

Is Making a Fight Against a Plague of "Mashers"

After a Mother and a Telephone Operator Complain of Conditions and Asking to Be Corrected.

Sept. 6.—Chicago is treated daily in Chicago's downtown streets. "No girl, no even, is immune, and advances. The principal scene of the 'masher' activities, says...

"I am a telephone operator in a downtown office and would like to ask if the Record-Herald can't do something for me as well as for hundreds of other working girls of the city."

"Every day when I go to and from work I and many other girls are compelled to stand for the insults of loafers, who approach us in vulgar language. They stand at the street corners and make insulting remarks and even follow girls for blocks. It is not only young snobs who do this but old ones."

"These men congregate on the street corners in broad daylight as well as at night. I have had men force their attentions upon me and walk beside me for blocks, making insulting remarks. When I would say I would call a policeman they would laugh at me."

"Chicago's amusement parks, and even the city parks, were found to be congested with 'mashers.' A major portion of these men without visible means of support."

"The 'mashing' is not directed at young girls only. These men mark middle aged women as much for their prey. At the recent National Educational Association Convention school teachers made frequent complaints."

"One, a middle aged woman from down State, was 'approached' on a street car by a man, who grabbed her by the arm and spoke insultingly to her. She was forced to use her hands upon his head to release herself."

"The nicest theaters in the loop are particular rendezvous for 'mashers.' Outside these picture places crowds of these men congregate and accost girls and women, entering or leaving."

The Oldest Doctor in America Doesn't Think a Whole Lot of Modern Doctors and Their Ways

Fremont, O., Sept. 2.—"Modern medical theories may, perhaps, be all right," says Dr. Peter Beaugrand, "but before the time of these bright young doctors were born, we cured patients just the same."

"Nobody knew anything about germs then, or aseptic surgery, or pasteurizing, or serums or a lot of other new-fangled things. But we got along just about as well, I guess. We kept things clean, and used plenty of hot water and good, old-fashioned physic and lotions."

Dr. Beaugrand is qualified to speak on the subject. Fifty years ago he reorganized the military hospital at Fort Ethan Allen, in accordance with the best sanitary science of his day. He is the oldest physician in the United States, and the oldest man on Uncle Sam's pension list.

The aged doctor has an office in his home, and still writes an occasional prescription for a friend. Up to five years ago he took the same care of his garden as his plea-

LIGHTNING IN WEST REGARDED AS CURIOUS

One Bolt Turns Oregon Milk Into Cottage Cheese—An- other Splits a Cord of Wood to Splinters.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 6.—Milkmen and joy riders were in luck here this week, for they were treated to one of the most brilliant electrical storms in the history of the Northwest.

It seems that the unsentimental person employed by the Department of Agriculture to make books on the local climate from time to time had gone home some hours earlier wearied by weeks of hot and hard work. Which, of course, left the old weather wagon without a chauffeur, janitor or head waiter. The rough house in the mixing chamber started soon after the cafes and roadhouses had stopped selling prosperity in square meals and were serving the beer and highballs in monogrammed coffee cups.

The first trouble with the weather engine was a fusillade of heavy backing. The great masses of black clouds piling up in the western foothills seemed to have an awful load on more than they could carry, and began spilling the lightning all over the First ward. The thunder clutched the engine and the water wagon was struck by the lightning all over the season. Numerous thoughtful persons have reported a variety of freakish stunts negotiated by the lightning.

No particular damage was done, but it was a spectacle that deserved more than a one-night stand even in the off season. Numerous thoughtful persons have reported a variety of freakish stunts negotiated by the lightning.

It struck a light switch (presumably blonde) in Council Crest and left a perceptible odor of burning hair for two hours around the place.

The artillery kept up almost incessantly for an hour and a half, and great sheets and shafts of bluish white lightning rent and twisted the angry clouds into all sorts of fantastic contortions.

It struck a cord of wood in front of a new house on Willamette Heights and buried most of it into the basement.

"MORE, Mother!"

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

Everybody wants more—the flavor is so good. And mother knows that COWAN'S is good for them—old and young—because it is Cocoa in its purest form.

Cowan's Perfection Cocoa has no added flavoring. Its delicious flavor is obtained by using only the highest grade of cocoa beans, and being careful to remove every particle of husk or shell. That is the reason that there is no bitter taste to Cowan's—and no sediment.

There is nothing the children can eat or drink that will give them more real nourishment.

Sept. 6.—When Mrs. Toth faced each week of the Hamburg Steamship President vessel was about to open for Bremen a most extraordinary reached a dramatic moment.

"I am convinced that cream, by overloading the skin and pores, tend to age the complexion. Mercorized wax has just the opposite effect. It keeps the pores clean, permitting them to breathe, and removes dead particles of cuticle which are constantly appearing and which give the complexion that faded look. Whenever my skin begins to get the least bit off-color, I use Mercorized wax."

"Before I had taken one half a bottle of it I began to feel better, and I have continued taking it. My health is better than it has been for several years. If all women would take it they would escape untold pain and misery at this time of life."

White Oak, Ont.—"At Change of Life when doctors could do no more and I was given up by my friends, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to the front and did wonders for me. I recommend your Compound highly and do all I can to advertise it as a genuine woman's medicine."

GIRL PUTS TONGS ON VERGE OF WAR

$4,000 Slave is Recaptured After Being Kidnapped in San Francisco and Smug- gled to Portland, Oregon.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 6.—For the theft of a Chinese slave girl who is known to the local Oriental world as Toy Sun, and who is said to have been brought here recently from San Francisco to be sold to a local Chinese merchant of much wealth, warlike Chinese tongs are about to clash, according to information obtained in the Chinese quarter.

According to report, the girl was being fed and cared for through the bars of a tiny prison far under the building where she was smuggled in a taxibus upon her arrival here. The sale was to have been made for $4,000, a large price for a woman, even among the Chinese, but her extraordinary beauty enabled her to command the sum.

The girl, it is said, had a sweetheart in San Francisco, and when he learned of her capture and kidnapping he applied to the police for aid. Several hatchet men were assigned to prevent her captors from smuggling her out of San Francisco, but despite their efforts she was put on board a steamer and carried north, disguised as a cook's helper. Fear of instant death prompted her to carry on her own, and she was quickly taken to her cell on her arrival here.

The Hop Sing Tong is suspected of the abduction, and it is said that warfare in San Francisco is more likely than here, for the Hop Sing Tong are not strong here, being far outnumbered by the Hop Sing.

For five days a girl was held in captivity here. Then her sweetheart located her after a three days search through local Chinatown and she was freed.

When the Hop Sing men discovered the loss of their prize they started a search and declared war. Notice was sent to the south to be on the lookout for the men and the girl.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND
HAS RIGHT TO WHIP

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 6.—"He's my husband, isn't he? And hasn't he got a right to whip me if he wants to?" said Mrs. Boney Headington, young and pretty, to Police Judge Turner, in court here. Her father, Dr. C. E. Adams, recently took Mrs. Headington to a cafe for an evening. Headington appeared and attempted to horse-whip his wife.

Adams fired two shots at Headington and nearly struck his daughter, who jumped in front of her husband to protect him. Learning soon after that Headington had brought a revolver to use on him, Adams had Headington arrested for carrying concealed weapons. It was at his trial that Mrs. Headington announced her plans.

"Father tried to shoot Boney," said Mrs. Headington. "I understood your husband used a horse-whip on you, and that your father shot at him to defend you."

Jack Frost's Master McCLARY'S "Sunshine" Furnace

Jack Frost had the time of his life last winter. He warred against all elements and froze them stiff. Lakes and rivers he turned into solids; he also put a razor-like edge on the wind. He even bit into steel rails making them as brittle as burned glass. Outside, Jack reigned supreme, but his chilly majesty was licked to a frazzle inside by "The Understudy of the Sun"—McClary's "Sunshine" Furnace.

Think of the past winter when the mercury swung timidly below the freezing point—not for a day or a week, but for months at a time. How you shivered, coal, and how you talked about the appetite of that poor old furnace in the cellar. It simply ate up when it came to heating the house evenly and comfortably.

McClary's "Sunshine" Furnace makes the most of very little fuel, and distributes a much greater percentage of heat throughout house than the ordinary furnace.

Asbes cannot bank up between the active fire and the walls of the fire-pot in the "Sunshine" Furnace. It is an absolute guarantee of balmy June weather in the home, when Jack Frost's icy garments are jingling in the Arctic cold without. That's why the "Sunshine" is called "The Ice King's Master."

The "Sunshine" Furnace is an excellent investment—it will last a life-time with ordinary care—and return you a handsome interest on the investment every year by the actual saving it effects.

Now, we want you to do us a favor—we want you to call on the McClary agent and ask him to prove every claim we make for the "Sunshine" Furnace—ask him to prove every claim true.

Ask him to show you—the fuel-saving features of the "Sunshine"—The mechanical reasons which make balmy healthy June weather possible in the home when Jack Frost is in his element without—Why the "Sunshine" saves money which other furnaces burn up, and—Why the largest makers of furnaces in the British Empire so amply and so fearlessly guarantee the "Sunshine"—The Understudy of the Sun.

Your decision will please us and pay you. If you don't know the McClary agent, write us at our nearest address.

MAINE DEMOCRATS GIVE ODDS ON FIGHT

Begin to Hedge, However, and Come Down from 2 to 1 to 10 to 8—Big Vote is Pre- dicted.

Augusta, Maine, Sept. 6.—Maine will cast a bigger vote next Monday than has ever been cast in the State, say the party leaders. In 1880 the vote for Governor was 147,802, and that year General Harry M. Plisted, father of the present Governor, was elected by 109 votes. In no election since that time has the vote been as large.

Two years ago the vote was 141,064 and Frederick W. Plisted's plurality was $,000. Four years ago 142,000 votes were cast and Bert M. Fernald's plurality was 7,000.

The present campaign has been fought even more vigorously than either of the two that immediately preceded it. For the first time in twenty years the democratic party is organized in every city, town and plantation, and for the first time the full democratic vote will be registered.

The new men at the head of the Republican machine are ambitious to win to prove that the old guard are not necessary to the management of the party's affairs. Under these circumstances, it is believed the vote will be unusually heavy.

In 1880, when 147,802 ballots were cast, the population of the state was 648,938. According to the last census it is 742,371, or nearly 100,000 greater.

The strain of the campaign now being waged is indicated by the collapse of Representative Ansberry, of Ohio, at Farmington last week. He was taken to Augusta and an operation performed. He is now improving. His illness was aggravated by his continuous speaking engagements and automobile riding.

All of the speakers know the tremendous strain they are under. Governor Plisted suffered an illness at Bangor, and it was feared he would be obliged to cancel some of his engagements, but after half a day of rest he took the road again and has kept it. He will close the campaign next Saturday evening with addresses at Gardiner, Hallowell and Augusta, the last his home city.

The campaign has reached the betting stage. The democrats are giving odds, but they have changed from two to one to ten to eight, and in many cases to even money. Partisans on both sides show a disposition to bet to the extent of their resources.

DOG KILLS SNAKE TO PROTECT FAWN

Sportsman Who Sees Deer Despatch Monster "Rattler" Says He Will "Hunt" with Camera in Future.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 6.—The deer family has several reasons to regret that Charles O'Connor, of Rossford, had time to get out into the hills this summer. O'Connor shares that regret to some extent and vows that next season he will leave his rifle at home and go deer chasing with a camera.

O'Connor always was impressionable, and it was a lady deer that changed the tide of his ambition. It was near Bonville, O'Connor, eyes glued to a pair of fine glasses, discovered, in a clearing below him, a beautiful doe at play with a fawn. Suddenly doe and fawn stiffened into motionless figures. A great rattlesnake had invaded their playground and was poised within a few feet of the fawn ready to strike. The fawn was paralyzed with fear.

O'Connor could hear the rattling of the snake and was waiting for the strike when the doe suddenly bounded feet up a bunch on the snake and as quickly bounded away. This was repeated a half dozen times. The fawn gazed at the play with a fascinated gaze. The doe gently gave her attention to the fawn, licked its face and with her head gently shoved, frightened baby deer to a safe distance from the dying snake. This done the doe resumed her attentions to the snake.
