AMBROSE TRAINOR

Mrs. John Allen of Haymarket square received a telegram vesterday from Bandon and the was regarded as a fine soldier and a great comrade. If I should secure any further particulars I shall at once advise you at the same platoon (Sgd) J. R. PONTON, 105300 France, Sept. 1916.

Mrs. Lackie hopes that some who read this may know something about her boy's fate and communicate with her.

Mrs. John Allen of Haymarket square received a telegram yesterday from Bangor, Me., telling her of the death of her brother, Ambrose Trainor, which took place in Bangor City Hospital. Mr. Trainor was a native of Barnesville, N. Br, and was thirty-two years of agc.
Mrs. Allen left immediately for Bangor. The body will be brought back here for interment.

MRS. MARIA KEARNS Death came early this morning to Mrs. Maria Kearns at the residence of her sister, Mrs. John O'Gorman, 72 Water-loo street, after a lengthy illness. She was seventy-five years of age and had been a resident of this city for about sixty-five years, having come to St. John from Ireland. She was the widow of Anthony Kearns. The funeral will of Anthony Kearns. The funeral will take place on Monday morning.

Their Idea of Safety First. Halifax had a little submarine scare again this week. They have them every once in a while, but this time they were determined to take no chance. The port must be protected against the underwater pirates, they decided. But how? Then a bright thought struck somebody. Nothing easier. Just put out the street lights and order the citizens to draw their blinds and no submarine could ever find the city. No sooner said than done, and the orders were sent out and the street lights died away. And there they city lay hidden from her secret focs, absolutely hidden, if one overlooked the fact that the hunter's moon at its fullest gleamed in the sky above. There lay the city bathed in the brilliant rays of the moon, but the harbor authorities were satisfied and the citizens went to bed secure in the conviction of their safety. No, dear reader, the ostrich has not been adopted as the official emblem of our sister city. Ought it to be? Well, that's another question.
