Pay the Teachers.

Dr. Parkin touched on a theme that will raise considerable discussion when he came to speak of the salaries of teachers. A great public school, he said, must be in a position to pay well for its teachers. It must be able to engage teachers whose whole heart and soul were bound up with their profession. Now, the Ontario educational system offers no opportunity for the formation of a great teaching profession. Compare the salaries of teachers with these of lawyers, and it will easily be seen why Parkin promised that he would ance a street easily the seen why had been content until the salaries of his sasistants received a ameterial increase. Money alone, however, he believed, could never make a great school. Lives must be pound into the work to accomplish that.

The principal then went on to speak of masters' house to be built and of the one caseary to raise during the mext five years to put all this on a basis of actual fact. He referred also briefly to the Governing Board of the college, indefinedly expressing the wish that it might be absolutely non-political.

col. Denison presented the prizes to the first batch of the year's winners. Before calling the detachment up he took the opportunity of delivering a brief review of the situation with regard to Upper Canada College. He paid a glowing tribute to Dr. Parkin at the outset. In his own day at Upper Canada, he said, the great duty insisted upon was punctuality, and in the last twenty years Col. Denison-challenged anyone to assert that he had ever been caught 40 seconds behind the hour in open'ng his court in the morning. To be honest, truthful, manly and loyal were the lessons that boys should be taught. Col. Denison concluded with a reference to the English Public schools in comparison with Upper Canada College.

Mr. O. A. Howland, in presenting a prize of his own donation, also gave a short speech on college topics. Bishop Sullivan, on presenting the Macdonald prize to Mr. Morrison, the winner of the cross-country run, made a speech that was witty and content by turns and interesting nufferning.

of Manitoba, had a pleasant surprise in store for the college. He announced, after much persuaston from Dr. Parkin, that he would present to the college the sword which Col. Dunn wore at Balaclava through the charge of the Light Brigade, and the Victoria Cross he won on the same occasion by his bravery. The sword, which is known as "the Wolfe Sword," has a romantid and chequered history. Mr. Patterson rescued these valuable relies from a New York auctioneer at an expense to himself, as Dr. Parkin explained afterwards, when thanking him for the gift, of about $1200. Dr. Parkin was warm in his profession of gratitude to Hon, Mr. Patterson for the high ideal that would thus be kept continually before the eyes of the boys of Upper Canada.

Mr. Young then explained the conditions under which the raising of the Martland scholarship had been effected. Mr. Martland was not present himself, but in his absence Mr. Young gave a splendid account of him and his work as a master. Mr. Kingsmill, Q.C., accepted, as chairman of the board, the gift of the Old Boys in an appropriate speech, and when Prof. Wallace of Victoria, as an Old 20y himself, had also spoken, the meeting came to a close with the singing of "God Save the Queen."

The Darky Was Right

The hook of good tailoring is in making a suit for the individual customer that is intended for the individual.

The individual chooses, if possible, his vocation in life in accordance with his ability and tastes. He only makes a mistake when he strives to have his talents fit into a round in place of a square hole. One will carry about with him the marks of a poorly dressed man if he insists on wearing clothes made for the other fellow, and not for himself.

What is thought of fit in this store is illustrated in a letter that we prize highly, written on cutter's paper. It is as follows:

Head Cutter. Hobberlin Bros., Toronto:

Dear Sir,—
I am told that you are very successful in the outling informing me the system you use, and what you would different the system you want to would be successful.

We give care to the cutting-in other words to the fit-that clothes made here may give satisfaction to customers. Of course they cost a little more than cheap stuff in Ready-Mades, but they last long enough to make them the best value in the end-whilst a source of satisfaction during their whole period of wear.

The Hobberlin Custom-Mades cover all-the defects and pecularities of form, They are made with a degree of finish that is not common to Ready-Mades by whatever name known. Skilled cut-ters and high-class workpeople only are employed. The sweat shop is not a factor in Hobberlin Custom-Made. A Hobberlin Custom-Made is the best value in clothing the country produces. value in clothing the country produces. Those who have tested our work say so. What better proof can we ask?

That is a reasonable rule, "But it will not be a demonstration," said Mr. Spence. "We are not going to storm the Government. There is, I believe, a rule in vogue in Great Britain, under which the number of persons who may have audience with the Government at one time is limited. That is a rasonable rule, and we prohibitionists intend to abide by it."

Heroism of Lord and Lady Cromer.

It is this that has caused the English Government to decide that the time, has come to proclaim the protectorate over Egypt before there can be any question of an international conference, or of the production of the Sultan's concessions to France. Realizing that no time was to be lost, she hurried back Lord Cromer to Cairo, he being the one strong man of sufficient force and resolution to take charge of the process of annexation of the land of the Nile, which he has practically ruled as British Plenipotentiary for fourteen years. His wife was dying here at the moment when it became necessary for him to return to his post. Knowing that her days were numbered, and being passionately devoted to her, he was reluciant to leave her, and wished to resign in order to remain with her to the last. With rare heroism and patriotism the dying peers would not hear of his abandoning his post. She insisted on traveling out with him to Egypt, condemned as she was by the physicians at the time, and breathed her last in her husband's arms a few days after her arrival at Cairo. Such a sacrifice on the part of Lord and Lady Cromer would hardly have been necessary were not vast Lational interests at stake.

There is every reason to believe that the German Emperor is cognizant of this projected move on the part of Great Britain, and that his approval was obtained last summer at the time of the mysterious conferences between Arthur Balfour and the Ferman Ambassador here, concerning Hurry Orders.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 2.—The Imperieuse, the flagship of the British North Pacific squadron, is expected to sail to-morrow, following the Amphion southward. A rush order for 40 tons of provisions was placed with one of the leading merchapts to-day. The Amphion took on board one of the fastest torpedo boats on the station, and the Leander, now in dry dock, has also taken one on board. This is the first time this has been done in three years.

Awaiting Word From Marchand.
London, Nov. 2.—A semi-official note, issued this evening, relative to the reports of a settlement of the Fashoda question, says: "The matter is substantially in the same position as when the blue book and reliow book were published. It is not anticipated that France will take further action until Major Marchand's arrival at Cairo on Thursday, when explanations will be forthcoming as to his reason for leaving Fashoda."
