Roman Indignation.
On the feast of Pope St. Innocent, recently, High Mass was celebrated in the cathedral of St. Lawrence in Rome. The celebration was very large. The speaker of the day was the Cardinal Bishop of Porto and Ostia, the second and of St. Lawrence, and the monument to another and a later martyr, Pelagius, Bishop of Porto and Ostia, was the subject of his discourse. The Holy Father delivered himself in a recent sermon on the aims of the Church, as living on the aims of the Holy Spirit in His Kingdom. What he most observed as remarkable in the address was the attention to the welfare of the people, and the attention to the welfare of the people, and the attention to the welfare of the people.

Letter from the Duke of Devonshire.
The following is a letter from the Duke of Devonshire to the Duke of Wellington, dated 11th January 1883. The Duke of Devonshire writes that he has been thinking much about the state of the country, and the state of the country, and the state of the country. He writes that he has been thinking much about the state of the country, and the state of the country, and the state of the country.
