
A SPLENDID SOCIETY NOVEL

The Bolted Door

By GEORGE GIBBS, author of "Tony's Wife," etc. Illustrated by the author. 12mo. Cloth,
$1.25 net.

The story of an ambitious young inventor and a young society girl, who are forced into marriage by the will of an eccentric millionaire uncle.

"Fresh, strong, and irresistibly interesting."—New York World.

"One of the most attractive novels which has appeared for a long time. Holds the interest breathless all the time and ends with a most satisfactory rush of happiness."—Boston Globe.

"A clever, fascinating love story."—Detroit News.

"Bright, exciting, and decidedly up-to-date. The characters are sharply drawn and well contrasted, and the background of social opulence well colored. It is decidedly worth reading. Sure to be a best seller."—Springfield Republican.

"A rattling good story. Wholesome, sweet-spirited, well planned, absorbing."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"Admirably constructed. Interesting episodes succeed each other and the frothy and clever dialogue of the fashionable butterflies of the New York smart set is wittily flippant and amusing. It is a capital novel. The real depths of human feeling are treated with fine emotional power."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"The most distinguished society novel for a long time and one of the most dramatic."—Hartford Courant.

"As up-to-date as the steam yacht. More than ordinarily pleasing."—Brooklyn Eagle.
