Michael Buckley died suddenly at the home of his son, Brook Street, yesterday, after a short illness of pneumonia. Heart failure was the immediate cause of death. Mr. Buckley leaves, besides his son, one brother, Thomas Buckley of 44 Harrison Street, from whose home the funeral will take place at 8:45 a. m. Tuesday. Mr. Buckley was 59 years of age and was a woods as it is to get fire to a house. But the former offense is often the greater, for it is easier to replace a house than a forest.

The McVay's father and son, who have a two-thirds interest in the water works contract under discussion, say that they propose to carry on the work with energy and dispatch; and that they hope to complete it before winter. As this is exactly what the city desires, and what the contractors have agreed to do, perhaps it would be as well for the city not to insist on an increase in the contract price.

ONE COMPENSATION FOR TEACHERS.

The city schools resume operations this week, after two months' suspension of activity. Compared with some other callings, the profession of teaching gives small rewards and demands strenuous service. But the teachers' summer vacation is longer than those enjoyed by workers in other fields of service. A fortnight is regarded as a fair allowance for employees in business establishments, or for the professional class generally. The average man of business who is master of his own time, takes less than two weeks' holiday in a year. Most mechanics take their holidays at their own expense or do without them.

The strain on the teacher's mind and body is great, and the vacation is doubtless needed. But the profession which allows to its members the Saturday rest, and the summer holidays which they need, has its consolations. Many people need more rest than they get.

By the ambitious and industrious teacher the summer holidays are not given over to idleness. Some go to the seashore and add to their stock of technical knowledge. Some pursue in the country their studies in natural history, or bring up other work in which they may be deficient. It is a great opportunity to pursue nature studies under pleasant circumstances, without feeling the need of recreation and exercise.—Sun

REV. WICHER'S FAREWELL.
Said Good By to St. Stephens' Church Congregation Last Evening—Is Going to California.

A meeting of the session of St. Stephens' Presbyterian Church was held yesterday at the conclusion of the morning service. It was decided to call a meeting of the congregation on the 4th of September to choose a new pastor for the church. A committee of three will probably be appointed.

The church service was held at both services yesterday as this was the last day of the present pastor, Rev. E. A. Wicher, who leaves on Tuesday by the U. S. R. for his new field in California.

The reverend gentleman made no reference to his departure at the morning service but in the evening preached a farewell sermon. With reference to his approaching departure Mr. Wicher said:

"I know that you will not misunderstand me if I do not repeat any of those things which I said to you a few weeks ago, when announcing my intention of accepting a call to San Francisco; but I must thank you for the sympathetic way in which you have received my departure. During the past weeks I have not heard one word of condemnation from any member of St. Stephens' congregation, not one word of suspicion of the sincerity of my motives. I think there is none of you who doubts that if I had followed my first impulse I should have elected to remain with you, and that I am going from the pastorate to the professorate because I believe it to be my duty to do so."

And it is well that the church has this confidence in its minister. In the minds of many men, faith in religion itself is almost inseparably interwoven with faith in the sincerity and uprightness of the minister. If men should ever come to think that the ministry of the church of Christ was moved chiefly by the love of money or the desire for personal comfort, it would destroy their faith in Christianity itself.

The text of the evening, found in I Cor. XV, 18th verse, and which contained his farewell message was as follows: "Be ye therefore steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

Harry McLaughlin, one of the promoters of the Grand Falls Development and Power Co., which secured a charter from the provincial government for the development of water power and the establishment of industries at Grand Falls, is at the Hotel. Mr. McLaughlin has been at Grand Falls for a few days looking over the situation and examining the variations in the rise and fall of the water, having heard that it was somewhat lower than in former years. Mr. McLaughlin says that the organization of the company has been completed and the necessary capital is all available. He told the Sun there was a possibility that operations would be commenced this year—"a very strong possibility, indeed." Mr. McLaughlin will remain in the city for a few days in business connected with this enterprise.

At a regular meeting of St. George Division, No. 353, Sons of Temperance, held in their rooms, Market building, on Saturday evening, Lodge Union Jack, No. 37, R. A. P. B., paid a fraternal visit. After the routine business the doors were thrown open to the public, and the following programme was carried out: Address by the chairman, John Gridley; reading by Mrs. G. T. Armstrong; solo, Miss Edwards; reading, Miss M. Leggett; speech, D. C. Fisher; solo, Miss Clark; speech, R. P. Goodrich; solo, Mr. Easty; speech, M. S. Kelly; solo, Mr. Smith, D. D. G. M.; solo, J. Sullivan; speech, Wm. McManan; address, Miss Franklin; solo, Geo. Grey. Refreshments were served and the meeting closed by singing the national anthem.

The death of Mrs. Jane Clark, widow of John Clark, removed from the parish of Simonds one of its oldest residents. Particularly at Silver Falls and vicinity, where she had resided for nearly forty years, she was greatly respected for her high Christian character. Mrs. Clark had attained the age of eighty years, and up to the last three months had enjoyed the best of health. She still be missed by Silver Falls Methodist church, where she was a constant attendant and member. Mrs. Clark leaves four children, two of whom, a son and daughter, reside at home, a son in British Columbia and a daughter in Memphis Tennessee. Her Honor Judge Carleton and Mr. Payson were driving Saturday morning behind Payson's black pony. The animal ran away, bolted across the creek bridge, and struck a building, and the other side of the creek. His honor was thrown against Smith's grocery, but when picked up was found uninjured save a bad bruise on the head and a few bruises. Mr. Payson escaped by jumping. The judge had a close call—Woodstock Sentinel.

FOREST FIRES.
Forest fires have been destroying property at a rapid rate in the Maritime Provinces during the past few days. A valuable mill at Newville, near Parrsboro, with a quantity of lumber, was destroyed on Sunday, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. The loss by the destruction of mills on the Meduxnekeg, in Carleton county, is placed at $30,000. It is possible to value these properties. But from various parts of the province come reports of fires in the woods which are destroying live timber ready for the axe, and all the small trees which would become timber within the lifetime of the present generation. In many places these fires are destroying the land as well. Where the soil is a thin covering over the rock, though sufficient for the production and maintenance of a forest, and always growing deeper while the forest remains, the fire turns to ashes all that is combustible, leaving the remainder crumbled to dust. Then the wind blows it away, the rains and the floods wash it down to the hollows and into the streams, and there is left the bare rock or piles of boulders. Such areas are unfortunately not rare in this province, where once thrifty forests stood. Each forest fire is increasing these desert spaces. As yet very little has been done for forest protection. Public sentiment has hardly reached the point when it is considered as much a crime to start a fire in the

FOREST FIRES.
Forest fires have been destroying property at a rapid rate in the Maritime Provinces during the past few days. A valuable mill at Newville, near Parrsboro, with a quantity of lumber, was destroyed on Sunday, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. The loss by the destruction of mills on the Meduxnekeg, in Carleton county, is placed at $30,000. It is possible to value these properties. But from various parts of the province come reports of fires in the woods which are destroying live timber ready for the axe, and all the small trees which would become timber within the lifetime of the present generation. In many places these fires are destroying the land as well. Where the soil is a thin covering over the rock, though sufficient for the production and maintenance of a forest, and always growing deeper while the forest remains, the fire turns to ashes all that is combustible, leaving the remainder crumbled to dust. Then the wind blows it away, the rains and the floods wash it down to the hollows and into the streams, and there is left the bare rock or piles of boulders. Such areas are unfortunately not rare in this province, where once thrifty forests stood. Each forest fire is increasing these desert spaces. As yet very little has been done for forest protection. Public sentiment has hardly reached the point when it is considered as much a crime to start a fire in the
