Hon. Mr. Robinson Calls Liberals to Action in Stirring Speech

A. F. BENTLEY. The Opposition Candidate.

Allister F. Bentley, of St. Martins is to be the Liberal standard-bearer in the forthcoming by-election. The decision was unanimously reached at a through the efforts of Mr. Pugsley, Mr. convention of Liberal workers held last night at Berryman's Hall. Other than $130,000 a year through the additional subsidy, and the present government received the first full payment of this sum. It swelled the revenue of this the name of Mr. Bentley the names of Donovan and Cochrane were before the meeting, but the two last retired in favor of the successful province to more than $1,000,000, yet candidate, who received the enthusistill they could not carry on ministration without a deficit.

Among those present at the meeting were Hon. C. W. Robinson, who ad-dressed the gathering in a ringing speech, and James Bowell, M.P.P., who acted in the capacity of chairman. Upon the meeting coming to order, F. Johnstone moved that Mr. Lowell take the chair.

The name of J. M. Donovan was then placed in nomination by Flemming Johnstone, but the councillor declined in a neat speech, during the course of which he referred to his duties as a member of the county council, which added to the fact of his otherwise being a busy man, he thought was enough to debar him from the nomination He had great pleasure, however, in nominating a colleague of his at the council board in the person of Councillor Cochrane.

Coun. Cochrane Declines

Coun, Cochrane also declined, however, to allow his name to be put in nomination. He recited several versions for this course, but assured the could not do that they legislate them ting of his hearty support of the out. (Cheers). Wherever a Liberal Alliston F. Magistrate's Decision in the Crocket Assault Case

Upset

FREDERICTON, N. B., June 29-Judge Wilson, at the County Court this morning, delivered judgment in the appeal case of Hanson and Crocket. Honor read a written judgment. After citing generally the evidence produced before Police Magistrate Marsh and commenting on the finding there rendered, he said that the magistrate was in error in the assumption that an assault upon a member of parliament differed from an assault upon a private individual, that the laws drew no distinction. He upheld the decision that Crocket should be allowed his mileage from Ottawa and expenses, which amounted to $55, but considered the sentence for assault, one month gaol, more severe than the case demanded. His judgment was that the finding of the police magistrate should be reversed and that Hanson be fined $20 instead of one month gaol, and $55 costs. Each party is to pay its cost of the appeal and unless the fine and costs be paid within ten days from date, Hanson should be imprisoned until the amount was paid. The substance of the decision is that instead of Hanson being confined one month in gaol and paying $55 costs, he is to pay $20 fine and $55 costs, and default of paying the $75 all told, he is to go to gaol until the amount

Judge Wilson, by his decision, expressly stated that an assault on a nember of parliament did not differ from an assault on a private individual. He agreed fully with the magistrate in finding that an assault had en committed but differed only as to the severity of the sentence.
