

Mrs. Gwynne's Sister.

"It is quite useless waiting for me, Fred. It will take at least an hour to overhaul my machine and adjust those confounded bearings. You'd better run on to St. Albans and order a rattling good dinner for two at the George. By the time I'm ready, I shall be with you again."

"No doubt, very soon get your mount put right." "Oh, but if I allow you to spend anything upon me it must only be as a loan. No, please don't interrupt—My brother must, and will be only too happy to settle with you. Besides, the girl continued, with a smile, "whatever would he say to me if I allowed a perfect stranger to spend money upon me?" "He'd say it served me right for my carelessness. But you will allow me, then, to see you made comfortable somewhere while I try to repair damages?"

"Really, I don't see what else I can do, under the circumstances," was the answer, with a little sigh, as if of regret. Then, with a light laugh and a mock-menacing tone, she added: "Oh, but won't I make it warm for brother Dick when we meet. A deal he cares about me. You see, he hasn't even troubled to run back to find out whether I've broken my neck or not—and, between you and me, he hates the idea of lost ground. But let us be moving, Mr.—Mr.—"

"A little hesitation, some apparent embarrassment, one half-sly glance at me, and my heart was no longer my own. I knew I was, even all ready, madly in love with pretty Miss Gwynne." "Fred Brandon—quite, at your service." "Well, Mr. Brandon, there's turning half a mile down the road which will take us to just the place we want. Then you will be able to run on to St. Albans to get what you need for my machine. There's no place nearer, and I'm afraid you will be very glad when you have done with such a very troublesome companion as I am proving."

Point, Salt Lake Bay, Chaloupa Bay, Health Point, Fox Bay, Bear Bay, Macdonald Cove, East Bay and back to English Bay. They found much better harbor accommodation than they had expected. Wherever the Island was cleared there was good arable land, the hay seen by them being generally very good and four to five feet high. Horses seemed to flourish there, and the cattle a dense wood covered some million and a half of acres, and so far as they could get into it, the swarms of flies and mosquitoes at this season of the year, it seemed to contain good deal of average size pines, spruce and birch, which will be more fully inspected however in the month of September.
