LIFE OF SERVICE IS HIGHLY LAUDED

Rev. B. Ketchen of Hamilton
Speaks of Beck's Death in Sermon.

In a powerful sermon delivered at the New St. James church yesterday morning, Rev. Beverley Ketchen, of McNabb street Presbyterian church, Hamilton, paid tribute to the late Sir Adam Beck, alluding to his life as a conspicuous and noble illustration of service.

Rev. Mr. Ketchen confined his address to an explanation of the quality of service, interpreting Biblical history for its analysis.

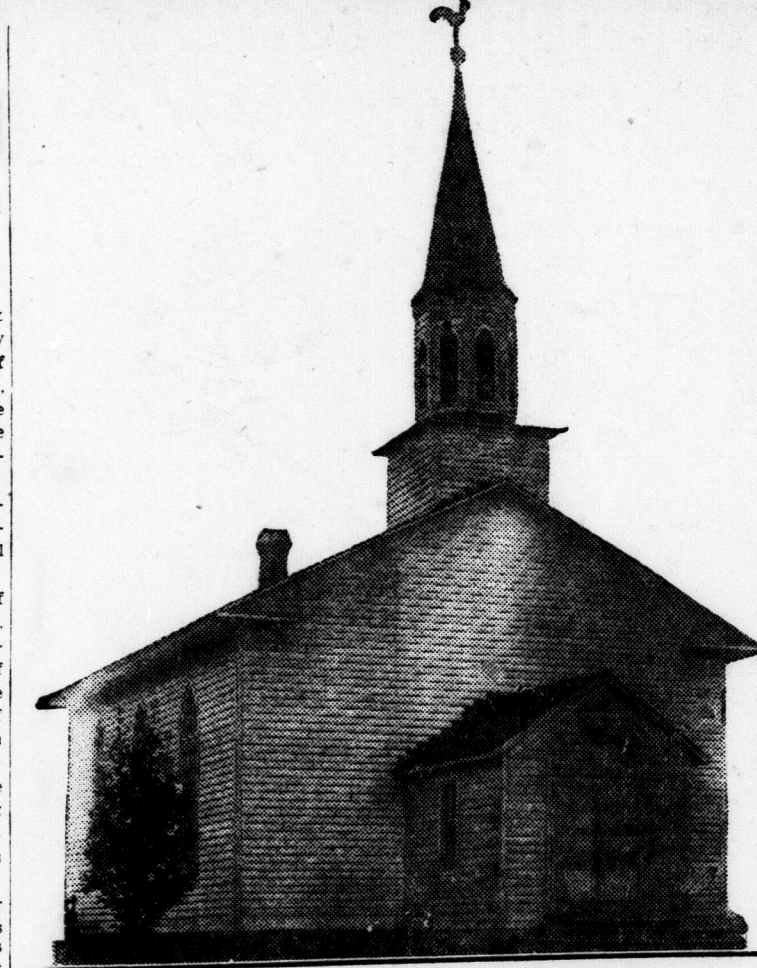

"That very honorable citizen of London who passed away last night, Sir Adam Beck, was a very conspicuous and noble illustration of service," Mr. Ketchen said. "There were few men in the public life of Canada more admirable than he. In the face of terrific and constant opposition, and in the midst of the most unintelligent and unfailing criticism, he gave himself unstintingly to the service of the people of this country."

"His service, of course, has never been fully appreciated, but the day is coming when his worth, the greatness of his achievements, will be recognized, and monuments will be erected in honor of the memory of a great, disinterested statesman."

Measured By Service.
"Greatness," Mr. Ketchen said, "is measured by service—not necessarily spectacular service—not necessarily the kind of service that becomes the subject of civic or national or international comment—but equally by the undramatic fidelity of unassuming people, those busy, happy days are filled with little unremembered acts of kindness and love."

"The world has had many brilliant, masterful men, like Caesar and Napoleon, but their names are not remembered."

THE CHURCH OF SIR ADAM'S BOYHOOD.

Above is St. Jacob's Lutheran church, Baden, Ont. In this quaint old wooden edifice the late Sir Adam Beck attended church as a boy. Here he was confirmed by Pastor Spring when he was 14 years of age. And here on Christmas eve every year for the period of his boyhood he gathered with the other young folks of the village to sing Christmas hymns and carols. This annual "feast of song" is still the custom in that part of the country. In this church his elder sister Louisa was married to Rev. Dr. Dickie. She and her husband visited the old homestead this summer.

thetic compared with those of Lincoln, Livingstone and Shaftesbury. In the story of the Crimean war the one name that shines with ever-growing lustre is that of Florence Nightingale. Greatness is nearer when we stoop than when we soar. It belongs to those who spend themselves in helping others. The monuments which evoke the greatest reverence are those which love and gratitude have built.

"There is nothing so beautiful and satisfying as right living, and nothing so difficult. How easy it is to let evil come into our life, some selfish motive, some low purpose, some whimsical indulgence that destroys the beauty of it. If we are to live rightly, we must think right about life—we must see it in its right relationship, and Jesus has made it all wonderfully simple. Life at its truest and noblest and best is service, and in spite of all the wallings of pessimists, we are bound to say that Jesus is steadily winning the victory for this nobler philosophy of his life.

Purpose to Minister.

"The only life that approaches success or greatness, the only life that knows the meaning of happiness is the life that is in line with the purpose of God. And that is what God lives for—not to be administered unto, but to minister. The sublime and most satisfying revelation of God was in the form of the gracious Galilean who went about continually doing good."

"Now service is one of the distinguishing features of our age. Those who say the world is getting worse instead of better are mentally irresponsible. They are incapable of sane judgment. There never was a period so marked by philanthropy as this."

"There have been great artists like Rubens, Millet, and Turner, but the finest art is to reproduce on the rude canvas of daily life that likeness of Him who went about doing good. There have been great poets, like Milton and Wordsworth and Browning, but a nobler thing to live poetry than to write it—and every truly unselfish consecrated life, be it never so humble, is in the language of the Scripture 'one of God's poems.'"

"What are all the trappings of rank in comparison with the beauty of a life that is filled with little unremembered acts of kindness and love?"

"Your reward soon or late will come from him whom no man serves in vain."

RICKARD FAMILY HOLDS REUNION

Third Annual Picnic Held at Home of A. George, Dorchester.

The third annual picnic of the descendants of Cornelius Rickard was held on the grounds of Mr. A. George, Dorchester, when over 130 persons were present. There are at the present time 143 direct descendants. Three of the second generation are still living, and were able to be present at the gathering. They were William C. Rickard, of Harrietsville, Mrs. Kate Franks, of London, Mrs. Henry Sales, of Windsor. Others present came from Fletcher, Windsor, Merlin and nearby points.

After a most sumptuous chicken dinner, a splendid program of sports was carried out with interesting results.

In the straight running races the following boys and girls won prizes. First: Ray Rickard, Shirley Ward, Glen Brooks, Helen Rickard, Gordon Franks, Blanche Rickard, Vernon Franks.

Second: Jean Jelly, Louise Harris, Herbert Monk, Muriel Brooks, Frank Rickard, Edna Dunn, Percy Rickard, Thirde-Orville Rickard, Phyllis Harris, Gordon Rickard, Marjorie Coutts, Morris Monks.

Peanut race—Harold Boyes, Shirley Ward, Max Brooks.

Treasure seeking contest, won by Mrs. Bentley.

Clothespin race—By adult ladies. Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Taylor tied.

Clothespin race, girls—Blanche Rickard, Edna Dunn, Marjorie Coutts.

Balloon race—Marjorie Coutts and Currie Monk tied.

Young men's 100-yards dash—Jim George, Harold Abbott, William Franks.

Each expression contest—Won by Mrs. Percy Gale.

Mr. Herbert Rickard presided. In a few well-chosen words he thanked the different members of the committee for their co-operation, and expressed the hope that the picnic would be continued year by year.
