

Parliament will inevitably some day emigrate to Winnipeg.

Those are political prophecies, calling for no comment from a mere recorder of facts. But there can be no doubt, I think, that Canada promises to become, in a few decades, the most populous and prosperous part of our English Empire.

THE END