Strange Will and Testament.

ASHES TO FERTILIZE POTATOES.
 LONDON (By Canadian Press)—Many peculiar wills find their way through the Probate Court, but few of them can compare with the strange will of James Campbell Christie, an ex-schoolmaster and science teacher, of Kilmalling Street, Calcutta, Glasgow, who died recently, leaving an estate valued at $3,440. Christie bequeathed his personal clothing and bed clothes to the Old Men and Women's Home, Glasgow, and "if not accepted" to the Charity Organization Society, or to any really ascetic or deserving persons whose circumstances were well known to any of the trustees of his estate, with a strong preference in favor of total abstainers, non-smokers and unbelievers in any religion. People who wasted or had wasted money in alcohol or tobacco did not deserve charitable assistance, his will stated. The utmost simplicity was to be observed in his funeral, Christie stipulated. No hearse was to be used, but a plain carriage, with the box underneath, "or any simpler or less expensive way" of conveying his body to the crematorium. He had paid the cremation fee several years in advance of his death. He wished no one to waste time by attending his funeral. He desired that his ashes should not be preserved, but disposed of by the crematorium management, or "used by any of my trustees or others to fertilize their potatoes."

Central American Revolution.

Nicaragua Rebels Against President Diego—Belfast Shamed by Many Crimes—Women Perished When Egypt's Boats Were Rushed.

EVOLUTION IN NICARAGUA.

MR. FATALLY SHOT.
 BELFAST, May 22.—Mr. J. Twaddell, a member of the Northern Parliament, was shot here this morning fatally.

AGAINST MACAROW DISMISSED.
 MONTREAL, May 22.—The charge against Macarow of wilfully giving false evidence to the Minister of Finance was dismissed this morning. The Government of the Crown was that Macarow, General Manager of the defunct Bank, should have known that the Bank's reserve had been lost in disastrous loans which were compelled to sell out to the Bank of Montreal. The case against Sir H. Montagu Allan, President of the Merchants Bank, who also signed the return, will be held up until a final decision by the Department of Justice in the case of Mr. Macarow is reached.

GRIFFITH EXPRESSES SYMPATHY.
 DUBLIN, May 22.—Expressing horror of the assassination of W. J. Twaddell, member of the Northern Parliament, Arthur Griffith, President of Dail Eireann, said to-day "Belfast has lately been shamed by many crimes in which religion was made an excuse for political vendetta. Those who know Belfast and have been responsible for public order have not repudiated them. Mr. Twaddell's murder strikes at the foundation of representative Government. The honor of the Irish nation is concerned therein, and in its name he desired to express deepest sympathy with those who mourn."

GORTON PEW'S FISHERY LOSSES.
 BOSTON, May 22.—The Gorton Pew Fisheries Company of Gloucester, one of the largest fish concerns in the United States, showed a great deficit of $2,013,000 in 1921. No lives were lost.

 PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—The Italian steamer Andrea, 2634 tons, collided with the steamship Alexander, 4181 tons, of the Admiral Steamship Line opposite Fort Mifflin, Pa., to-night. The Alexander struck the Andrea amidships and the latter, seriously crippled, was run aground in shallow water on the Jersey side. No lives were lost.

Improving the Mall.
 BEST RESULT FROM TURFING.
 Urged on by the spirit of the Llewellyn Club in improving the grounds around St. Thomas Church the Council has sent several men to improve the Mall embankment. It is the intention to have grass grow and with this end in view hay seed has been sown. As the bottom is gravel it will not likely succeed and a much better job would result from sodding.

Personal.
 Mr. R. G. Reid, who was accompanied by Mrs. Reid and Mr. R. G. Reid, jr., arrived by the s.s. Kyle yesterday afternoon. The Reid Co.'s premises and shipping were decorated with bunting in honor of the event.

House Adjourned.

PRONOUNCEMENT ON RAILWAY THURSDAY—REIDS WILL NOT OPERATE AGAIN.

The Prime Minister, in moving the adjournment of the House yesterday afternoon, announced that there were no further developments in the Railway situation, but intimated that he would have an announcement to make on Thursday. Negotiations for a settlement or adjustment were in progress. Sir Richard said the Government might have to operate a service temporarily, and he informed the House that Mr. R. C. Morgan had left Winnipeg on Sunday for St. John's via Montreal. Operations would certainly start after Mr. Morgan's arrival if not before. In answer to Mr. Sullivan, the Prime Minister said there were two positions. There had to be litigation, arbitration, or some settlement for the purchase of the railway. In either event, the Government would have to take over the road, as the Reids have retired absolutely from the railway. Financial difficulties prevent them from carrying on further railway operations in Newfoundland. No matter what happens the Government must take over and operate the railway.

Mr. Sullivan pointed out that the lobster fishery of Placentia Bay was interfered with because the cases of cans required for this industry are hung up on the railway line, and the fishery would be a failure if these were not delivered shortly. He thought the Supreme Court could decide whether the Reids had or had not defaulted.

The Prime Minister said such a discussion would take three weeks at least.

Mr. Bennett asked if the Attorney General had taken steps to obtain any outside legal opinion as to the Colony's position and liabilities. If the Reids' claims should be substantiated the country ought to be indemnified enough to pay them. He could not see, however, why the country should pay anything for the Reids' assets if they have defaulted.

The Prime Minister stated that outside legal advice had been obtained.

Mr. Higgins said that if the Reids expected the same treatment as other business people got, it was surely incumbent upon them to fall in line with such suggestions as have been made. He thought some arrangements could be made for a train service while negotiations were pending. If the Reids would not consider such a suggestion they deserved no sympathy from the country.

Hon. Mr. Warren agreed with Mr. Higgins. He had retained Mr. J. P. Blackwood as a legal advisor.

Mr. Sullivan thought the suggestion should be taken up at once.

The Prime Minister said the Colony had always been financing the Reids. When Mr. Morgan returned he would operate the line temporarily. Later the line would be leased out to some firm of contractors.

Sir Michael Cashin said the Prime Minister had stated the Reids would not operate under any conditions and again, that they would operate if they were not likely to lose anything. Which statement was correct? It would be best to adjust the present Successful Passes in Wireless.

The following wireless operators have recently been examined at St. John's for 1st Class Certificates of proficiency in radio-telegraphy and have passed successfully—W. J. Scanlon, Melrose, T. B.; L. F. Newell, Barened; S. R. Ballam, Curling; F. J. Lewis, St. John's. G. E. Williams also sat for his examination, but papers are held over pending the receipt of other papers, which were mislaid by the examiner—Congratulations.

In answer to a statement made by Mr. Moore, the Prime Minister said those employees of Reids who had not been paid could obtain redress in the Magistrate's Court.

The House adjourned until Thursday.

dispute and let the Reids carry on until the end of the fiscal year.

Mr. Walsh said that a settlement until June 30th without prejudice, would be beneficial to the Colony. He was convinced the whole thing was a plot to ruin the country and bring it into Confederation.

Sir Michael Cashin read messages from several settlements which stated that if food did not soon arrive the people would starve.

Mr. Archibald denounced the Reids for taking freight which they did not propose to deliver and for selling tickets to passengers whom they did not propose to carry. He asked that the Watchful should be put back on the Conception Bay route.

In answer to a statement made by Mr. Moore, the Prime Minister said those employees of Reids who had not been paid could obtain redress in the Magistrate's Court.

The House adjourned until Thursday.
