

Heaton, Anne. See Irwin, Hannah
 Helter Skelter Club, 11
 Hishop, John, carrier, 27
 Howgate Inn, 7

Inn charges in Scotland, 7, 431
 Introduction, Author's, ix
 Irwin, Hannah, 255; Lady Penelope's interest in, 349; her part confession, 352; removed to Mr. Cargill's house, 413; her confession to Mr. Cargill, 416

JACK, Saunders, his nuisance, 391
 Jehyl, Captain, letters from Etherington, 262, 265, 269; his reply, 286; interview with Tyrrel, 305; bored by Touchwood, 321; his report to Lord Etherington, 329; suspicious of him, 340; summons Touchwood, 344; warns Mowbray, 365
 Jones, Lady Penelope's maid, 75; frightened by Mowbray, 374
 Joseph, deaf gardener, 407

KETTLE of fish. See Fish, kettle of Killnakeety Hunt, 10

MACGONNAN, Dr., 70, 432
 M'Intoshes, motto of, 255
 MacTurk, Captain, 34; incites Sir Bingo, 80, 121; his encounter with Meg Doda, 124; delivers Sir Bingo's challenge, 128; asks Winterhlossom to act second to Tyrrel, 130; at the rendezvous, 134; signs the 'statement,' 139; in the Highland dress, 211; his wrath at the false Highlanders, 225; apologises to Tyrrel, 337; discussion with Touchwood on affairs of honour, 371; seconds Mowbray, 426
 Mago-Pico, 172, 433
 Marchlorn, 141
 Martha, Clara's maid, 115, 401
 Martigny. See Tyrrel, Frank
 Martigny, Marie de, 266
 Melkewham, the lawyer, 33; snubbed by Lady Penelope, 64; rakes up an old charge against Tyrrel, 84; his advice to Mowbray, 104; protests against Mowbray's extravagance, 189

Meredith, Mr., the wit, 35
Midsummer Night's Dream, at Shaws Castle, 218

Mowbray, Clara, described by Meg Doda, 21; Lady Penelope's account of, 62; appears at the Well, 74, 77; invites the company to Shaws Castle, 77; reproaches Tyrrel, 86; interview with him, 94; with her brother, 114; rumoured marriage of, 184; acts Helena, 218; tells her brother about the shawl, 238; is told of Etherington's expected visit, 248; interview with him, 257; relations with Tyrrel and Etherington, 265, 306, 417; her false marriage, 276, 417; Hannah Irwin's confession regarding her, 352; slandered, 373; last interview with her brother, 390; threatened by him, 393; her flight, 412; appears before Hannah Irwin, 419; before Tyrrel, 420; her death, 422

Mowbray, Mr. Scrogie, 195, 390
 Mowbray, Squint, 30; bets on the salmon, 40; his prejudice against Tyrrel, 53, 84; prepares to receive the company, 102; in consultation with Melkewham, 106; asks Clara for her money, 114; gambles with Etherington, 180; is acquainted with his proposal regarding Clara, 194; is told about the shawl, 238; his sarcasm about it, 242; presides at the dinner, 243; has a letter from Etherington, 247; tells Clara of his proposed visit, 248; receives the anonymous warning, 256; pursues the messenger, 257; shows the note to Etherington, 262; ruined by him, 366; hears of the slander against Clara, 373; his wild ride, 379; last interview with Clara, 380; throws away the hunting-knife, 385, 409; surprised by Touchwood, 390; alarmed on Clara's account, 406; searches for her, 407; shoots Etherington, 425; subsequent career, 427

Mowbray family, 5

NABOB. See Touchwood, Peregrine
 Novels, domestic, ix

PAROCHIAL charity, 355, 434
 Patrick, Mowbray's servant, 380; astonished by Touchwood, 401
 Peafeather, Lady Penelope, foundress of the Well, 22, 56; a leader of society, 30; her letter of invitation to Tyrrel, 46; patronises him, 56, 60; skirmish with Lady Binks, 61; entertains Clara, 74; acts Hermia, 219; misleads Cargill, 227; tries to get information from him, 234; her curiosity, 336; in search of Mowbray, 344; takes Etherington to Hannah Irwin, 349; her feminine malice, 365; her tea-party, 369

Piquet, 189

Pott, Mrs., of the post-office, 334
 Puck, in the Shaws Castle theatricals, 222; gives information to Jehyl, 327

QUACKLEBEN, Dr., 32; makes himself agreeable to Mrs. Blower, 67, 75; and the duel, 132, 137; his rider to the 'statement,' 139; gives up the part of Wall, 212; married, 426

'REFINED himself,' etc., 235

ST. RONAN'S, village, 1; castle, 3; manse, 4, 175; spa, 22, 30, 428
St. Ronan's Well, novel, ix; original form of chap. xxxviii, 429
 Scotland, runs in, 7, 431; general improvements in, 155
 Scrogie family, 195, 390