Thirty years ago housewives asked grocers whether the sugar was beet sugar or cane sugar and often insisted on the latter. Today everyone realizes that beet and cane sugar are equally good. In a few years nobody will trouble to ask if the  is made from cow's milk alone or cow's milk with cocoanut added

SWEET NUT is a delicious churning of the white inside of the occoanut with pasteurized milk It tastes just like  and only costs you about half as much. The law does not permit us to color it like  and it comes to you white, just like the cocoanut from which it is made, but a few drops of pure vegetable  color worked into it will give it the appearance of fresh June . NOTE—An Order-in-council dated from Ottawa, Aug. 30, 1920, forbids us to use in any advertising of Sweet Nut the word represented by asterisks in the above. Your intelli-gence will, however, easily supply this missing word.
