the results of the study. This should include a description of the data collected, a summary of the findings, and a discussion of the implications of the findings.

4. The fourth part of the report is a conclusion and a list of references. The conclusion should summarize the main findings of the study and provide a final statement on the significance of the study. The references should list all the sources used in the study.

5. The fifth part of the report is a list of appendices. These should include any additional information that is relevant to the study but that does not fit into the main body of the report.

6. The sixth part of the report is a list of figures and tables. These should be placed at the end of the report and should be clearly labeled and numbered.

7. The seventh part of the report is a list of footnotes. These should be placed at the end of the report and should provide additional information on the sources used in the study.
