

A poor digestion and flagging appetite can be much improved by using

Seal Brand Coffee

a natural Coffee of the highest grade, unadulterated, undoctored.

Sold in 1 and 2 lb. Cans only.

CHASE & SANBORN, MONTREAL.

LOCAL PHYSICIANS ON DEATH OF DR. KOCH

tributes Paid to the Memory of the World-Famous Pathologist.

Local physicians are considerably interested in the death of Dr. Koch, the great German physician. "He was without doubt one of the world's greatest physicians," said one doctor to The Advertiser. "His investigations and discoveries in regard to tuberculosis alone would entitle him to an eminent place in the world of medicine, to say nothing of his researches into cholera and leprosy. He was the first bacteriologist to isolate the germ that causes consumption, and his discovery and subsequent separation of a lymph was regarded at the time as one of the greatest advances made in years. The German government granted him a million marks as a reward for his discovery. His treatment was used for some time, but has since been improved upon. It is, however, still largely used by veterinarians in tuberculosis cases among animals."

The Famous Lymph.
"The lymph prepared by Dr. Koch after he had discovered the tuberculosis germ, was largely used throughout the world for some years. The method of treatment was to inject the lymph and it caused a reaction which benefited the patient. Dr. Koch afterwards gave the million marks he had been granted by the German Government back again. He resided in Berlin for many years, and after his discovery of the tuberculosis germ went to Egypt where he spent some time in studying cholera and leprosy. His investigations were very successful, and his discoveries were published in pamphlet form and given to the world and were of great value. The late Dr. John D. Wilson was very greatly interested in Dr. Koch's discoveries, and about twelve years ago paid a visit to Berlin to study with him. Upon his return here he used the treatment extensively among his patients."

Great Men Indeed.
"No one can estimate the value of the lives of men like Koch and Pasteur," said Dr. H. H. Stevenson. "Koch and Pasteur were two of the greatest men of their age in the medical world. Their researches were to a certain extent along similar lines. After Koch's death, Dr. Pasteur, Koch was unquestionably the world's greatest bacteriologist."

LURED TO BOSTON

White Slave Agents Said To Be Operating in St. John, N. B.

St. John, N. B., May 31.—Evidence has been collected here to show that agents of the white slave traffic are operating in this city, and instances have come to light where young girls have been approached and offered positions in Boston, where work was reported as very light and wages high. Two women, whose identity police will not at present divulge, but who have been working in the north end of the city, are agents of organizations to procure girls for lives of shame in the United States.

One young girl, who on Saturday was decoyed to a place of ill-repute, was offered a situation as companion to Mrs. May, living in Boston. She was told if she accepted she would have the use of the automobile, and would be furnished with theatre tickets and in every other way treated as a member of a wealthy family. The girl became suspicious, and informed her mother, who in turn reported the matter to the police.

Since that time four other similar cases have been reported.

FRESH AT NIGHT

IF ONE USES THE RIGHT KIND OF FOOD.

If by proper selection of food one can feel strong and fresh at the end of a day's work, it is worth while to know the kind of food that will produce this result.

A school teacher out in Kansas says in this connection:

"I commenced the use of Grape-Nuts food five months ago. At that time my health was so poor that I could not give up my job."

"I commenced using Grape-Nuts and have since made a constant and rapid improvement in health, in spite of the fact that all this time I have been engaged in the most strenuous and exacting work."

"I have gained twelve pounds in weight and have a good appetite, my nerves are steady and I sleep sound. I have such strength and reserve force that I feel almost as strong and fresh at the close of a day's work as at the beginning."

"Before using Grape-Nuts I was troubled much with weak eyes but as my vitality increased the eyes became stronger."

"I never heard of food as nutritious and economical as Grape-Nuts. Read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in packages. There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

RAILWAYMAN LEAVES FOR PRINCE RUPERT

W. H. Duperow Presented With a Purse of Gold by His Friends.

Mr. W. H. Duperow, who has been travelling passenger agent of the Grand Trunk in this district for some time, left last night for Prince Rupert, where he will take an important position for the company.

At Toronto yesterday a large number of travelling passenger and ticket agents met to wish him God-speed.

Mr. J. D. McDonald, district passenger agent, president, and Mr. J. A. Yorick, of the Burlington road, presented Mr. Duperow with a purse of $200 in gold. He spoke of the many good qualities of Mr. Duperow. Mr. E. R. Ruse represented the local ticket agents at the presentation.

A number of the passenger men made short speeches, extolling the good qualities of Mr. Duperow. Mr. E. R. Ruse presented the local ticket agents at the presentation.

Field operations in spring sowing were the earliest for many years, and even with the setback in the latter part of April spring sowing is about a month earlier than the last season, and a week ahead of the average year.

Field wheat entered into May well forward, and although some was drowned, it looks quite vigorous.

Clover, suffered from last season's drought, but now presents a good appearance. The short and mild winter worked wonders in fodder supplies.

Some, however, sold too freely, tempted by the high prices, but the early grass came to their rescue.

The reports of live stock are particularly bright, except that the unusually high prices led to too heavy marketing. Cattle have been remarkably free from disease. Milch cows are further than usual, but calves are being kept. Sheep are doing well, and lambs are coming strong and plentiful.

The general outlook regarding orchards is encouraged. Blossoming averaged, about a fortnight earlier than usual, and was very profuse. Hears are expressed that the rains may have washed off a large proportion of the pollen.

All small fruits are well advanced.

BOOST IN RATES A BILLION-DOLLAR COUP

Big Shippers of the U. S. Demand Action Against Railway Companies.

Washington, May 31.—To fight against an impending "billion dollar coup" by P. P. Morgan and allied interests, representatives of a score or more of the biggest mid-western associations today gathered here to demand that Attorney-General Wickersham proceed against "railroad traffic associations as monopolies in restraint of trade, and violators of the Sherman anti-trust law."

A giant attempt to pull off a coup on Wall street that will net the interests a round billion is the way John M. Glenn, chief of the transportation department of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, summed up the sudden movement of the railroads throughout the country to boost freight rates up.

This was the reply of Dr. J. G. Rutherford when asked whether or not the muzzling law would be abolished or modified.

The department is flooded with petitions for the abolition of the regulation, said the doctor, "but no attention can be paid them, nor will be paid them, until there is a change in existing conditions."

If the regulations had been obeyed, the trouble would have been over now. But instead of complying, people have tried to avoid the law and have left their dogs unmuzzled.

NOT TO CHANGE NATIONAL ANTHEM

Death of Edward Has Turned Thoughts to Famous Hymn.

USE RECENT VERSION

Not Likely That "God Save Great George, Our King," Will Be Inserted in the Verse.

London, May 30.—The accession of a new king has once more directed attention to the words of the national anthem, which have been considerably altered since they were first written. The same question was discussed when the late King Edward came to the throne, but the anthem was left as it was except with the necessary change from "God Save the Queen" to "God Save the King."

King Edward had no sooner departed than a suggestion was made, now that Great Britain had another King George, that the opening words might very well be changed to those sung for one of the earlier Georges, namely, "God Save Great George, Our King," as they suited the music very much better than the line which contained the "gracious" and which sounded the reverse of musical when broken by a hyphen in the rendering.

But those who opposed such an alteration did not consider what the adoption of such a version meant. The old and quaint version in the original had a very decided allusion to bad times and high taxes, and it is questionable whether it would have any charm, especially for the aristocracy and landed classes or Great Britain now. It began:

God save Great George, our King;
Long live our noble King;
God save the King.

But then the poet, whoever he may have been, changes the stanza in a way that would require very different music from that now sung. The lines are:

Our loyalty shall us befriend,
Shall us befriend,
But why despair, the time may mend;
Why, why despair, the times may mend?

In the next stanza there is an even more pointed allusion to the hard times then prevailing:

My pocket's low and taxes high,
My pocket's very low, very low;
But why despair, the times may mend;
Our loyalty shall us befriend.

Looking through the history of the national anthem one finds a lot of very curious things. It was customary at one time to have the poet laureate of the day, or his equivalent, write for insertion in the anthem verses to be sung in celebration of passing events. Here is a verse which must have been inserted about the year 1745, when Marshal Wade was coming to put down certain risings in North Britain:

Lord, grant that General Wade
May by Thy mighty aid
Victory bring;
May he sedition hush
And like a torrent rush
Rebellious Scots to crush!
God Save the King!

Verses For Jan. 1, 1793.
Then again on Jan. 1, 1793, the anthem was altered, when Rev. W. D. Tattersall wrote some special verses to celebrate what was called "the one hundred and fourth year of Britain's liberty," the allusion being, it may be presumed, to the revolution of 1688. Here are a couple of the verses which the reverend hymnster wrote:

Let Discord's lawless train
Know their vile arts are vain,
Britain is free;
Confound their knavish tricks,
With equal laws we mix
True liberty.

England's staunch soldiery,
Proof against treachery,
Bravely unite.
Firm in his country's cause,
His sword each hero draws,
To guard our King and laws
From factious might.

It has been generally supposed that the anthem was not in the "God Save the Queen," until the late Queen Victoria came to the throne. On the contrary, its history shows that "God Save the Queen" was sung on April 29, 1818, when Queen Charlotte visited the City of London. This was her last appearance in public, when she was visiting the national schools, and the children, after singing the usual anthem, added two special verses in which the queen herself specially joined.

ALBERTA'S CROPS.
Winnipeg, Man., May 31.—The Alberta department of agriculture has issued a crop bulletin, which reports the province's crops in satisfactory condition. The total acreage under crop is placed at 1,522,873 acres, an increase of 27 per cent over 1909.

The dry weather and a bad winter hit the winter wheat hard and the department estimates that 30 per cent of the area shown is a loss. Most of these had been reason to other crops.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The spring wheat area is 488,183 acres, an increase of 51 per cent. The oats acreage is 762,460, only an increase of 36 per cent. Barley shows an increase of 36 per cent, with an area of 147,160.

The Globe.

TORONTO

As A Newspaper

TORONTO looms large in supplying the news of the day to Canada, because the capital of Ontario is a rapidly growing city in a steadily advancing province.

Rural Canada has for many years sent the flower of its youth to Toronto, and they have contributed wonderfully to the progress and prosperity of the city. "At home mother and father and the rest of the folks" are doubly interested in Toronto because of the loved ones there. And THE GLOBE is the paper in which they will find the news of Toronto told accurately and brightly. THE GLOBE believes that a newspaper has a great responsibility to the public and exercises constant vigilance in handling "news."

A firm in Windsor, Ont., which does a lot of advertising, received through THE GLOBE fifty-seven replies, through another Toronto paper, twenty-two replies.

As An Advertising Medium

THE GLOBE believes in the efficacy of Newspaper Publicity—that's why THE GLOBE is to-day itself a liberal advertiser.

During its sixty-six years THE GLOBE has seen scores of businesses grow from acorns to great oaks, largely through a judicious and persistent use of Printer's Ink.

THE GLOBE itself has been the head and front of practically every national advertising campaign in Canada during all these years. The high quality coupled with great quantity of its circulation has demonstrated to thousands of patrons that for results THE GLOBE has no peer in the advertising realm in Canada.

Costs a Trifle More—But

JOHN MILLS.
398 Richmond Street.
The MALLAG H BOOKSHOP.

ALEXANDRA DID NOT BLAME BURNS

Far From Accusing Him of Hounding King, She Showed Him Favors.

London, May 31.—Some highly melodramatic dispatches, purporting to emanate from London, have appeared in some American newspapers regarding an alleged "scene" which is said to have taken place between Queen Alexandra and Mr. John Burns, beside the bier of the late King. It is stated that her majesty, when Mr. Burns visited Buckingham Palace to look his last on King Edward's features, with withering scorn thus addressed him: "You, sir, and Mr. Asquith are responsible for the death of the King who lies here."

So far is this report from being true that it may be stated that on the solitary occasion on which Mr. Burns visited the chamber where King Edward lay dead, he did so as a member of a small party of distinguished men, including Lord Curzon, and Lord Kitchener, and it was welcomed at the palace by Queen Alexandra, who, as a mark of especial favor, accorded by her to none other than royalties and members of the household, was acted as its escort to the chamber of death.

It may be added that she remained in the room while each member of the distinguished party took his silent farewell of his d-d master. When Queen Alexandra, on the 18th of this month, drove to Westminster Hall, with Prince Henry of Prussia, and others, to witness the lying-in-state, she was accompanied by the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

So far from Mr. Burns being regarded with any animosity by the Queen-Mother, it is well known that both she and the late King have for years entertained for him feelings of the highest esteem. In fact, King Edward may be said to have had a warmer personal regard for Mr. Burns than he had for any other member of the present Government, with the exception of Mr. Harcourt, who has always been honored with their majesties' friendship—a friendship which he inherited from his father, the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

The late Lord Salisbury once said, when looking on the dead form of an old colleague, whom the chances of political life had at that moment temporarily estranged from him, that he felt that "politics was an accused profession." But assuredly it becomes doubly "accused" when a story is spread, as it is now, that the late Sir William Harcourt, for long the Nestor of the Liberal party—in a remarkable degree.

Canadian Pacific Ry. EMPRESSES OF THE ATLANTIC

Length, 570 feet. Breadth, 68½ feet. Tonnage, 15,000. Wireless and Submarine Signals. HOLD ALL RECORDS BETWEEN LIVERPOOL AND CANADA.

The "Empress Daily News." Published and distributed free each morning to passengers, containing the news of the day, stock market reports, etc., received on board by wireless every night.

Third Class rates to and from London and Liverpool, $20 via "Empress," and $28.75 via "Lake" steamers. To book, or for further information, apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to I. E. Suckling, south-east corner King and Yonge streets, Toronto.

WHITE STAR—DOMINION CANADIAN SERVICE MAIL STEAMERS

Montreal—Quebec—Liverpool WEEKLY SAILINGS.

R.M.S. Laurentic, 14,892 tons, triple screw. R.M.S. Megantic, 14,873 tons, twin screw. Leave Montreal for Liverpool, Monday, June 6, 1910. Latest production of the shipbuilders' art; passenger elevator serving all decks. Every detail of comfort and luxury of present-day travel will be found on these steamers, including orchestra. On these steamers passengers receive the best of the steamers' comforts at a moderate expenditure. Intending travellers are requested to communicate with local agents, or to come aboard at once.

Moderate Rate Service—R.M.S. Canada, R.M.S. Dominion, one-class cabin steamers (called second class). On these steamers passengers receive the best of the steamers' comforts at a moderate expenditure. Intending travellers are requested to communicate with local agents, or to come aboard at once.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Some constitutional disturbance, worry, or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted and causes nightmare, bad dreams, starting in the sleep, twitching of the muscles, restlessness, etc.

Milburn's Nerve Pills are a specific for all people troubled in this way. They have a soothing and calming effect on the nervous system.

Mrs. Calvin Stark, Rossmore, Ont., writes:—"About two years ago I began to be troubled with a smothering sensation at night when I would lie down, and got so bad I could not sleep in the dark, and would have to sit up and rub my limbs, they would become so numb. My doctor said my heart and nerves were responsible. I saw Milburn's Nerve Pills advertised and got a box to try them. I took three boxes and can now lie down and sleep without the light burning and can rest well. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run down women."

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GRAND UNION HOTEL

Central Station New York City. Rooms $1.00 a day and up. Read 2nd stamp for N.Y. City Guide Book and Map.

ALLAN LINE

Fast Turbine Steamers

The "Victorian" and "Virginian" are fitted with Turbine Engines, Triple Screws and Long Distance Marconi Telegraph. The appointments are luxurious and include Lounge, Cafe, Ladies' Boudoir, Library, etc. Vibration reduced to a minimum. Full information as to rates, sailings, etc., on application to P. B. Clarke, W. Fulton, R. E. Ruse and E. De La Hooke, local agents, London, Ont. THE ALLAN LINE, 71 Yonge street, Toronto.

MR. FIELDING'S PLANS

Will Look Into Tariff Negotiations Before Sailing for Europe.

Ottawa, May 31.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, and Hon. Wm. Patterson, minister of customs, expect to leave for England on June 10, to take part in the concluding deliberations of the imperial royal commission respecting trade between the United Kingdom and the dominions of the British Empire.

In view of the fact that France extended to the United States the same rates as those given Canada under that agreement, the Government feels free to reduce, in the interests of the Canadian consumer, duties on imports from Italy and Belgium, which com-

Canadian Pacific Ry. EMPRESSES OF THE ATLANTIC

Length, 570 feet. Breadth, 68½ feet. Tonnage, 15,000. Wireless and Submarine Signals. HOLD ALL RECORDS BETWEEN LIVERPOOL AND CANADA.

The "Empress Daily News." Published and distributed free each morning to passengers, containing the news of the day, stock market reports, etc., received on board by wireless every night.

Third Class rates to and from London and Liverpool, $20 via "Empress," and $28.75 via "Lake" steamers. To book, or for further information, apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to I. E. Suckling, south-east corner King and Yonge streets, Toronto.

WHITE STAR—DOMINION CANADIAN SERVICE MAIL STEAMERS

Montreal—Quebec—Liverpool WEEKLY SAILINGS.

R.M.S. Laurentic, 14,892 tons, triple screw. R.M.S. Megantic, 14,873 tons, twin screw. Leave Montreal for Liverpool, Monday, June 6, 1910. Latest production of the shipbuilders' art; passenger elevator serving all decks. Every detail of comfort and luxury of present-day travel will be found on these steamers, including orchestra. On these steamers passengers receive the best of the steamers' comforts at a moderate expenditure. Intending travellers are requested to communicate with local agents, or to come aboard at once.

Moderate Rate Service—R.M.S. Canada, R.M.S. Dominion, one-class cabin steamers (called second class). On these steamers passengers receive the best of the steamers' comforts at a moderate expenditure. Intending travellers are requested to communicate with local agents, or to come aboard at once.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Some constitutional disturbance, worry, or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted and causes nightmare, bad dreams, starting in the sleep, twitching of the muscles, restlessness, etc.

Milburn's Nerve Pills are a specific for all people troubled in this way. They have a soothing and calming effect on the nervous system.

Mrs.