SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday School lesson VIII, May 23, 1920. Israel's First King, I Samuel 9:15-19:2. 9:15-21, 25-10:1.

Commentary.—I. The King Pointed Out (3:15-24). The Lord knew where to put his hand upon a man whom he could make king of Israel. Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin, was "a mighty man of power," and had a son who was "a choice young man." He was a head taller than the rest of the people. If Israel desired a powerful man as king, then surely Saul would meet their demands. It was a peculiar train of providences that brought Saul to Samuel's notice. Kish had a herd of asses, and these animals were highly prized then, and are still, in the East. They had strayed away, and naturally Saul was sent, and a servant with him, to find them. Saul failed to find the asses but he found Samuel, whom the Lord would have him meet. 15. had told Samuel in his ear.—Had revealed unto Samuel.—R. V. The Lord had told this secret to Samuel and appeared that on the day before Saul appeared to him at Ramah. 16. I will send thee a man.—While Saul was searching diligently for his father's lost animals, he did not realize that he was being sent by Jehovah to Samuel. Thus God works through his providences to accomplish his will, that he may save my people.—The king whom the Lord would give to Israel would lead them victoriously against their enemies, because their cry is come unto me.—The people of Israel were not satisfied with God's plan for their government and cried unto him for a king. They would not accept God's best for them, and he did the best that was possible for them under the circumstances. 17. Samuel saw Saul.—God's appointments were perfectly timed. Saul arrived at Ramah at the right time. Samuel was expecting the future king to appear then. Samuel would know that Saul was the man, for God at once assured him. Shall reign over my people.—Literally, "Shall restrain my people."—Under the rule of the judges "every man did that which was right in his own eyes" (Judges 21:25), but now the people of Israel were to be under the authority of a King.

18. where the seer's house is.—Saul's one desire was to learn where his father's asses were, he was seeking these and not a kingdom. He thought the seer would be able to help him locate the lost animals. 19. the high place.—Samuel had erected an altar unto the Lord (1 Sam. 7:17), and it was probably on the place here mentioned. God had said that there should be but one centre of worship but the condition of affairs in Israel was unsettled, and it may have been permissible to have altars aside from the one at the tabernacle. ye shall eat with me to-day.—Samuel had already honored Saul by bidding him go up before him, and he further honored him by acting as his host. all that is in thine heart.—Samuel would at once tell Saul about the lost asses but not until the next day would he make known to him his great work. Saul may have had some sort of intimation from within that he was to perform an important service for his nation. 20. they are found.—Saul desired to know about the lost animals and the found out, but he learned much more. Samuel was a seer, but he knew about the asses because the Lord told him, and he told him not only to relieve Saul's mind, and to assure him of the authority he had in giving him a message from the Lord, on whom is all the desire of Israel.—The desire of Israel was for a king, and since Saul was the man whom God had chosen, the people's desire was toward him, though they did not know whom God would give them. 21. the smallest of the tribe of Israel.—The tribe of Benjamin had been all but exterminated about three centuries before. 22-24. Apparently without answering Saul's questions Samuel brought him and his servant into the house and gave them the most honorable seats. At the feast, for which Samuel had previously arranged, he gave Saul a portion that was esteemed, especially choice. The right leg was the priest's portion, and would fall to Samuel. He reserved this for Saul as a mark of honor. II. Saul anointed (9:25-10:1). 25. Anointed with Saul.—Nothing is said regarding the nature of the conversation. We may reasonably suppose that they spoke of the condition and needs of the nation. Upon the top of the house—The flat roofs of Oriental houses are much used as places for rest, conversation and sleeping. It has been suggested that upon the house-top Samuel and Saul could be readily seen, and the people present would know the honor conferred upon Saul by the prophet. 26. The spring of the day.—The rising of the day, or dawn. Abroad.—Out of the house. 27. Bid the servant pass on.—That Samuel might be alone with Saul. That I may shew thee the word of God.—The time had now come for Samuel to make make fully known to Saul the fact of his divine appointment as king. 1. Vial of oil.—The Hebrew is emphatic, "the flask of oil"; probably the holy anointing oil described in Exod. 30:23-33, which Samuel had prepared for this express purpose.—Whedon. Poured it upon his head.—By this act Saul was set apart for a distinctive work.

III. Saul proclaimed king (10:1-24). As Saul was leaving Samuel he was told of three signs that would confirm to him the message he had received from the Lord through Samuel. He would meet men by Rachel's tomb who would report the finding of his father's asses. He would meet three men going up to Bethel, who would give him bread. As a third sign he would meet a company of prophets and he himself would prophesy and would be changed into another man. Samuel later called the people of Israel together at Mizpeh and explained to them that the reason a king would be given was that he had rejected God. Saul was chosen by lot as king. This was in harmony with what had already been done.

QUESTIONS.—Why did the children of Israel ask for a king? What had been the nature of the government? What directions did the Lord give Samuel regarding their directible a king? Explain how did Samuel meet Saul? How did Samuel anoint Saul? Describe the anointing of Saul? Describe the meeting at Ramah.

PRACTICAL SURVEY. This Topic.—The selection of leaders, be I. A national crisis. first II. God rejected. be I. A national crisis. Samuel wisest and holiest ruler Israel had since Joshua, was at the time our lesson advanced in life, work long years had been vitally identified with the religious and political tunes of the nation. The sons of age had witnessed his early life their earliest years, but all his energy was unable to win them over to practise of justice. They would corrupt as he was upright, and he ed aside from lucre, "perverted," as a matter of course, "perverted," the late occasion for the revolution, resulting in the establishment of monarchy. Their course not only honored themselves, but added the well-being of the nation. The advanced years of the venerable godly ruler, the unfitness of his family to succeed him, the ing evils in the administration, the possible anarchy which his death might occasion led to the step of the elders of Israel to answer their request.

II. God Rejected. The first change to a regal form of government displeased Samuel and God. age and with his spirit we can suppose Samuel to have been concerned the loss of his power, but it was a rejection of form of government which had divinely instituted, and which at distinguished and exalted Israel among the surrounding nations. Theocracy, the rule of God, is the highest form of government possible. Its refusal was virtually a rejection of God. III. A King Chosen. The threads of daily life often appear wholly unrelated or hopelessly entangled. Great events depend upon apparently trivial circumstances. God's paths all lead to broadening providences. There is both a natural and supernatural element in divine providences. There is an inner circle to his everyday working. Having bidden Samuel to grant the insistent request of the people, he brought to him the man of his choice. The natural event of the straying asses was supernaturally links in the chain of events which brought Saul to the kingdom.—W. H. C.

A Pill for Brain Workers.—The man who works with his brains is more liable to derangement of the digestive system than the man who works with his hands, because the one calls upon his nervous energy while the other applies only his muscular strength. Brain fog begets irregularities of the stomach and liver, and the best remedy that can be used is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are specially compounded for such cases and all those who use them can certify to their superior power.

Of Common Tongue. "There was one word," wrote an American Red Cross nurse serving in a French army hospital, "that we quickly learned in five languages. It was the word that came most often to the lips of sick or wounded soldiers when suffering or delirium wrung utterance from them. It is Mutter, mere, moeder, madre and mother."

As a vermicide there is no preparation that equals Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It has saved the lives of countless children.

Empire Day, Hurrah!

'Tis Empire Day.
'Tis Empire Day—
Hurrah! Hurrah!
Our Empire's way,
None gainsays—
Hurrah! Hurrah!

A colossal fact—the British Empire. There is no gainsaying the reality of Our Empire. It is astride this old planet. It looms up in every part of the world. Its flag, the symbol of Empire, our Union Jack, is fanned by the winds of every clime, and is specially saluted by many millions of people on the 24th of May, Empire Day, the wide world o'er. And at the present moment, after centuries of intrigue and struggle for the possession of Palestine by rival nations, the Cross is above the Crescent, throughout the Holy Land, and over the ancient and sacred city of Jerusalem our flag waves triumphant.

Our Empire, after passing through the fiery furnace trial and suffering of the Great War, emerged not weakened, but stronger, not lessened in territory but considerably extended. The British Empire was great before the war; it is greater still to-day. It occupies more than one quarter of the known surface of the earth, while more than one quarter of the estimated population of the world lives under the protection of the Union Jack. It is recorded that summer and winter conditions are equally divided throughout our far-flung Empire, and also that daylight and darkness are as equally proportioned. The Oldest Confection.
The greater part of black licorice is derived from Spain, where it is made from the juice of the plant and mixed with starch to prevent it from melting in hot weather. The licorice plant is a shrub that attains a height of three feet and it grows wild where its roots reach the water. It flourishes especially on the banks of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers.

Since the valley of the Euphrates contained one of the earliest civilizations in the world, the probability is that licorice is about the oldest confection in the world, and the taste which the boys and girls of to-day like so well was enjoyed by the youngsters of three thousand years ago.

A recent visitor to our shores from the Motherland, Sir Oliver Lodge, is acclaimed by all learned authorities as the greatest of living scientists, and is conceded to be the greatest original thinker of modern times. Among his many brilliant discoveries was that of the "coherer," and with his detector he devised the first practical wireless telegraph, sending signals over a distance of several hundred yards—all done long before Marconi took up the subject, and the Italian inventor undoubtedly built upon the earlier discoveries of Sir Oliver Lodge. Then in literature. Where outside of our empire can be found another Shakespeare, and such a galaxy of great, profound and brilliant writers upon every subject under the sun? African Pigmies.
The historian Herodotus, 2,500 years ago, described the African pigmies which he located near the source of the Nile. Herodotus, for once, told the truth, for it is in that region that modern explorers have found them. Stanley described them as having huge stomachs and short legs, and as "leaping about like grasshoppers." One specimen he saw was a full-grown young woman, three inches short of three feet in height, but "perfectly formed and of a glistening sleekness of body, with absurdly large eyes."

ERNEST SMITH TALKS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Quebec Man, Grateful for the Benefit He Has Received, Pays Tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Grand Pabos, West Que., May 17th, (Special).—Mr. Ernest Smith, a highly respected resident here, is one of the many who have abiding faith in Dodd's Kidney Pills as a remedy for sick kidneys. "I have suffered from my kidneys," Mr. Smith says, "and I read that Dodd's Kidney Pills were good, so I tried them. They have helped me so much that I will continue to use them when my kidneys trouble me." The kidneys require constant attention if good health is to be maintained and serious disease averted. The kidneys perform a most important work in the human system. They strain all the impurities, all the seeds of disease, out of the blood. When they are weak and unable to do their work the system clogs and sickness is the inevitable result. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for weak, diseased or diseased kidneys.

Lion's Head in Fountains.
The original reason for the choice of lion's head in public fountains where the water comes out of a lion's mouth was, remarks an exchange, that among the ancient Egyptians the rising of the waters of the Nile, which was the most important event of the year, meaning life and prosperity to the whole nation, always took place when the sun was in the constellation of Leo. The lion's head on fountains is a symbol of the life giving waters of the Nile.
