

song was not composed prior to 1695. Mairi nighcan Alasdair Ruaidh was born in 1590 and died in 1693, aged 103 years. Tradition says that she was a daughter of Alasdair mac Thormaid mhic Uilleim, triath Dhunbheagain.

The poem is copied from John Maclean's MS. collection. "'S i 'n aon te thog an t'òs sinn" is in the MS. "'S i 'n aon te bha ga 'r mòchadh." I have not seen the word mòchadh anywhere else.

P. 54.—Neil Macnab was born at Bayhead, Waternish, about 1740. He was married and had two sons and two daughters. He died about 1818. Martainn Mor lived at Lachasay, near Duntulu.

P. 76.—When this version of Captain Campbell's song was published I did not notice that I had the version given at p. 115.

RUAIRIDH RUADH MAC-COINNICH.

P. 77.—Roderick Roy MacKenzie was born about the year 1755. He married Catherine, daughter of Donald Kennedy in Kishorn, whose wife, Mary Sage, was a daughter of the Rev. Encas Sage, minister of Lochcarron. He came to Prince Edward Island in 1803, and settled at Pinette in Belfast. He left Belfast about 1811, and went to Nova Scotia. He died near Pugwash. He left sons and daughters. He was chieftain of the MacKenzies of Applecross. He was the author of several songs.

Calum Ruadh, Rory's brother, died at Kishorn about the year 1820.
