

Statute the establishment was conducted until April, 1853, when the University was divided into two Institutions, one retaining the title of the "University of Toronto," and the other styled "University College, Toronto." The first of these Institutions is formed on the model of the University of London, its functions being limited to prescribing subjects of examination for Degrees, Scholarships, Prizes, and Certificates of Honor, examining candidates therein, and conferring such Degrees and distinctions.

University College has adopted the courses prescribed by the University of Toronto, and in its lectures are given on the subjects appointed for Candidates for the Degree of B.A., and for the Diplomas in Civil Engineering and Agriculture.
