John McRobie Selkirk, of Leamington, has been appointed police magistrate for that town, without salary.

In the House of Commons on Monday Mr. Armstrong moved for the papers relating to the release of Edward Wilson, who was found guilty of arson at the Essex Assizes on Oct. 4, 1884, and sentenced to twenty years in Kingston Penitentiary. Mr. Armstrong explained that in 1884 a resident of Essex had his buildings burned, and the insurance company, of which he was president and which had the risk, paid for the apprehension and prosecution of Wilson. Before a quarter of the convicts time clapsed he was released, and, strange to say, the same man's buildings of Wilson. Before a quarter of the convict's time clapsed he was released, and, strange to say, the same man's buildings were burned again, and a second time the insurance company had to pay the amount of the policy. Sir John Thompson stated that he had recommended the shortening of the convict's term to seven years for the reason that the late Sir Adam Wilson, before whom the trial was held, had misgivings as to the severity of the sentence, and had consequently favored a reduction of the term, but more particularly because the man was a Swede, unfamiliar with the English language, and, having neither an interpreter nor counsel at the trial, was unable to offer any defense because he did not understand the nature of the accusations that were made against him. Mr. Armstrong expressed his entire satisfaction with the explanation, and asked to be allowed to withdraw his motion. Mr. Mc. Gregor regarded the circumstances as peculiar that within four or five days after the release of Wilson, who returned to Essex, the buildings of the man which had previously suffered from incendiarism were again destroyed by fire. Mr. Armstrong stated that Wilson was tried for the offense, but it was not proved against him.

HIS BODY TURNED TO STONE. In Life He Was Always Saturated with Whisky and Arsenic.

Whisky and Arsenic.

Angola, Ind., May 17.—Stephen Powers was in life a unique character and in death he is still a marvel. While alive he was the champion whisky drinker of the State. No amount of it would intoxicate him. Finally whisky did not satisfy him, and tor years before his death he bought Fowlers solution of arsenic by the dozen bottles and drunk the stuff in large quantities.

He lived to a very old age, and after death was buried on his farm. A few days ago his family concluded to remove the remains. On opening the grave it was found that the body had never decayed a particle and had literally turned to stone.

Laden With Whisky and Gin—Accident to a "B" Battery Mcn.

QUEEEC, Q., May 17.—Mr. Laurent, of the customs department, captured a smurgling craft some distance down the river on Sunday. She was towed into port by the tug Two Brothers and moored in the customs. The vessel is a small dilapidated-looking concern without a name and of little account, but she was filled with smuggled whisky and gin. The stuff had been, of course, put on board from a large vessel in the river below the city.

Judgment was rendered in the Superior Court yesterday in the case of Dion vs. Lieut. Col. Morehouse, commandant of the Fifty-third Sherbrooke Infantry, ordering the latter to pay the amount due for board claimed against the regiment when they last visited Quebec, May 24, 1891. The alleged inferiority of the meals supplied was the cause of dispute.

A "B" Battery man named Turcotte received a kick from a vicious horse yesterday, which broke and cut his jaw horribly.

A MAD DOG IN A CHURCH Causes a Panic at a Crowded Salvation Army Meeting.

Army Meeting.

New York, May 17.—The Salvation Army had a big meeting in the Asbury Meeting in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, East Washington Square, Sunday afternoon. Adj. James Wray was delivering a fervid address when suddenly a mad dog foaming at the mouth rushed into the building and darted down the main aisle yelping.

There was a panic at once. Women screamed, jumped on the benches and tumbled pell mell in heaps in their efforts to get out. The men were more frightened than the women, and the only two persons who maintained composure were Adjt. Wray and Rev. Dr. Stone, pastor of the church. By careful maneuvering they drove the animal out and then restored order.

The dog ran into Washington Square, where a number of children were playing. Yelping and snapping he pursued then neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

Dean Sins,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery. I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case my system in perfect working order.

In this connection the following letter from T. Cumines, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself: Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

Gentlemin,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
